BUSINESS MODELS ALMANAC

The Big Book of Businesses Types and Their Business Models

Over 200+ businesses explained

THE BUSINESS MODEL ANALYST

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

BUSINESS MODELS ALMANAC

The Big Book of Businesses Types and Their Business Models

Over 200+ businesses explained

BY DANIEL PEREIRA

THE BUSINESS MODEL ANALYST

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

© THE BUSINESS MODEL ANALYST

The Business Model Analyst is a website dedicated to analyzing business model types, patterns, and innovations using the business model canvas as its primary tool. The site offers a wide variety of free and premium content, including digital products such as PDF tools, presentations, spreadsheets, ebooks & guides, and much more. Check it out here.

Daniel Pereira
The Business Model Analyst
Ottawa, ON, Canada
businessmodelanalyst.com

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Copyright © 2022 Daniel Pereira

All rights reserved.

ISBN: 978-1-998892-26-6

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Introduction 14

.99 shops (Dollar Store) 15
Accreditation 16
Ad-free subscription 17
Add-on 18
Advertising 19
Adware 20
Affiliate MARKETING 21
Agency 22
Aggregators 23
All you can eat (AYCE) 24
All-inclusive 25
All-pay auction 26
Alliance Model 27
Art Dealer 28
Assembler 29
Asset Sale 30
Auction 31
B2B 33
B2C 34
B2C2B 35
Bait & Hook 36
Bargain Basement (Bargain Bin) 37
Bargain Subscription 38
Barter 39
Bidding fee auction 40

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Bricks and Clicks Model 41
Bricks and Mortar 42
Broker-Dealer 43
Brokerage 44
Build to Sell Model 45
Business and employment cooperative 46
Buy & Sell 48
Buy One Give One (B1G1 or BOGO) 49
Buying Clube (Worker Co-Op) 50
Car Dealership 51
Careware 52
Car-sharing 53
Charity Crowdfunding (Donation Crowdfunding) 54
Charity Shop Model 55
Chemical leasing 56
Classified Advertising Model 58
Clickbait 59
Co-Operative 60
Collaborative Business Model 61
Collective Business Model 62
Combinatorial auction 63
Commission-based model 64
Community Commerce (pyramid) 66
Community Model 67
Consignment 68
Consignment Sales model 69
Consumables Subscription Model 70
Consumer Cooperatives 71
Content Community Commerce (CCC) Model 72
Credit Card Model 73

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Credit Union 77
Crowd Business Models 79
Crowd Renting 80
Crowd creativity 81
Crowdfunding 82
Crowdgifting 83
Crowd innovation 84
Crowd knowledge 85
Crowd labor 86
Crowd learning 87
Crowdlending 87
Crowdsourcing 88
Cutting out the middleman 89
D2C 90
Daily Deals 91
Dealership 92
Debt-bases crowdfunding 93
Demand-side platform 94
Dematerialised services 96
Department Stores 97
Destination Club 98
Digital Transformation 99
Direct Selling 101
Directory Model 101
Discount Clubs 102
DIY / Power to the people 103
Donationware 104
Double auction 105
Dutch auction 106
e-Procurement 107

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Early exit strategy 108
Embbebed Finance 110
Embbeded Social 111
Employment Agency Business Model 111
English auction 113
Equity Crowdfunding 113
Factoring 114
Fair Trade 115
Fast Fashion 116
Financial Intermediary 117
Flash Sales 118
Fractional Ownership 119
Franchising 120
Freemium / Free 122
Freeware 123
Full Stack Model 124
Generalized second-price auction 125
Gift Card Business Model 126
Group Buying 126
Hire & leasing 127
Honor System 128
In-app purchases 129
Intermediation 130
Japanese auction 131
Landlord Model 131
Lead Generation 132
Lending Club 133
Licensing 134
Litigation Crowdfunding 135
Loan Sharking 136

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Long Tail 137
Low-cost 137
Low-cost Carrier 138
Loyalty 139
Made to order 140
Mafia 141
Marketplace 142
Mass-Customization 143
Merchant Model 144
Metering 145
Micro Credit 145
Micro Loan 146
MICROFINANCE 147
Microfranchising 148
Monopolistic business model 149
multi business model 150
Multi-level Marketing 151
Multisided or Two-sided 152
Multiunit auction 153
Music Streaming 153
Name Your Own Price 154
Network Effect 155
No frills model (discount or budget model) 156
Omni Channel 157
On Demand Workforce Business Model 158
One Deal a Day 159
online business models (e-business model) 160
online marketplace business model 161
Online2Offline Commerce 162
Open 163

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Open Innovation 8164
Open-Source 165
OTT 166
Outsource Model 166
P2P 168
Pawn SHOP 169
Pay per click 170
Pay per performance (Pay per result) 171
Pay-what-you-want (PWYW) 172
Pay-as-you-go model (PAYG) 173
Pay-per-use model (PPU) 174
Payment Gateway (or Payment Intermediaries) 175
Paywall 176
Peace of Mind Model 177
peer to peer lending 178
Penetration Pricing 179
Penny Auction (Bidding Fee Auction or All-Pay Auction) 180
Performance-based advertising 181
Pipe 183
Platform (Intermediation or marketplaces) 183
Pop up Stores 184
Post Paid Model 186
PPP 187
Premium 188
Prepaid Model 189
Price Discrimination 190
Price Skimming 191
Private Club model 192
Private Label 193
Private Shopping Club 194

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Product Bundling 196
Product Service System Model 197
Product Subscription 198
Productized Service 199
Proof of Payment 201
Pyramid Scheme 201
Razor and Blades Business Model 202
Rent Subscription 203
Rent to Own 204
Rental Business Model (Renting) 206
Retailer Cooperative 206
Revenue Share 207
Revenue-Based Financing 208
Reverse auction 209
Reverse Factoring 210
Reverse Logistics 211
Ride Matching 212
S2P 213
SaaS 214
Sampling Subscriptions 215
Scan Based Trading Model 215
Search Agent Model 217
Second Hand Business Model 218
Self Service 219
Service Subscription 220
Servicizing 221
Set it and Forget it Model 222
Shared business models 223
Shared Ownership 224
Shareware 225

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Showrooming 225
Simplified Model 226
Sliding Scale Fees 227
Social Commerce 228
Social Cooperative 229
Sponsorship 230
Store-in-Store 231
Subscription 232
Supply Chain 233
Surprise Box Model 234
Swapping 235
Swapping for products 235
Swapping for services 236
Syndication 237
The Ad Unit Model 238
Three-tiered 239
Time-Based Pricing 240
Timeshare 241
Tip jar/donation 242
Tripwire 243
Usage Fee (metered service) 244
Value-added reseller 245
Vickrey auction 246
Virtual business model 247
Walrasian auction 248
Warehouse Club Model 248
White Label 249
Wholesale 250
Work Cloud 251
Worker Cooperative 252

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Conclusion 254

References 255

About The Author 260

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

INTRODUCTION

There are thousands of different businesses in the world. They come in many different shapes and formats in a ever evolving market.

New technologies and consumer behavior changes are constantly forcing businesses to adapt and recreate themselves.

The same can be said about their business models. Their different types (or archetypes) are diverse and by combining them, entrepreneurs have been able to create disruptions never seen before.

After trying to classify business and its business models in different categories for years, I decided to create one big list (an almanac) of business types and its business models.

That's how this almanac was born. Use it as a reference guide. Read one by one. Whatever way you choose, I hope it helps inspire you to create the new unicorn in your market.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

.99 SHOPS (DOLLAR STORE)

How Does the .99 Shop Work?

A .99-cent shop (also referred to as a dollar store) is a retail outlet that specializes in selling inexpensive items, which usually cost a dollar or less. However, some of these items may cost several dollars.

They operate by selling a wide range of common and niche items including toiletries, gift cards, balloons, and even groceries. By offering such a wide range of items, they appeal to a diverse customer segment.

Most of their locations are targeted at areas that are a considerable distance from major shopping centers, offering a much closer and more cost-friendly alternative.

How Does the .99 Shop Make Money?

.99 shops operate by selling smaller-sized items at pocket-friendly prices (usually a dollar or less). However, these items may not be cost-effective when compared to larger packages purchased at normal retail outlets. Therefore, .99 shops convince buyers that small packages at low prices are better than larger packages at a higher price.

These types of stores typically have minimal employees and small stores to minimize overhead costs. They prioritize long shelf-life, off-brand, and small-sized packaged items to maximize profits as well. They are usually located around low-income communities that are a considerable distance from other retail outlets, offering a more convenient option.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies That Use the .99 Shop Business Model

- Dollar General
- Dollar Tree
- Family Dollar

ACCREDITATION

How the Accreditation business model works?

The Accreditation Business Model is based on the certification process of competency, authority or credibility. It ensures that people, businesses or institutions behave ethically and employ suitable quality assurance.

Accreditation Businesses work by issuing or helping third parties obtain credentials against official standards of accreditation bodies. The accreditation types may include:

- Educational accreditation
- Email sender accreditation
- Personal trainer accreditation
- Professional certification
- Quality Management System Standard

How the Accreditation business model makes money?

Accreditation Business usually charge a certification fee and an annual certification maintenance to guarantee that the third party still comply with standards.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies that use Accreditation Business Model:

- AHPGS
- AKAST
- ACQUIN
- AQ Austria

AD-FREE SUBSCRIPTION

How Does the Ad-Free Subscription Model Work?

An ad-free subscription model is a business that offers a service that offers a subscription-based package that does not include digital ads. Usually, such businesses also offer freemium models which allow users to access some or all of the features of the product, albeit with ads.

The user can now decide on whether to upgrade to the ad-free version of the platform by subscribing to their services, or to continue using the freemium model. Since most users find ads to be inconvenient, they may decide to purchase a monthly or yearly subscription to enjoy the product without disruption.

How Does the Ad-Free Subscription Model Make Money?

For users to gain access to the ad-free version of the service, they will have to pay a monthly or yearly subscription to the business. This regular customer subscription makes up the bulk of revenue for most businesses that use this model.

This model is most popular among social media platforms, especially those involved in content creation instead of

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited connecting people.

Companies That Use the Ad-Free Subscription Business Model

- YouTube
- Hulu
- Amazon Prime

ADD-ON

How Does the Add-On Business Model Work?

The add-on business model works by charging users for offering additional features or benefits to a basic service or product. Therefore, in addition to the cost of the product or service, users also pay for any additional accessories they desire.

This works most successfully with products or services which have a long Lifetime Value and a high degree of customer retention. This ensures that customers will continue to use the product and typically request more add-ons as well.

A good example would be a mobile game that users may play for free or for a small charge and offers additional features like bonus points, extra lives, and customization for a fee.

How Does the Add-On Business Model Make Money?

Add-on companies make money by charging customers for purchasing additional accessories. They work best by encouraging customer loyalty and offering high-demand, high-margin benefits or accessories as add-ons to the basic products or services they provide.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

These benefits are also usually offered at only a fraction of the cost of the basic product or service. This model is popular among game developers, airlines, fast-food companies, auto-dealers, and a wide range of other industries.

Companies That Use the Add-On Business Model

- McDonald's
- Apple
- United Airlines

ADVERTISING

How Does the Advertising Business Model Work?

As the name suggests, the advertising business model involves generating revenue by drawing consumer attention to a commercial product or service to drive sales or awareness. These advertisements are usually hosted on a public medium such as television, radio, internet platforms like websites, social media, and so on.

The first step in building a successful advertising business involves building a dedicated audience by creating content or encouraging interaction with your audience. Revenue is then generated by commercializing access to this audience for the purpose of advertising.

Many large businesses such as Google, Facebook, and Uber make use of this strategy. Even smaller businesses like independent bloggers and social media influencers make use of this business model.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How Does the Advertising Business Model Make Money?

The advertising business model may generate revenue based in several ways. It may involve a one-time purchase or a subscription-based payment system, as commonly seen in traditional advertising media such as radio and television.

Other popularly used monetization methods include pay-per-click (for example, in digital ads using banners), pay-per-view (typically, seen in video ads), and a commission-based model based on the number of products or services sold through the advertisement, and so on.

Companies That Use the Advertising Business Model

- Google
- Facebook
- Amazon

ADWARE

How the Adware business model works?

Adware, or advertising-supported software, is a business model in which software is offered for free (or at reduced price) for its users in exchange for receiving advertisement.

How the Adware business model makes money?

Software authors generate revenue by selling ads displayed to its software users. Ads may be displayed in many forms, such as banners, pop-ups, installation screens, etc.

Companies that use Adware business model:

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- GenieToolbar
- appstrm.com
- Total Toolbar

AFFILIATE MARKETING

How the Affiliate model works?

Affiliate marketing is a type of online business model where third-party websites indicate products or services of other websites in exchange of a percentage of the cost of the transaction.

This model usually have three different players: the seller (usually a author or ecommerce website), the affiliate or publisher (the website which contains traffic and potential to be a referee), the affiliate network (which contains associated affiliate websites and product offers with a payment processing technology).

When a visitor clicks on a link at the affiliate website, this referral link has a tag capable of tracking the sale.

How the Affiliate model makes money?

Affiliates and the Affiliate Marketing Network makes money by charging a small fee (usually a percentage of the cost of the transaction).

Companies that use Affiliate model:

- Ambassador
- Rakuten

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- ClickBank

AGENCY

How the Agency business model works?

Agency is a business model where a person or a company (the agent) is authorized to act and negotiate on behalf of another (the principal) to bring commercial / contractual relationship.

It's a very common business model in artistic and entertainment areas (ex: band agents), employment (ex: recruitment) and financial advice (ex: stock brokerage).

How the Agency business model makes money?

The Agency Business Model makes money by charging a percentage of the dealt contract.

Companies that use Agency business model:

- Am Only
- Creative Artists Agency
- Paradigm Talent
- Robinhood
- TD Ameritrade
- Charles Schwab

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

AGGREGATORS

How the Aggregators model works?

The Aggregator Business is a model in which a website aggregates information from several online sources.

Although not very common, some aggregator business may aggregate goods or services, instead of information.

There are many different types of aggregator businesses:

- Data aggregator
- News aggregator
- Video aggregator
- Smart Grid aggregator
- Affiliate Ecommerce Websites

How the Aggregators model makes money?

News aggregator makes money by monetizing ads (through clicks or impressions).

Product or service aggregator makes money using an affiliate marketing model (revenue share / commission from sales).

Companies that use Aggregators model:

- Shut up and take my money
- AllTop
- Flipboard

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Feedly
- TheSnug

ALL YOU CAN EAT (AYCE)

How the All You Can Eat business model works?

The All You Can Eat Business Model works by letting customer use a company service for as much as possible for a fixed price.

The All You Can Eat Business Model works by offering the unlimited use of a product or service for a fixed price (one-time or recurring payment).

This model was first applied to restaurant buffet services at schools, colleges, universities, hotels and casinos.

Although it is still very popular at the restaurant segment in Asian Cuisine and Brazilian Barbecues (churrascarias), it has become very popular in the digital world with subscription plans.

How the All You Can Eat business model makes money?

In the physical products or services cases, the business should charge more than the average consumption. If you are a restaurant and people on average eat 500 grams you have to fix your price on the cost of 1kg.

When Netflix was created it would deliver DVDs through mail and let you rent than as much as you wanted, limited to one DVD in your possession (if you wanted another one you needed to send back the one you had rented with you). The monthly price charged would make Netflix cashflow positive as long as people rented up to 7 DVDs per month. But their customer base average was somewhere between 3 and 4 DVDs.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies that use All You Can Eat business model:

- Fogo de Chão
- Netflix
- Spotify
- Gym Centers (Pro-Forma)

ALL-INCLUSIVE

How the All-Inclusive business model works?

The All-Inclusive Business Model works the same way that the All You Can Eat Business Model, but it's usually applied in hotel & resorts industry.

All inclusive hotels or resorts includes meals, food, drinks and many other services in its price.

How the All-Inclusive business model makes money?

The mathematics are the same of the All You Can Eat: hotels charge more than the cost of the average consumption and operational costs of guests.

Companies that use All-Inclusive business model:

- Club Med
- Hyatt

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

ALL-PAY AUCTION

How Does the All-Pay Auction Business Model Work?

The all-pay auction is a type of auction in which both the person with the winning bid and all the other individuals possessing losing bids are required to pay the amount they bid for the item, even though only the winner receives the prize.

Most times these bids are made in secret, so no individual is aware of what the other is bidding. This is different from traditional auctions, where only the winner has any financial obligations at the end of the bidding process and most bids are openly announced.

Though this may sound strange, this type of auctioning process is actually quite common and is the business model behind lotteries and raffle draws.

How Does the All-Pay Auction Business Model Make Money?

The all-pay auction business model generates revenue by collecting money from both the winning and losing bids. Interestingly, since all bids are kept secret, most individuals end up overbidding in an attempt to secure the prize.

A good example would be purchasing multiple lottery tickets in an attempt to increase your chances of winning.

Companies That Use the All-Pay Auction Business Model

- The Lotter
- Lotto Agent

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Jackpot.com

ALLIANCE MODEL

How Does the Alliance Business Model Work?

An alliance business model (also referred to as a collaborative or joint-venture) is one in which two distinct business entities pool together their resources in terms of capital, labor, technology, intellectual property, and so on, to achieve a substantial increase in revenue.

This allows them to leverage certain inherent advantages of such a collaboration such as economies of scale, economies of skill, economies of risk, as well as vertical and horizontal integration. However, this form of business alliance requires significant planning and a strong degree of mutual trust to execute successfully.

Some popular examples of industries that rely strongly on this business model are the agricultural and agricultural-allows industry, electronics manufacturers, automakers, and so on.

How Does the Alliance Business Model Make Money?

Alliance business models can generate revenue in several ways. They may range from product-centric to service-centric businesses. Some popular monetization models used by such businesses are one-time payments, commission-based payments, subscription-based models, ad-revenue models, freemium models, licensing models, and so on.

The main feature of such collaborations is that both business entities substantially increase their profits by combining their respective resources.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies That Use the Alliance Business Model

- Verily and GlaxoSmithKline
- Boeing and Lockheed Martin
- The Walt Disney Company, News Corporation, Comcast's NBC Universal, and Providence Equity Partners

ART DEALER

How Does the Art Dealer Business Model Work?

An art dealer is a term used to refer to an individual who is involved in the buying and selling of artwork, or who acts as an intermediary in the process. If the dealer is only acting as an intermediary, they are typically paid a commission after the sale of the piece of art.

The process of buying and selling art is typically done through an art gallery, a place where artworks are displayed for the purpose of sale. Art galleries can come in different forms.

These may include a commercial art gallery (in which the art dealer is an intermediary between the artist/previous artwork owner and buyers), artist-run initiatives (where a group of artists come together and split the cost of operating an art gallery) or a non-profit gallery (usually, sponsored by charities, grants, and donations).

How Does the Art Dealer Business Model Make Money?

Art dealers may be paid either through a one-time payment if they are the sole owner of the art piece, or a commission-based model if they are operating as an intermediary. Private art dealers also charge a membership fee, which allows members exclusive access to a wide range of private high-end art collections. Public art dealers who utilize art galleries may also charge an entry fee and also make additional revenue through advertising as well.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies That Use the Art Dealer Business Model

- Gagosian
- Hauser & Wirth
- Pace Gallery

ASSEMBLER

How Does the Assembler Business Model Work?

An assembly line (also known as a progressive assembly) is a popular manufacturing technique in which pre-fabricated parts are added in a particular sequence to a semi finished product as it moves from one station to another until the finished product is achieved.

The modern moving assembly line was first utilized by Henry Ford in 1913 at the Highland Park Ford Plant for the manufacture of the Ford Model T. Since then, the concept has spread to numerous other industries and has been significantly improved upon in a variety of ways.

Nowadays, most assembly lines feature a mixture of both people and robots working together to create a complex finished product from a variety of pre-fabricated parts. The assembly line has been said to be effective in terms of time and labor costs.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Some key industries, which are closely associated with this form of manufacturing, include electronics, auto manufacturers, toy makers, certain types of food and produce, and so on.

How Does the Assembler Business Model Make Money?

Assembler businesses generate profit by selling the finished product to the consumer.

Companies That Use the Assembler Business Model

- Tesla
- Samsung
- Apple

ASSET SALE

How Does the Asset Sale Business Model Work?

An asset sale is a form of financial transaction in which a business entity sells some or all of its assets to an interested buyer. The seller retains full ownership of the company, but has no further legal ownership over the sold assets. It's important that asset sales do not include company stocks.

These assets may be tangible assets such as machinery, buildings, and other forms of inventory. They may also involve intangible assets as well which may include leaseholds, intellectual property, goodwill, trade secrets, licensing, brand rights, and so on.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How Does the Asset Sale Business Model Make Money?

During an asset sale, the seller receives some form of monetary compensation during the sale. Most times asset sales are used as a way to get rid of unproductive parts of the business, raise funding, reduce legal liability, and so on.

Companies That Use the Asset Sale Business Model

- Wachovia
- Merrill Lynch
- General Motors

AUCTION

How the Auction business model works?

The Auction Business Model works as an intermediary between buyers and sellers that promotes auctions that offer goods for bid and then sell to the highest bidder.

In economic theory an auction is a method for determining the value of a commodity that has an undetermined or variable price. In some cases, there is a minimum or reserve price; if the bidding does not reach the minimum, there is no sale (but the person who puts the item up for auction still owes a fee to the auctioneer). In the context of auctions, a bid is an offered price.

It's one of the oldest business models dated before 500 B.C. and very common in industries like antique and collectibles, livestock and commodities businesses.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the Auction business model makes money?

Auction Business receives a commission that ranges from 12-25% of the sales price (25% of the hammer price for items up to $20,000, 20% for those at $20,000-500,000, and 12% for items that sell for more than $500,000.).

But by offering sellers a guarantee (an agreement to buy a work for a specified minimum price) they also make 50% of commission if the hammer price exceeds the guaranteed minimum price. A highly profitable.

Many of the great auction houses are now becoming art dealers with what they call "private sales". Instead of inviting clients to auctions and see them leave because there was nothing that they were interested, houses are now understanding client's specific interests and offering specific items privately. They are now capturing revenues for themselves that were being lost.

Companies that use Auction business model:

- Christie's
- Sotheby's
- Bonhams
- Phillips de Pury

B2B

How Does the B2B Business Model Work?

The business-to-business (B2B) business model is a strategy that involves the sale of a product or strategy directly from one business to another. Sometimes the buyer may act as merely an intermediary and resell the product or service to a final consumer. For example, the relationship between a manufacturer and a wholesaler, or a wholesaler and a retailer.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Even though they are commonly associated with supply chain businesses, they can also be applied to eCommerce, information technology, communications, advertising, financial technology, content marketing, health technology, and so on.

There are several peculiarities associated with this type of business interaction. They typically have a longer sales cycle, with a higher-order value and recurring purchases. B2B businesses also typically have more complex pricing structures with the key focus being cost-reduction, fewer buyers but with a long Lifetime Value, and a more intimate relationship between the buyer and seller.

How Does the B2B Business Model Make Money?

Most B2B businesses generate revenue by selling their products and services to other businesses. This process can be monetized through the use of one-time payments, subscription-based models, digital ad-revenue models, freemium models, licensing models, and so on.

Companies That Use the B2B Business Model

- HubSpot
- Salesforce
- Techstars

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

B2C

How Does the B2C Business Model Work?

The business-to-consumer model is the business model that most people are familiar with. It involves the sale of a product or service directly to the end-user (in other words, directly from the business to the customer). It is also known as the direct-to-consumer model since it bypasses all intermediaries, such as retailers, wholesalers, or other third parties.

There are some key features that are associated with the B2C business model. They typically cost the customer less since costs can be reduced significantly by cutting out middlemen and the increased fees, wage costs, and operating costs associated with them.

They are also associated with a higher volume of clients, but also a shorter sales cycle and lower revenue per client. There is a lower risk of entry and lower initial investment, a clear target market, and a mass media marketing strategy.

How Does the B2C Business Model Make Money?

Most B2C businesses generate revenue by selling their products and services directly to consumers. This process can be monetized through the use of one-time payments, subscription-based models, digital ad-revenue models, freemium models, licensing models, and so on.

Companies That Use the B2C Business Model

- Walmart
- eBay
- Target

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

B2C2B

How Does the B2C2B Business Model Work?

The business-to-consumer-to-business model is an emerging trend in the world of business development. It is considered a hybrid of traditional B2B and B2C models, which is a product of the increased complexity and innovation associated with the business environment today.

At the most basic level, the B2C2B model involves advertising your services to a potential client (in this case, another business) through their customers or employees (the “consumers”). These consumers act as internal influencers who may knowingly or unknowingly market your services to the target business.

A good example would be LinkedIn, providing vital job-seeking services for a large number of employees of a firm. This may in turn encourage the firm to use LinkedIn as a reliable avenue for future job recruitment.

How Does the B2C2B Business Model Make Money?

Most B2C2B businesses generate revenue by selling their products and services directly to consumers. This process can be monetized through the use of one-time payments, subscription-based models, digital ad-revenue models, freemium models, licensing models, and so on.

Usually, the initial consumers may be provided a basic or freemium package, while the standard or premium packages are aimed at the target businesses.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies That Use the B2C2B Business Model

- LinkedIn
- Slack
- Zoom

BAIT & HOOK

How the Bait and Hook business model works?

The Bait and Hook Model works by offering a product with very low margin or at a loss (the bait) and profit from selling a higher volume of specific and higher margin refills (the hook) It's also known as Razor & Blade business model as a reference to its use by Gillette. Many other companies such as Nespresso, HP Printers and Cell Phone Carriers also use it. The model uses a variant of a pricing strategy known as penetration pricing.

How the Bait and Hook business model makes money?

The Bait and Hook model makes money by selling refills with very high margins.

Companies that use Bait and Hook business model:

- Gillette
- Schick
- HP printers
- Nestlé
- Nespresso

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

BARGAIN BASEMENT (BARGAIN BIN)

How Does the Bargain Basement (Bargain Bin) Business Model Work?

Traditionally, bargain basements (also known as bargain bins) were a part of a large store where goods were sold at reduced prices, typically in an underground cellar, hence the name. Nowadays, it is used to refer to a part of the store that sells merchandise at lower prices than the standard retail cost.

These items may be sold at a cheaper rate for several reasons. These may include off-brand items, small-sized packages, promo products, items that were overstocked, last season's merchandise (especially, when new merchandise is coming in), and items that are nearing their expiration date.

Therefore, in most cases, these items are not the main focal point of the store's business model, but rather a way to get rid of unwanted merchandise and attract more customers who will also purchase higher-priced items as well.

How Does the Bargain Basement (Bargain Bin) Business Model Make Money?

Most bargain-basement stores also sell normal-priced items and use the bargain-basement business model as a method of getting rid of unwanted or old merchandise without incurring a total loss, as well as a marketing tool to attract customers to purchase their other more lucrative merchandise.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies That Use the Bargain Basement (Bargain Bin) Business Model

- Walmart
- Target
- Dick's Sporting Goods

BARGAIN SUBSCRIPTION

How Does the Bargain Subscription Business Model Work?

A subscription model is a type of business strategy whereby a business entity receives a regular, recurring income in exchange for continually providing a service or product.

This income may be received on a weekly, monthly, quarterly, or even yearly basis, determined by the agreement between the buyer and seller. They offer a significantly longer lifetime value and allow a business entity to anticipate its revenue more accurately.

In terms of finance, a bargain involves the purchase of an asset below what is considered fair market value. A bargain subscription is when a subscription package is offered at a price lower than what it may have normally been sold.

There are several reasons why a business may offer bargain subscriptions. These include attracting new customers, increasing sales, freeing up inventory, increasing brand recognition and publicity, charity, and so on.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How Does the Bargain Subscription Business Model Make Money?

A business entity that utilizes a subscription model receives a regular, recurring income in exchange for continually providing a service or product. This income may be received on a weekly, monthly, quarterly, or even yearly basis, determined by the agreement between the buyer and seller.

Companies That Use the Bargain Subscription Business Model

- MagazineBargains.com
- Discountmags.com
- Women's Health magazine

BARTER

How the Barter business model works?

The Barter Business Model works by helping people or companies exchange goods or services for other goods or services without using money.

Although, it has been the first form of trade in human history internet- based barter exchange companies have emerged as a powerful segment with global barter transactions account for approximately 23% of the total value of worldwide business transactions (estimated at $15.9 trillion).

But barter goes beyond B2B and now starts to reach B2C market with websites that help you exchange time with other people (ex: 1 hour of Spanish lesson exchanged for 1 hour of programming lesson).

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the Barter business model makes money?

There are lots of bartering websites that are free and make money with ads display, but professional B2B bartering business charge an admission, transaction or monthly fee.

Companies that use Barter business model:

- Miroma Ventures
- BarterNews
- BookMooch
- BzzAgent
- uSWAP
- Trade Away
- Swap Treasures

BIDDING FEE AUCTION

How Does the Bidding Fee Auction Business Model Work?

The bidding fee auction business model is a type of all-pay auction model where all bidders are required to pay a non-refundable fee to gain the right to participate in each round of bidding. Sometimes each round of bidding consists of a predetermined incremental increase in the auction instead of a price determined by the bidders themselves.

The auction time is extended each time a new bid is placed, and the winner of the auction is the last person to place a bet

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

once the auction time expires. Therefore, the auctioneer profits from both the amount bid for the item and the bidding fees paid by the participants (which in some cases make up most of the profit).

These platforms are also known as penny auctions because the bidding fees are usually only a small fraction of the price bid for the item being auctioned.

How Does the Bidding Fee Auction Business Model Make Money?

In the bidding fee auction business model, the auctioneer profits from both the amount bid for the item and the bidding fees paid by the participants (which, in some cases, make up most of the profit).

Companies That Use the Bidding Fee Auction Business Model

- HappyBidDay
- Bidurway
- iBid2Save

BRICKS AND CLICKS MODEL

How the Brick and Clicks business model works?

Also known as Bricks and clicks the Online2Offline Business Model works when a company integrates both offline and online channels. Some companies may integrate even more than those two channels which is usually called Multichannel retailing or Omnichannel.

Although we could say that this business model was born

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

with the appearance of internet in the early 90,Äôs taking bricks and mortar business models to the web with e-commerce websites as a new channel.

How the Brick and Clicks business model makes money?

In the brick-and-click business model the company generate revenue by selling products through a physical retail location (offline) and an e-commerce (online).

Companies that use Brick and Clicks business model:

- Argos
- Carrefour
- Clinique
- Disney
- Sephora

BRICKS AND MORTAR

How Does the Brick-and-Mortar Business Model Work?

The brick-and-mortar business model is one of the oldest business models in existence. It is used to describe a business entity that generates revenue through face-to-face transactions carried out at a physical location. This location could be a store, office, or warehouse which is owned or rented by the business.

The brick-and-mortar business model makes up most offline businesses. It is the most common type of business model seen in the retail industry, where it makes up 94% of retail businesses, dwarfing the online e-commerce sector.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Brick and mortar businesses typically offer a greater degree of customer interaction and targeted marketing. However, unlike e-commerce businesses, they are plagued with the constraints of limited shelf space and a customer segment that stays within a convenient distance.

How Does the Brick-and-Mortar Business Model Make Money?

Most brick-and-mortar businesses make money by selling their products and services directly to consumers. This process can be monetized through the use of one-time payments or multiple payments, subscription-based revenue, advertising revenue, licensing revenue, and so on.

Companies That Use the Brick-and-Mortar Business Model

- Walmart
- Trader Joe's
- Home Depot

BROKER-DEALER

How Does the Broker-Dealer Business Model Work?

Within the financial industry, a broker-dealer is a general term that is used to refer to any entity, whether an individual or a company, which is responsible for trading securities.

This service could be performed privately or on the behalf of another individual (a client). A security is any tradable financial asset such as bonds, stocks, derivatives, and so on.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

While a significant number of broker-dealers are independent entities, many also exist as subsidiaries of larger financial corporations such as investment banks, commercial banks, and other forms of investment firms.

How Does the Broker-Dealer Business Model Make Money?

Broker-dealers purchase these securities at a particular price and sell them off at a higher price in the future. The difference between the two prices is known as the spread, and this represents the profit made by the broker-dealer in that particular transaction.

A broker-dealer who facilitates these transactions on the behalf of a third party is typically paid a commission. This commission may be a flat rate, a fixed percentage of the profit made, or a combination of both systems.

Companies That Use the Broker-Dealer Business Model

- Charles Schwab
- Fidelity Investments
- Interactive Brokers LLC

BROKERAGE

How the Brokerage business model works?

The Brokerage business model works by arranging transactions between a buyer and a seller in exchange of a fee or commission when the deal is successful.

Extensively used by industries like insurance and real estate, usually as independent agents (brokers), the brokerage

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

model has many different forms in the digital world, such as:

- Marketplace (Orbitz)
- Buy/Sell Fulfillment (Carsdirect) q Auction Broker (eBay)
- Transaction Broker (PayPal)
- Search Agent (Kayak)

How the Brokerage business model makes money?

The brokerage business model makes money charging a fixed fee or commission (%) when the deal is successful.

Companies that use Brokerage business model:

- Marketplaces (Amazon)
- Christie's
- Kayak
- Paypal
- Zopa

BUILD TO SELL MODEL

How Does the Build-to-Sell Business Model Work?

The build-to-sell business model has seen increased popularity in the age of digital commerce and the rapid business scalability it supports. It involves building and rapidly upscaling a business to sell the business for a profit later on.

The model is popular among e-commerce companies, social media platforms, fintech firms, and other digital companies. A key feature of such firms is that they can run independently of the founder, since no investor is willing to purchase a company whose entire operation is solely dependent on a single individual.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How Does the Build to-Sell Business Model Make Money?

Most build-to-sell businesses generate revenue by offering their products and services directly to the consumers. This process can be monetized through the use of one-time payments, subscription-based models, digital ad-revenue models, freemium models, licensing models, and so on.

However, the endgame is to generate a substantial profit by selling off the company or the rights to the use of the company's brand, image, intellectual property, and so on.

Companies That Use the Build-to-Sell Business Model

- Instagram
- WhatsApp
- Oculus VR

BUSINESS AND EMPLOYMENT COOPERATIVE

How the Cooperative business model works?

The Cooperative Business Model is based on an autonomous association of people who voluntarily cooperate for their mutual social, economic, and cultural benefit.

Cooperatives are usually related to non-profit community

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited organizations, but has increasingly became a common business model for businesses that are owned and managed by the people who use their services (also known as a consumer cooperative) or by the people who work there (a worker cooperative).

There are also cooperative hybrids such as worker cooperatives that are also consumer cooperatives or credit unions.

In short, a co-op is defined as “jointly owned enterprise engaging in the production or distribution of goods or the supplying of services, operated by its members for their mutual benefit, typically organized by consumers or farmers”.

How the Cooperative business model makes money?

The cooperative business model is by its legal nature a non-profit organization. They usually charge an admission fee to become a member (in order to buy shares of it) and a monthly fee to cover operational costs. Some cooperatives may also pay dividends to its members.

In some cooperative abusive cases, cooperative directors pay incredibly high salaries and a wide range of benefits to themselves (since they cannot pay themselves bonuses).

This model is also called co-op business model.

Companies that use Cooperative business model:

- Credit Agricole Group
- Rabobank Group
- CHS Inc

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Suma

BUY & SELL

How Does the Buy & Sell Business Model Work?

The buy & sell business model is probably the most popular form of business interaction between merchants and customers. It is an umbrella term that includes a wide range of industries and sectors, but can best be understood using the retail industry.

In this form of organizational plan, a business purchases new or used items and sells them to a customer at a higher price. Since it is one of the simplest forms of business it has a wide range of applications such as department stores, grocery stores, supermarkets, e-commerce platforms, financial securities, and so on.

How Does the Build & Sell Business Model Make Money?

Most buy & sell businesses generate revenue through the use of one-time payments for goods and services, or sometimes multiple payments. They may also generate revenue through licensing fees and advertising revenue as well.

Companies That Use the Build & Sell Business Model

- Walmart
- Target
- Home Depot

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

BUY ONE GIVE ONE (B1G1 OR BOGO)

How the Buy One Give One business model works?

The Buy One Give One business model works by selling products with an embedded charity. For every product bought another one is donated to those in need.

The B1G1 model has long been criticized by non-profit experts saying that it does little to address the root causes of poverty and may even reduce demand for locally produced products.

But it surely is popular along the public making consumption seem less bad for the planet.

How the Buy One Give One business model makes money?

The Buy One Give One model makes money by cutting out the middleman and going straight to customers. The products donated are cheaper than the ones bought by customers. Both strategies allow businesses to be profitable.

Companies that use Buy One Give One business model:

- Toms Shoes
- Warby Parker
- Soap Box
- Two Degrees
- Good Spread
- Everything Happy
- Smile Squared

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Baby Teresa
- Bogo Bowl

BUYING CLUBE (WORKER CO-OP)

How Does the Buying Club (Worker Co-app) Business Model Work?

A buying club (also known as a worker co-op) is an organization within which individual members pool together their resources and purchase goods or services at lower than retail prices.

They can get these products more cheaply due to the economies of scale of such a deal and greater bargaining power with the supplier afforded by their collective purchasing power. In most buying clubs, the privilege of membership is sold for a fee.

A significant number of buying clubs also operate as worker-cooperatives. This means that every worker has a say in how decisions are made throughout the organization and the business is run in a more or less democratic manner. Some good examples include hardware co-ops, agricultural product co-ops, movie theaters, and food co-ops.

How Does the Buying Club (Worker Co-app) Business Model Make Money?

Most buying clubs' members can purchase items at a cheaper price due to the fact that these items are ordered in bulk. These products can now be resold at retail prices which are significantly higher and the difference in prices is considered the profit.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

This profit is then disbursed among the individual members of the buying clubs in a predetermined manner.

Companies That Use the Buying Club (Worker Co-Op) Business Model

- REI
- Ace Hardware
- Carpet One

CAR DEALERSHIP

How Does the Car Dealership Business Model Work?

A car dealership is a retail business that sells new or used cars, usually through a contract with a car manufacturer or its sales subsidiary. It may also be involved in the sale of spare parts, car accessories, maintenance services, and warranty claim processing.

Multi-brand car dealers sell vehicles from different manufacturers and may at times specialize in a particular type of vehicle such as trucks, luxury vehicles, electric vehicles, and so on.

How Does the Car Dealership Business Model Make Money?

A majority of car dealerships make money by selling the vehicles over the dealer's invoice price, hence pocketing the difference as profit. Also, these dealers make money by selling vehicle spare parts, accessories, vehicle maintenance, and warranty processing services. They may also generate revenue through advertising for car manufacturers.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies That Use the Car Dealership Business Model

- Carmax
- Paragon Honda
- Bradshaw Automotive Group, Inc.

CAREWARE

How Does the Careware Business Model Work?

Careware (also referred to as goodware, charityware, or helpware) is a type of software that is specifically designed for the benefit of a charity or any other form of philanthropic activity. Many different types of careware exist, and they can be designed to serve a wide range of purposes, ranging from a simple website to a fully operational business model which generates revenue for the charity.

The first use of the term was in 1988 by a Canadian developer known as Roedy Green. One of the first practical examples of a careware product was as a part of a programming user interface library which was distributed by Al Stevens in 1991. In return for this service, he suggested that users donate a dollar, which would be given to a charitable cause.

How Does the Careware Business Model Make Money?

Generally speaking, careware is divided into commercial and non-commercial services. Commercial careware services are usually paid a fee for their services, while non-commercial careware services may provide these services as freeware or ask the users to donate the proceeds to another charity. So careware services simply request that the user shares the careware with other users as well.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies That Use the Careware Business Model

- Peazip
- Product Red
- FireFTP

CAR-SHARING

How the Car-Sharing business model works?

The Car Sharing Business Model works by allowing people rent cars for short periods of time, usually by the hour.

Car sharing companies are strongly based on technology. Once the customer has signed up he or she can use an website to book or a mobile app to find an available car, pick it up, use and drop it off at a specific parking space (or any available public parking space, depending on the company) within a designated operating area.

This model offers great value to users who needs occasional use of cars and has been boosted by the population's mindset shift about car ownership and increasing concern with planet sustainability.

How the Car-Sharing business model makes money?

Car Sharing businesses charge an hourly fee which includes the car with fuel, insurance and cleaning/maintenance taxes.

The hourly fee has to be enough to cover expenses and generate profits above 35 to 40% of occupancy.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies that use Car-Sharing business model:

- BlueSG
- Car Next Door
- Delimobil
- EvCard
- Cambio CarSharing
- GoCar
- Greenwheel

CHARITY CROWDFUNDING (DONATION CROWDFUNDING)

How Does the Donation Crowdfunding Business Model Work?

Crowdfunding is the process of raising funding for a business venture using contributions from a large number of people. Most crowdfunding ventures are hosted online.

There are basically four types of crowdfunding: rewards, donation, debt, and equity. In this business model, we are focusing on donation crowdfunding, also known as charity crowdfunding.

In donation crowdfunding, an entrepreneur with a great idea for a product or service but who lacks the required funds to execute this project can solicit for funding from a large group of people through a crowdfunding platform.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

In this form of crowdfunding, there is no promise of reimbursing the donors though they may be offered several perks such as pre-sale, added product features, a lower selling price, and so on. It is important to note that most crowdfunding platforms take a percentage of the donated funds as a commission.

How Does the Donation Crowdfunding Business Model Make Money?

Donation crowdfunding companies take a percentage of the donated funds as a commission.

Companies That Use the Donation Crowdfunding Business Model

- Kickstarter
- Indiegogo
- GoFundMe

CHARITY SHOP MODEL

How Does the Charity Shop Business Model Work?

A charity shop (which is also known as a thrift store or opportunity shop) is a type of retail establishment that is usually created and run by a charitable organization for the purpose of generating revenue.

Most charity shops sell used items which were donated by members of the charity or other well-meaning individuals. These items are then sold at lower than retail prices to members of the public, especially at-risk individuals who may not have been able to afford new items at retail prices.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Due to the fact that a charity club does not spend money buying these goods and a significant number of employees work on a volunteer basis, they are able to keep operating costs quite low. The money left over after covering operating costs is then donated to a charitable cause.

How Does the Charity Shop Business Model Make Money?

Charity clubs generate revenue by selling the items which are donated to the organization. Since these items are donated for free, they can be sold at prices reasonably below the retail cost and still generate significant profit. Also, low maintenance costs mean that the recurring expenses borne by most charity shops are generally lower than that of retail outlets of comparative size.

Companies That Use the Charity Shop Business Model

- British Heart Foundation
- Salvation Army
- Goodwill Industries

CHEMICAL LEASING

How Does the Chemical Leasing Business Model Work?

The chemical leasing business model is an innovative approach to the sale of chemical compounds which focuses on a shift from a volume-centric model to a function-centric one.

Therefore, in this system, manufacturers are encouraged not to solely focus on selling larger amounts of product to achieve higher profits. Instead, the products are sold as functional units which are more concerned with the purpose

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

these chemicals are supposed to perform and act as the main basis of payment.

The aim is to encourage more sustainable practices both environmentally and in the aspect of public health by promoting the efficient use of these chemical products. It also focuses on a greater degree of mutual trust between the buyer and seller, as well as a longer sales cycle due to the extended quality management services offered by the supplier as well.

How Does the Chemical Leasing Business Model Make Money?

The chemical leasing business model still generates revenue through the sale of chemical compounds to buyers. However, as part of the global shift towards more sustainable practices, they have shifted from a product-centric, volume-dependent sales model to a service-centric, functional unit model which focuses on the efficiency of the products.

Companies That Use the Chemical Leasing Business Model

- Coca-Cola
- Ecolab
- Airbus

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING MODEL

How Does the Classified Advertising Business Model Work?

Classified advertising is a type of short-form advertisement that was most popularly used in newspapers and periodicals, but is now seeing increasing use on online platforms. They are usually used to advertise businesses, items for sale, job opportunities, and so on.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Initially, classified ads were mainly short-form text ads, since they were priced per line. However, online classified ads are not priced per line and offer longer text options with a combination of display advertising as well. These online ads are usually linked to other platforms as well.

Classified advertising is a low-cost and effective advertising method. It is seeing increasing usage online, especially on social media platforms, where social classifieds are increasing in popularity.

How Does the Classified Advertising Business Model Make Money?

Traditional classified advertising businesses such as newspapers and periodicals usually charge per line of text. Online classified advertising businesses may charge based on other parameters which measure the level of engagement with the ad such as the number of unique visitors who were directed to the platform through the ad, pay-per-click, pay-per-conversion, or pay-per-view.

Companies That Use the Classified Advertising Business Model

- Craigslist
- Subito
- Adpost.com

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

CLICKBAIT

How Does the Clickbait Business Model Work?

Clickbait is a type of online content that is purposefully designed to attract attention and encourage visitors to access a particular website through the link and increase traffic. It is seen in somewhat of a negative manner these days due to the fact that much of the so-called “content” offered by the clickbait link typically does not fulfill the advertised quality.

Most clickbait headlines are sensationalist and the main aim is to incur an emotional response from the reader or pique their curiosity through outlandish statements or titles.

Some good examples of clickbait headlines would be articles that make statements like “You Will Not Believe What Happened Next After _____”, “Top 10 Celebrities Who Were Rich But Are Now Broke”, and “He/She/They Did _____ For 30 Days Straight, the Result Will Surprise You”.

How Does the Clickbait Business Model Make Money?

Clickbait business models are typically used by blogs or other online platforms, which generate revenue by increasing traffic to their platform and advertising. Clickbait businesses are usually paid based on the amount of new traffic they can direct to other platforms.

Therefore, the parameters used by such platforms are those which measure the level of engagement with the clickbait link such as the number of unique visitors who were directed to the platform through the link, pay-per-click, pay-per-conversion, or pay-per-view.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies That Use the Clickbait Business Model

- Buzzfeed
- BestBuy
- The Guardian

CO-OPERATIVE

How Does the Co-operative Business Model Work?

The co-operative business model (also known as a workers' co-operative or worker co-op) is a term used to refer to co-operatives which are collectively owned and managed by the workers within the co-op.

This implies that decision-making within the co-operative is done democratically, with each worker having a single vote, irrespective of their rank or investment into the co-operative. They may also decide to vote for a qualified governing body of workers, which is in charge of managing the co-operative and making such decisions on their behalf.

This type of business model was most popular during the industrial revolution, but has fallen out of common use recently. It is best seen in small-scale enterprises, where workers typically have a more equal investment in the business and decision-making is made on a smaller scale.

How Does the Co-operative Business Model Make Money?

Co-operative businesses generate revenue just the same as any other business. The main difference lies in their style of governance and the distribution of resources.

Worker co-operatives can generate revenue through offering

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited their products and services directly to the consumers. This process can be monetized through the use of one-time payments, commission-based payments, subscription-based models, ad-revenue models, freemium models, licensing models, and so on.

Companies That Use the Co-operative Business Model

- Black Star Co-op Pub and Brewery
- Equal Exchange
- Isthmus Engineering & Manufacturing

COLLABORATIVE BUSINESS MODEL

How Does the Collaborative Business Model Work?

A collaborative business model (also referred to as an alliance or joint-venture) is one in which two distinct business entities pool together their resources in terms of capital, labor, technology, intellectual property, and so on, to achieve a substantial increase in revenue.

This allows them to leverage certain inherent advantages of such an alliance such as economies of scale, economies of skill, economies of risk, as well as vertical and horizontal integration. However, this form of business alliance requires significant planning and a strong degree of mutual trust to execute successfully.

Some popular examples of industries that rely strongly on this business model are the agricultural and agricultural-allows industry, electronics manufacturers, automakers, and so on.

How Does the Collaborative Business Model Make Money?

Collaborative business models can generate revenue in several ways. They may range from product-centric to

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited service-centric businesses. Some popular monetization models used by such businesses are one-time payments, commission-based payments, subscription-based models, ad-revenue models, freemium models, licensing models, and so on.

The main feature of such alliances is that both business entities substantially increase their profits by combining their respective resources.

Companies That Use the Collaborative Business Model

- Molson Coors and SABMiller
- BMW and Brilliance Auto Group
- Microsoft and General Electric

COLLECTIVE BUSINESS MODEL

How Does the Collective Business Model Work?

A collective business model is another form of business alliance in which individuals, companies, and other forms of business entities from allied fields pool together their collective resources in terms of capital, labor, technology, intellectual property, and so on, to increase their revenue significantly.

Some popular forms of collective business alliances include trade associations, trade organizations, franchises, worker cooperatives, unions, and so on.

One of the key advantages of such a system is that it allows individual business entities which may not have been able to effectively compete in the market on their own to interact with the market on a more even footing.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How Does the Collective Business Model Make Money?

Collective business models generate revenue in several ways. Using franchises as an example, franchise owners make money from the royalties and fees paid by their franchisees. In return, the franchisees can increase their revenue by leveraging on the brand, upfront investment, lower risk, and increased technological aid.

Trade associations make money from association dues, advertisements, events, fundraising, sponsorships, merchandise sales, and so on.

Companies That Use the Collective Business Model

- Indego Africa
- FAIR
- Ethicando Stores

COMBINATORIAL AUCTION

How Does the Combinatorial Auction Business Model Work?

A combinatorial auction is a type of auctioning system in which individuals place bids on a combination of heterogeneous items instead of individual items. That means each bid is submitted as a bundle of items and the bid price, with auctioneers having the option of submitting multiple variations of bundles and prices.

This is commonly done in situations where the total of a combination of items purchased together has a different

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

value than simply the addition of the individual items if they had been purchased separately. In other words, it's more useful to the bidder to purchase these items together than singly.

This auctioning style has been found to be quite common in things like estate auctions, procurement of transportation and logistical services, allocation of radio frequencies, and so on.

How Does the Combinatorial Auction Business Model Make Money?

Combinatorial auctions run just like traditional auctions, and the auctioneer makes a profit by selling the auctioned items to the winning bid at a price higher than their invoice value. There may also be additional revenue generated from entry fees and advertising as well.

Companies That Use the Combinatorial Auction Business Model

- Home Depot
- Sears
- Walmart

COMMISSION-BASED MODEL

How Does the Commission-Based Business Model Work?

The commission-based business model is one that is well-known within the business world and quite popular due to its simplicity. At its most basic form, a commission-based business model is a business monetization strategy in which a business entity is paid a predetermined fee in addition to the cost of the service rendered or product provided.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

This fee may be calculated in several ways, most popularly of which include the flat rate, percentage, and tiered commission. Building a commission-based business gives the advantage of having an easily predictable revenue stream, however, it also faces significant challenges with scalability.

Commission-based business strategies are quite common, but are popularly seen in the service industry. This includes financial services, real estate, sales representatives, travel agencies, tax systems, and so on.

How Does the Commission-Based Business Model Make Money?

Commission-based industries make money in several ways. For example, their services may come at a flat rate. In this case, a fixed sum of money is paid for every transaction. It may also be calculated as a percentage of the total cost of the transaction itself (e.g. 1%). Lastly, it may be a tiered commission whose flat rate or percentage depends on the volume of the transaction itself.

Companies That Use the Commission-Based Business Model

- Airbnb
- Uber
- Ticketmaster

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

COMMUNITY COMMERCE (PYRAMID)

How Does the Community Commerce (Pyramid) Business Model Work?

A community commerce business model is one that shifts away from a profit-centered ideology and adopts a more value-centered and people-centered model. It strongly supports more partnership and collaboration between different individuals and sections of the community. Most community commerce models are hosted through various social media platforms.

One of the key features of a community-based business model is that it focuses on leveraging the resources it has built through a strong community or following to build on things such as marketing and revenue generation.

How Does the Community Commerce (Pyramid) Business Model Make Money?

Community commerce business models can generate revenue in several ways. The important defining feature is their ability to leverage their strong sense of community, their value-centric goals, and the fact that their goals are aimed toward improving the community as a whole.

Companies That Use the Community Commerce (Pyramid) Business Model

- TikTok
- Instagram

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Binance

COMMUNITY MODEL

How Does the Community-Based Business Model Work?

A community-based business model is one that shifts away from a profit-centered ideology and adopts a more value-centered and people-centered model. It strongly supports more partnership, collaboration, and co-creation. Some people also refer to such a business model as a type of social enterprise.

One of the key features of a community-based business model is that it focuses on leveraging the resources it has built through a strong community or following to build on things such as marketing and revenue generation.

This community may be a physical community such as that seen by a long-standing brick-and-mortar storefront in a tight-knit community. It can also be a community of professional affiliations and joint ventures. The community may be a purely online community such as that seen in many tech giants such as Facebook, Twitter, MySpace, etc.

How Does the Community-Based Business Model Make Money?

Community-based business models can generate revenue in several ways. Some popular monetization models used by such businesses are one-time payments, commission-based payments, subscription-based models, ad-revenue models, freemium models, licensing models, and so on.

The important defining feature is their ability to leverage their strong sense of community as a tool to further enhance and

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited grow their business structure.

Companies That Use the Community-Based Business Model

- MySpace
- Twitter
- Uniswap

CONSIGNMENT

How the Consignment business model works?

The consignment business model works by selling goods for an owner. Merchandise is brought to the store by the seller and owned by the seller until the sale occurs.

This model avoids costly inventory purchasing costs associated with most retail businesses as consignment stores do not purchase any of the goods they sell.

How the Consignment business model makes money?

A consignment business model makes money by receiving a percentage of the sale. Typically, it keeps 60 percent of the sale price and gives 40 percent back to the original owner of the item (percentages may vary).

If the item doesn't sell in an agreed upon period, the consignee returns to the store to reclaim the merchandise or the item is donated according to a prearranged agreement between the store and the seller.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies that use Consignment business model:

- Michael's Consignment
- The Real Real
- 2nd Time Around
- Yoogi's Closet
- Fashionphile

CONSIGNMENT SALES MODEL

How Does the Consignment Sales Business Model Work?

The consignment sales business model is a form of retail in which personal goods are sold by a business entity (known as a consignor) through a third-party vendor (known as the consignee) to the final buyer. The ultimate ownership of the goods before the final sale to an interested buyer lies solely with the consignor. The consignee is paid a commission for each successful sale.

In other words, all legal responsibility and risk are borne by the consignor, with the consignee only being responsible for the sale and distribution of these products. This offers several advantages, the first of which is specialization. By focusing on the part of the sale cycle they are most efficient at, both the consignor and the consignee can rapidly upscale their productivity.

Some popular examples of businesses that employ a consignment sale business model as part of their structure include franchises, second-hand goods markets, home sales schemes, auction houses, art galleries, and so on.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How Does the Consignment Sales Business Model Make Money?

The consignment sales business model involves the sale of goods by a business entity to a buyer through a third-party vendor, who is paid a commission for each successful sale.

Companies That Use the Consignment Sales Business Model

- Poshmark
- Buffalo Exchange
- Mercari

CONSUMABLES SUBSCRIPTION MODEL

How the Consumables Subscription business model works?

The Consumables Subscription Business Model works offering regular deliveries of products that people naturally run out in a subscription-based payment.

This model is mainly focused on consumable products: diapers, razors, flowers and others.

It's as straight forward as this: customers choose the best frequency and volume of consumables they want to be delivered to their door.

How the Consumables Subscription business model makes money?

Consumable Subscription Model generate revenue by offering a subscription to a product that the customer needs to replenish on a regular basis, like a razor blade

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

(consumable product).

Companies that use Consumables Subscription business model:

- Dollar Shave Club
- Diapers
- BirchBox
- PetFlow
- Amazon Subscribe & Save q Honest

CONSUMER COOPERATIVES

How Does the Consumer Cooperatives Business Model Work?

A consumer cooperative is a term used to refer to a business entity owned and managed by consumers for the purpose of achieving a specific goal that is beneficial to its members, but may not always be profit-centered. In many examples, they are designed as a form of mutual aid instead of a profit-oriented enterprise.

By pooling together their collective resources, many consumer co-ops are able to purchase goods at significant discounts by taking advantage of the large volume of the orders they make. This allows them to negotiate better deals with suppliers due to a higher purchasing power and take advantage of the cost mitigating effects of economies of scale.

Consumer co-operatives come in a variety of forms, but some

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited common examples include food cooperatives, credit unions, farmer cooperatives, utility cooperatives, health cooperatives, and so on.

How Does the Consumer Cooperatives Business Model Make Money?

Even though many consumer cooperatives are not primarily focused on generating profits, they do have several means of generating revenue. This includes membership fees and contributions, stocks, bonds, loans, donations, grants, and so on.

Companies That Use the Consumer Cooperatives Business Model

- Alliant Credit Union
- Navy Federal Credit Union
- Consumers Credit Union

CONTENT COMMUNITY COMMERCE (CCC) MODEL

How the Content Community Commerce business model works?

The Content Community Commerce business model is based on the leverage of 3 C's to help consumers make purchase decisions: Content for inspiration and information; Community for social validation and recommendations; and Commerce for making the purchase.

How the Content Community Commerce business model

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited makes money?

Usually the Content Community Commerce business model makes money from three revenue sources:

- ad revenue (banner displays)
- premium listing of professionals / service providers
- e-commerce commissions / affiliate (if it also offers a marketplace of goods)

But some of them may sell their own goods and services too.

Companies that use Content Community Commerce business model:

- Polyvore
- Motoroso
- Food52
- Purch
- Lush
- Citrus

CREDIT CARD MODEL

How the Credit Card Model works?
A credit card is a thin rectangular-shaped piece of plastic or metal issued by financial institutions to customers that allow them to purchase goods and services with the condition that they pay back the money, plus additional interests and fees as per terms and conditions.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

The credit card business model comprises five participants: Customer, Merchant, Issuing Bank, Acquiring Bank, and Payment Network.

Customer: The customer is the cardholder. The process starts with the customer making a payment to an online or offline merchant with their credit card.

Merchant: The merchant sells goods or services to the customer and accepts payment with the customer's credit card.

Issuing Bank: The issuing bank is the bank that provides the credit card to the customer. The issuing bank makes payment to the acquiring bank for the purchases made by the customer. The customer becomes liable to pay back the money.

Acquiring Bank: The acquiring bank is the merchant's bank, and they are liable to make payments to the merchant. They deposit funds into the merchant's account after due authorization.

Payment network: The payment network is responsible for processing credit card transactions. They act as a bridge between issuing banks and acquiring banks. Examples of payment networks are Visa, Mastercard, and American Express.

How the Credit Card Model makes money?

The issuing bank, acquiring bank, and payment processor involved in the credit card business model make money in different ways.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How credit card Issuing Banks make money

1. Interchange Fees: Every time a customer makes a payment to a merchant through a credit card, the merchant pays a processing fee, which is a percentage of the transaction. Some portion of this fee is sent to the issuing bank, and it is referred to as interchange fees. It is often about 1%-3% of the transaction;

2. Sign-up and Annual Renewal Fees: Some cards charge sign-up fees to obtain their cards. They also charge annual renewal fees;

3. International Transaction Charge: When cardholders make a purchase outside their home country in the country's currency, they pay a transaction fee on their card at the conversion rate of the currency, and the charge is levied to their account;

4. Interest Charge and Late Payment Fee: When cardholders do not pay their monthly bill in full, the unpaid credit card balance incurs interest rates of varying amounts. A significant number of credit card holders often pay less than the full monthly amount, hence, issuing banks earn lots of money from them;

5. Cash Advance Fee: Issuing banks charge this fee when cardholders use their credit card to obtain cash at ATMs;

6. Reward Points Redemption Fee: Issuing banks charge a small fee when customers make payments with their customer reward points;

7. Interest on the conversion of outstanding amount to EMI: Issuing banks often charge interest when customers convert the outstanding payable amount to

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

equated monthly installment (EMI);

8. Balance Transfer Fees: When cardholders transfer debt from one credit card to another to get a lower interest rate, some cards charge a fee of 3-5% of the amount transferred. Some issuing banks do not charge this fee;

9. Co-branding and Marketing Revenue: Credit cards sometimes offer their platforms to advertise other businesses. They receive payments for such adverts;

10. Card Replacement Fees: If a cardholder's card gets lost, stolen, or damaged, some issuing banks may charge a fee to replace such cards. However, not all banks charge that fee.

How credit card Acquiring Banks make money

1. Acquirer Fees: Acquiring banks charge a commission from the Merchant Discount Rate (MDR) for its role in the credit card payment process;

2. Merchant Settlement Cycle Interest: The acquiring bank settles merchants' Point of Sale (PoS) transactions at regular intervals. The bank typically invests the money during the period when the money resides with them. They earn interests from such investments. Examples of such investments are investment funds and bonds;

3. PoS Terminals: PoS terminals facilitate the card swipe at purchase points. They are typically sold to merchants for a one-time fee. Subsequently, the merchant pays a commission per transaction, and it is shared between the Acquirer, Issuer, and Payment Network).

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How credit card Payment Network make money

1. Service Earnings: Credit Card payment network provides support services to financial institutions for the delivery of their payment products and services to customers. They make money by providing these support services. Such support service includes authorization, clearing, settlement, and network access which facilitates transaction and information processing;
2. International transaction revenues: Revenues are earned from international transactions which entail currency conversion.

Companies that use the Credit Card Model:

- Visa
- Mastercard
- American Express

CREDIT UNION

How the Credit Union works?
A credit union is a member-owned non-profit financial institution that provides banking services to members. Credit union members can access the same kind of products and services offered by traditional banks like loans, credit cards, checking, and savings accounts. Credit unions are referred to as Co-operative Societies in some countries.

Credit unions are owned by their members. Members save

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

with their credit union and pool their money together, which technically implies that they are buying shares in the cooperative.

The pooling of this money enables the union to provide members with banking services and other financial products. Income generated by the union is used to fund projects and provide services for the benefit of members. Members democratically elect the union's board of directors to manage the union and ensure that interests are met.

Membership in a credit union was originally limited to people who shared the same interests, such as a common employer or resident in the same community. But recently, many credit unions have relaxed their restrictions, allowing members of the public to join.

How the Credit Union makes money?

Credit unions give loans to members. Interests are charged on those loans to generate revenue for the union.

Money not lent to members is invested to yield a return for the credit union.

Other sources of income include:

- Credit and Debit cards interchange and fees
- Mortgage sales, servicing rights, and real estate lending fees.
- Mortgage sales
- Investment and insurance sales

Companies that use Credit Union:

- Consumer Credit Union (CCU)

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Alliant Credit Union (ACU)
- Pentagon Federal Credit Union (PenFed)
- Navy Federal Credit Union (NFCU)

CROWD BUSINESS MODELS

How the Crowd Business Models works?
Crowd-based business models are characterized by the involvement of a community of contributors from outside the traditional firm boundary, the use of digital peer-to-peer platforms, and the transfer of value creation activities to a crowd.

It typically entails external contributors having access to resources and processes of the company, often resulting in stronger interaction with these contributors and their resources.

Crowd-based businesses like other businesses aim at value creation. But for crowd-based businesses, their values are co-created by their customers as co-producers in the business modeling and implementation process.

The business grants open access to some of its resources and processes so that customers or contributors can employ their individual skills to create value in collaboration with the company.

How the Crowd Business Models makes money?
Depending on the model of the Crowd-based businesses, there are various means of making money applicable to such businesses.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Membership fees: There may be payable fees to participate in the value creation model;
- Licensing fee: The business may sell licenses for its products to be used by corporations;
- Product Sales: When the value created by the crowd is hardware, then they might be sold to make money for the company;
- Subscription: There may be paid subscriptions for access to some high-value content like cloud-hosted software.

Companies that use Crowd Business Models:

- Wikipedia
- Skillshare
- Quora

CROWD RENTING

How the Crowd Renting works?
Crowd renting involves hiring a group of people to give the immediate impression that a rally, protest, business, or other public event is very popular and well-supported. Crowd renting is commonly used by companies to promote new products, by politicians to drive public interest in their campaigns, as well as by interest groups to stimulate broad public interests on issues they care about.

Crowds are hired by a crowd hiring company for a fee to give an event the feel of being busy and popular. The effectiveness of this is grounded on the herd instinct principle

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

— a behavior wherein people join groups and follow the actions of others. People will often discard their own judgment and join the bandwagon when it appears that a multitude is following a trend.

How the Crowd Renting business model makes money?
Crowd renting companies provide rent-a-crowd services for a fee, often charged at an hourly rate or per gig. This fee is their major source of revenue.

Companies that use Crowd Renting:

- Crowds on Demand
- Crowds for Rent
- Easy Crowd

CROWD CREATIVITY

How the Crowd Creativity business model works?
The Crowd Creative Business Model works by reaching a pool of designers and other creatives to develop original art, media or content usually through a competition marketplace.

Once a customer buys a design service, the crowd creativity website lists a design contest to thousands of designers around the world who, if interested, starts to brainstorm ideas and get customers feedback trying to get closer to customers needs. Once the customer chooses a winner the 'prize' money is transferred from the customer to the designer.

This model is mostly used in designer services platforms to deliver graphic, logo or web design jobs but can also be used to develop original products and concepts, including

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited branding, photography, advertising, film, video production, apparel and consumer goods.

How the Crowd Creativity business model makes money?

The Crowd Creative Business Model makes money by retaining a percentage of the money transferred from the customer to the creative winner.

Companies that use Crowd Creativity business model:

- 99Designs
- Crowdspring
- Design the Crowd
- Arcbazar
- Tongal
- Zooppa

CROWDFUNDING

How the Crowdfunding business model works?

The Crowdfunding Business model works by helping projects and new ventures get funded through money donations from a large number of people in exchange of unique rewards

Crowdfunding websites allow a lot of people to each contribute a small amount of money to off-the-radar projects. This concept, created in 2009, has become a huge catalyst in redefining how creative projects and new ventures are funded.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the Crowdfunding business model makes money?
The classic crowdfunding business model makes money with commissions on funds raised.

Companies that use Crowdfunding business model:

- Kickstater
- Indiegogo
- GoFundMe
- Teespring
- Patreon

CROWDGIFTING

How the Crowdgifting business model works?
Crowdgifting is the raising of funds for a particular purpose through donations from a large number of people (the crowd) in small amounts over a short period of time.

The crowd gifting platform facilitates the interaction between fundraisers and the crowd. A fundraiser starts a time-bound fundraising campaign with the approval of the platform. Small amounts of donations are made by the people via the platform. By the expiration of the allotted time frame of the fundraising, the money realized is paid to the fundraiser.

Some platforms operate an all-or-nothing funding model. This means that, if you reach your target, you get the money and if you don't, everybody gets their money back — no hard feelings and no financial loss.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the Crowdgifting business model makes money?
Crowd Gifting platforms usually charge fundraisers a percentage of the total amount raised, typically about 15%.

Companies that use Crowdgifting business model:

- Indiegogo
- GoFundMe
- KickStarter

CROWD INNOVATION

How the Crowd innovation business model works?
The Crowd Innovation Business Model (also knows as the Open Innovation Business Model) works by helping companies solve problems and find innovation opportunities using external contributors.

This business model has been increasingly popular within large corporations as their bureaucratic and slow processes put them in disadvantage position as innovators.

Similar to the Crowd Creativity the whole crowd innovation system is based on contests and prizes.

How the Crowd innovation business model makes money?
The Crowd Innovation Platforms makes money by charging a listing fee and a commission of the paid prize.

Companies that use Crowd innovation business model:

- Innocentive

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Chaordix
- IdeaConnection
- Innoget
- NineSigma
- Ideaken

CROWD KNOWLEDGE

How the Crowd knowledge business model works?

The Crowd Knowledge Business Model works by leveraging the wisdom or intelligence from a group of people in order to help research or decision making.

Differently from the Crowd Innovation, crowd knowledge does not work with contests and focus primarily on a data-information-knowledge approach to extract wisdom of the crowd shared in its online communities.

Also known as Distributed Knowledge, Collective Intelligence, Collective Wisdom or Wisdom of the Crowd.

How the Crowd knowledge business model makes money?

Crowd Knowledge Businesses makes money by selling the information gathered in its online communities without exposing individual private data.

Companies that use Crowd knowledge business model:

- Patients Like Me

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Trend Watching
- Organized Wisdom
- Trend Hunter
- Cure Together

CROWD LABOR

How the Crowd Labor business model works?

The Crowd Labor Business Model is the most popular type of crowdsourcing and works by leveraging a pool of on-demand professionals.

How the Crowd Labor business model makes money?

The Crowd Labor Business Model makes money by charging a small fee from the transferred money between the customer and the service provider.

Companies that use Crowd Labor business model:

- Task Rabbit
- Elance
- Mechanical Turk
- uTest
- UpWork
- Crowd Flower
- Freelancer

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Crowd Content

CROWD LEARNING

How the Crowd Learning business model works?
The Crowd Learning Business model works by allowing people learn from the expertise of others. By connecting a great variety of teachers with learners, the model benefits from the long tail.

How the Crowd Learning business model makes money?
The Crowd Learning business model generate revenue by offering the expertise from teachers (experts) to the end consumer, so the end consumer will pay to learn from the expert.

Companies that use Crowd Learning business model:

- Skillshare
- Duolingo
- Pow How

CROWDLENDING

How the Crowdlending Business model works?
The Crowdlending model allows individuals and businesses to raise money through the small amounts of money contributed by a group of people (the crowd) in exchange for returns.

A borrower applies for a loan on the crowdlending platform. The platform assesses the risks involved and sets guidelines like interest on loans, terms of repayment, etc. The investors agree to the terms of the loan and the transaction proceeds.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the Crowdlending Business model makes money?

- The investor gets interested paid on the loan.
- The crowdlending platform gets commissions from the transaction.
- The platform also makes money through advertisements.
- Some platforms charge sign-up fees from users.

Companies that use Crowdlending business model:

- Mintos
- Swaper
- PeerBerry

CROWDSOURCING

How the Crowdsourcing business model works?

The Crowdsourcing Business Model works by leveraging the power of the crowd to deliver services or funding to customers through an online platform.
The word comes from the combination of 'crowd' and 'outsourcing' and has been spreading in many formats and different objectives.

How the Crowdsourcing business model makes money?

The Crowdsourcing Business Model makes money by facilitating payments between customers and the crowd,

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited retaining a small percentage of the money transfer.

Companies that use Crowdsourcing business model:

- 99Designs
- Innocentive

CUTTING OUT THE MIDDLEMAN

How the Cutting Out The Middleman business model works?

The Cutting Out the Middleman Business Model works by removing intermediaries in the distribution network and selling directly to the final customer.

Also know as 'Disintermediation' strategy is an increasing practice used by internet companies that wants to handle distribution channels themselves and increase market transparency.

The model makes great use of technology and economies of scale.

How the Cutting Out The Middleman business model makes money?

The Cutting Out the Middleman business model makes money the same way retail makes money (by selling products and charging a price to the final customer) but they do increase margins (and consequently can have higher profits) with less layers of distribution (intermediaries).

Companies that use Cutting Out The Middleman business model:

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Tesla Motors
- Warby Parker
- Dell
- Bryght
- Crane & Canopy

D2C

How the D2C business model works?
Direct-2-Customer (D2C) is an eCommerce model wherein the manufacturer or producer sells directly to consumers. This effectively cuts out the middlemen — such as third-party wholesalers, distributors, and retailers —, thus allowing the D2C company to offer its products at lower prices than traditional retail businesses.

The D2C business model utilized eCommerce and the internet to disrupt the traditional sales model. The traditional sales model required a producer who sells to w wholesaler who then sells to retailers who eventually offer the product to the final consumer.

The D2C model has ignored this long chain and harnessed the power of the internet and eCommerce to sell their products directly to the final consumer.

This, however, does not mean that D2C companies engage in all the sales tasks with their resources. They typically have partnerships with logistics and delivery firms to ensure seamless product delivery to the end consumer.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the D2C business model makes money?
D2C businesses make the majority of their revenue through product sales to end consumers.

They also earn through advertisements. They offer their platform to other businesses to advertise their products and collect a fee for the service.

Companies that use D2C business model:

- Apple
- Nike
- Revelry

DAILY DEALS

How the Daily Deals business model works?
Daily deals is an eCommerce business model wherein businesses offer products for sale for a period of 24 to 36 hours at heavily discounted prices. It is often used by businesses to reach new customers. Potential customers may need to register as members to participate in the deal-of-the-day offer.

Retailers market goods and services at heavily discounted rates to customers of the deal company in the hope to attract new customers, building brand loyalty, and selling surplus inventory. The deal company often receives a portion of the retailer's profit.

Daily deal companies work frequently with online retailers and local businesses to help them develop deals that bear discounted prices in comparison to recommended retail prices.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the Daily Deals business model makes money?
Daily deal businesses make money through the commission they receive on every sale made by businesses through the deal platform.

They also generate revenue when they sell vouchers and car-linked deals that connect local businesses and consumers.

Some daily deal companies also sell products directly to consumers to increase their revenue.

Companies that use Daily Deals business model:

- Groupon
- GroupPrice
- LivingSocial

DEALERSHIP

How the Dealership works?
The dealership business model works as a sales agent, intermediary or distributor of products.

Dealers may have an authorisation/contract to sell products from a specific company (usually a manufacturer) and it's a common business model in the following industries:

- antiques
- arts
- automobile
- finance (securities and derivatives) q gambling

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- drugs

How the Dealership makes money?
The dealership business model makes money in numerous ways. The most common are: i. from gross margins by selling for a higher price than it has bought; and ii. from commission or incentives. In car dealership both ways are possible and can be combined.

Other sources of revenue come from add-on services or products, such as maintenance, insurance or financing.

Companies that use Dealership:

- Toyota
- Dave Smith
- Grays Antiques

DEBT-BASES CROWDFUNDING

How the Debt-bases crowdfunding business model works?
Debt-based crowdfunding is when a number of investors (the crowd) loan money out to a business or individual with the expectation of repayment plus interest over time. This transaction often takes place over a regulated platform. The process is often simpler than those of traditional bank loans. It tends to offer lower interest, rapid approval time, more favorable terms, and a simpler process in general.

The potential borrower submits a loan request to a debt-based crowdfunding platform. The platform then assesses the suitability of the request. If the application is approved, the platform then offers the potential borrower rates of returned and applicable fees in correlation with the level of risk the loan poses to potential investors. The higher the risk, the higher the rate of return expected by investors.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

The offering is then launched on the platform, clearly stating the amount and time frame. It closes once the time runs out, and the money is then issued to the borrower.

Debt-based crowdfunding platforms provide a secure and easy-to-use service.

How the Debt-bases crowdfunding business model makes money?
Borrowers pay a percentage fee to debt-based crowdfunding platforms if the fundraising campaign attains success.

Companies that use Debt-bases crowdfunding business model:

- Funding Circle
- Zopa
- Lending Club

DEMAND-SIDE PLATFORM

How the Demand-side platform business model works?
A demand-side platform (DSP) is an advertising technology (AdTech) that uses an automated programmatic advertising platform that allows advertisers to purchase ad space on an impression basis from multiple ad sources via supply-side platforms and ad exchanges. A DSP simply allows the purchase of advertising with the help of automation.

Advertisers and ad agencies use DSPs to buy ad inventory

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited from publishers through the ad exchange, just in the same way stockbrokers buy stock from companies through the stock exchange.

Demand-Side Platforms enable real-time buying and selling of ads through an automated system. Real-bidding implies that ad placements are auctioned off in milliseconds.
An advertiser selects their target audience and sets up their ad campaign in a DSP. Publishers equally up-load their ad inventory on the DSP through ad exchanges and supply-side platforms. These platforms offer the ad impression to the DSP, which then analyzes the data about the user and determines the user's worth based on their relevance to the targeting criteria. The advertiser competes with other advertisers for the ad impression by placing bids in real-time.

The DSP buys the impression and the ad is displayed on the publisher's site.

How the Demand-side platform business model makes money?
DSPs charge a minimal monthly fee to cover the cost per mile (CPM) for services rendered.

A percentage of an advertiser's spend is paid to the DSPs.

Profit accrues to the DSP when they bid up to a predefined CPM for buyers and take the difference between the bid and the charge price.

Some DSPs also charge initial fees to use their platform.

Companies that use Demand-side platform business model:

- Basis Technologies
- Google Marketing Platform

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Amazon DSP

DEMATERIALISED SERVICES

How the Dematerialised services business model works?
Dematerialization Service (DEMAT), is the conversion of physical shares and securities into electronic form. DEMAT accounts hold shares and stock certificates in electronic format instead of paper form. This increases the safety and security of shares and prevents their loss and forgery. It has become the norm in the financial industry.

The Dematerialization process starts with the opening of a DEMAT account. To open a DEMAT account, you need to select a depository participant (DP), i.e, a financial institution or brokerage service firm which offers DEMAT services.

In order to convert physical shares into electronic format, a dematerialization request form (DPF) is obtained from the Depository Participant (DP), filled, and submitted with the shares certificate. The Depository Participant then processes the request and shares certificates with the company, registrars, and transfer agents simultaneously through the depository. Upon approval of the request, the physical share certificates are destroyed and confirmation of dematerialization is sent to the depository.

The depository then confirms the dematerialization of shares to the depository participant, and a credit in the holding of shares will show up on the investor's account electronically. The process takes place within 15 to 30 days after submission of the dematerialization request.

How the Dematerialised services business model makes

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited money?

Dematerialization service businesses charge an annual issue fee from issuers as decided by the market regulator.

They charge a transaction fee on every transaction conducted by investors.

Companies that use Dematerialised services business model:

- CDSL Ltd.
- Central Securities Clearing System Plc (CSCS)
- Kotak Securities

DEPARTMENT STORES

How the Department Stores business model works?
Department stores are retail firms offering a wide range of merchandise in different areas of the store. Each area (department) specializes in a product category.

A departmental store is usually divided into various departments, each dealing with a special range of goods or targeting specific types of market segments.

They buy goods from suppliers on long credit terms. This gives them enough liquidity to increase their inventory. They also offer sections (departments) to manufacturers and brands for advertising and branding.

How the Department Stores business model makes money?
Departmental stores make most of their revenue through the sale of goods.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

They also make additional revenue by holding major seasonal sales. The product life cycle of some products is short, hence, stores have inventory left over by the time they have to replace old products with new products. Then, they carry out a publicized sale for the leftovers at lower prices than the original retail prices.

They also fetch revenue from advertising and branding carried out by manufacturers in the store.

Companies that use Department Stores business model:

- Macy's
- JCPenney
- Bloomingdale's

DESTINATION CLUB

How the Destination Club business model works?
A destination club also called a vacation club provides access to an array of high-quality, luxury, spacious, and fully serviced vacation homes in different locations. Membership in a destination club offers lots of perks, such as access to the club's properties and vacation homes around the world.

Members pay a one-time membership fee and annual membership dues to maintain their membership and gain access to the club's properties. This grants them access to members' exclusive services. Members often have access to a portfolio of luxurious homes in high-end destinations around the world.

Club inventory is booked based on availability. Often, clubs have different membership grades which offer different levels of reservation priority, personalized services, and resort facilities. Membership fees are used to lease or buy properties. Members have no ownership stake in the properties, and they receive a partial or no refund when they resign their membership.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the Destination Club business model makes money?
Destination Clubs earn income from vacation ownership sales, rental, resort management, and other services.

Companies that use Destination Club business model:

- Inspirato
- The Hideaways Club
- The Ritz-Carlton Destination Club

DIGITAL TRANSFORMATION

How the Digital Transformation business model works?
Digital transformation is the use of computer-based technologies to transform existing processes, goods, and services, or create new ones to meet the ever-evolving business and customers' requirements. Its aim is the remaking of management and operations of businesses and how value is delivered to customers, with the intent to make them more efficient, accessible, and scalable.

The digital transformation model follows an essential 5-step process:

- Digitize documents: Convert paper documents into an electronic filing cabinet version for digital archiving and retrieval;

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Organize Documents: Obtain metadata with advanced capture to be managed in centralized storage;
- Automate processes: Use electronic forms to digitize processes;
- Streamline processes: Increase the efficiency of cross-functional processes;
- Transform processes: Align processes with business goals in order to drive innovation.

How the Digital Transformation business model makes money?
Digital transformation increases the efficiency in acquiring new customers through better-targeted ads, and revision and extension of their existing portfolio of products and services, therefore increasing sales of goods and services.

Companies that use Digital Transformation business model:

- Brick by Brick: Lego
- Delivery by Data: DHL
- Smart City through Sound Transit

DIRECT SELLING

How the Direct Selling business model works?
The Direct Selling business model works by creating a marketing and sales system directly to customers and away from a retail store.

A common definition says that direct selling is based in the direct personal presentation, demonstration, and sale of products and services to consumers, usually in their homes or at their jobs.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Usually direct selling businesses relies in a salesforce of independent professionals enabling entrepreneurship and opportunity for millions of people worldwide.

How the Direct Selling business model makes money?
The direct selling business model, generate revenue by selling products or services, using salespeople, who sell directly to customers.

Companies that use Direct Selling business model:

- Avon
- Natura q Amway
- Herbalife
- Mary Kay
- Tupperware

DIRECTORY MODEL

How the Directory Model business model works?
A directory is a registry or index of businesses that promotes interaction and exchange of information between businesses and consumers. Listings in a directory are grouped into categories. They are just yellow pages.

A directory creates as many business profiles as possible. The directory also gathers data on these businesses themselves or from the companies that provide the data. The directory owners then drive traffic to its pages through different means like SEO so that consumers can easily find them and use them in their search for businesses.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the Directory Model business model makes money?
Directory businesses make money through a paid listing of businesses, i.e., businesses pay to get listed in the directory.

Featured listings and special places for listings are placed in prominent positions to attract more customers. This attracts a special fee paid to the directory.

Directories use their platform to advertise other businesses for a fee.

Collecting membership fees from listing owners is another source of revenue for directories.

Companies that use Directory Model business model:

- Yell.com
- Whitepages
- Touch Local

DISCOUNT CLUBS

How the Discount Clubs business model works?
A discount club is a business that offers its goods and services at a discount to only its members. They usually have a huge catalog of products to attract customers. Customers have to pay a membership fee.

Customers who wish to shop in discount clubs purchase a membership to access the store and make purchases.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Discount clubs offer lower prices than normal retail outlets.

They often buy directly from manufacturers, limit hours of operations, and reduce labor by a more efficient storage system. All of these help them lower their cost of operations.

How the Discount Clubs business model makes money?
Sales of products are a big source of revenue for discount clubs. Membership fees also fetch big revenue for them.

Companies that use Discount Clubs business model:

- Aldi
- Costco
- BJ

DIY / POWER TO THE PEOPLE

How the DIY business model works?
Do-It-Yourself (DIY) means people doing something themselves instead of paying someone else to do it for them. They often sell products to Do-It-Yourself customers, Do-It-For-Me customers, and professionals.

Companies using the DIY business model typically offer products for sale to customers. They often organize regular DIY workshops for customers, and customers can choose to attend them.

They teach installations, repairs, and improvement tasks at different skill levels. They also maintain expert customer service to guide customers and provide knowledgeable advice on their products to help them maximize the products' benefits.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the DIY business model makes money?
DIY companies generate revenue through product sales.

When customers need professionals to work for them, DIY companies can provide professional services to them through their vast network of professionals for a fee.

Companies that use DIY business model:

- Ikea
- Home Depot
- Lowe's

DONATIONWARE

How the Donationware business model works?
The Donationware business model is based in the offer a fully operational and unrestricted software to the public for free but requesting an optional donation to its developer

Also described as a ’variation of the freeware model’ it’s very common between independent software creators and has its efficiency questioned by specialists.

As it does not guarantee a revenue stream, those who choose to go with donationware must have a lean cost structure without.

This model may also be confused with crowdfunding.

How the Donationware business model makes money?
The Donationware business model makes money by asking

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

for donations from its customers. Some may ask for donations in a very discrete way, some others may be very.

Companies that use Donationware business model:

- VLC Media Player q FileZilla
- AdBlock
- GetSocial

DOUBLE AUCTION

How the Double auction business model works?
A double auction is a process of buying and selling goods where buyers and sellers submit prices they deem acceptable.

Potential buyers submit their bids, while potential sellers submit their ask price. When a match is found between a buyer's bid and a seller's ask price, the trade is executed. Typically, a trade takes place when a buyer accepts a seller's asking price and when a seller accepts a buyer's bid.

How the Double auction business model makes money?
Sellers earn money by selling above cost, and buyers earn money by buying below value. Auction houses earn their money through commission on sales.

Companies that use Double auction business model:

- Christie's
- Sotheby's
- Beijing Poly International Auction Company

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

DUTCH AUCTION

How the Dutch auction business model works?
A Dutch auction is an auction process where the auctioneer starts with a high asking price, and then, reduces it until there is a bid for the item, or it reaches a predetermined reserve price. It is frequently used to sell goods that need to be sold quickly. e.g., flowers.

Prior to the commencement of the auction, information on the items to be sold is presented to the bidders and publicly displayed.

The auctioneer starts with a price offer that is typically in excess of the amount the seller expects to receive. The price is then lowered in steps until a bidder accepts the price. The bidder is pronounced the winner and pays the price for the item. The bidder accepts the price when it reaches an acceptable level, and so that someone else does not bid for it.

A Dutch auction is an alternative to a traditional auction, where bids are placed in increasing value until nobody is willing to bid higher.

How the Dutch auction business model makes money?
Revenue is earned from sales commission paid by buyers. Auction houses charge a commission on each sale that takes place.

Companies that use Dutch auction business model:

- Christie’s
- Sotheby’s

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Phillips

E-PROCUREMENT

How the e-Procurement business model works?
e-Procurement (Electronic Procurement) is the requisition, ordering, and buying and selling of supplies, equipment, works, and services online. e-Procurement centralizes and automates interactions between all the value chain partners, including the organization and customers.

e-Procurement works in 5 steps:

1. The user identifies needed goods or services on the company's website and submits their purchase request with just a click;
2. Once the user needs have been recognized, the system may obtain quotes or bids from potential suppliers. Suppliers receive a request for quotation (RFQ) inviting them to submit a bid for the purchase contract;
3. After the bids have been received and negotiations concluded, a supplier is selected, and the purchase is authorized through the approval process;
4. The purchasing team carries out the electronic drafting of a purchase order (PO) or purchase agreement. It is then sent to the supplier in the form of an electronic document or through a marketplace, mail, or fax;
5. The supplier then goes about preparing the products for delivery.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the e-Procurement business model makes money?
e-Procurement makes the purchase process easier for B2B customers, thus they are more likely to buy more and the company gets paid faster.

The automation process of e-Procurement affords the sales team more time to pursue revenue-generating activities instead of laboring over paperwork.

Automation also reduces the labor cost of companies, thus increasing profit margin.

Companies that use e-Procurement business model:

- SAP Ariba
- Basware
- Jaggaer

EARLY EXIT STRATEGY

How the Early exit strategy business model works?
An early exit strategy is an emergency plan typically used by traders, investors, and venture capitalists to liquidate their financial assets or dispose of tangible business assets in order to safely exit from the market upon meeting certain predetermined criteria. It is how an investor plans to leave an investment.

Early exit strategies are often executed to maximize profits in a successful business or minimize the loss in a struggling business. For an early exit strategy to work well, there are key steps that should be taken.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Prepare your finances and put them in order;
- Speak with stakeholders about your decision;
- Transfer your responsibilities to others;
- Consider your exit options.

An exit option might be to sell to a new owner or liquidate, and shut down the business.

How the Early exit strategy business model makes money?
Initial Public Offering (IPO) is a popular exit strategy used to make money for business stakeholders.

An outright sale of the business will fetch revenue for stakeholders involved in the business.

Through mergers and acquisitions, a bigger company could pay to take over (merge with) a smaller company. Stakeholders of the smaller company stand to generate some income from the deal.

Companies that use Early exit strategy business model:

- Intel Acquires Mobileye
- Disney bought Some of 21st Century Fox's Assets
- Facebook IPO with US$16 billion raised (May 2012)

EMBBEBED FINANCE

How the Embbebed Finance business model works?
Embedded finance is the provision of financial services to the public by non-financial providers. Such financial services include payments, lending, and insurance. Embedded finance makes it easier for the public to access financial services anytime, and anywhere they need them.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Online stores that seemingly have nothing to do with finance could integrate payments, debit cards, loans, insurance, and even investment instruments into their platform such that users do not need to visit other platforms to get these services. And users can also transfer money or obtain loans through applications that, seemingly, have nothing to do with finance

How the Embbebed Finance business model makes money?
Embedded finance helps companies to create new revenue streams in payments, commissions, subscriptions interest on loans, and improved customer retention and engagement.

Companies that use Embbebed Finance business model:

- Lendflow
- Hydrogen
- Paystack

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

EMBBEDED SOCIAL

How the Embbeded Social business model works?
Embedding refers to the integration of media content like images, videos, and links into social media posts or other Web media and platforms.

Embedding external content into a business platform can increase engagement around your platform. Embedded content has an appeal to users as it appears as part of the platform, hence, it increases click-through and engagement.

How the Embbeded Social business model makes money?
The increased customer experience through embedded social may lead to increased sales of goods and services for businesses.

Companies that use Embbeded Social business model:

- Embed Social
- SmarterQueue
- Zoho

EMPLOYMENT AGENCY BUSINESS MODEL

How the Employment Agency business model works?
An employment agency is an organization that helps people to find jobs and helps companies to fill their staffing needs. They simply help to matchmake jobseekers and companies.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies pay the Employment Agency to find suitable employees for them. Jobseekers contact the employment agency for jobs or simply apply for jobs of their choice through the agency. The agency then conducts interviews for the jobseeker and matches them with appropriate companies to fill specific positions. The client company typically pays the selected jobseeker through the employment agency. But if they decide to hire the jobseeker permanently, then they will pay the candidate directly.

How the Employment Agency business model makes money?
An employment agency generates revenue by billing a percentage of the annual basic salary of the successful candidate hired as permanent staff, typically between 15-30%.

They also add some margin to the hourly rate of freelance or temporary workers they provide for client companies.

Agencies get paid for on-demand recruitment. This is when client companies hire agencies to provide support and increase the capability of their internal recruiters.

Companies that use Employment Agency business model:

- Adecco
- Randstad NV
- Kelly Services Inc.

ENGLISH AUCTION

How the English auction business model works?
An English auction is a sales method on a single quantity of

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited product where different buyers place their bid for the product at increasing prices and the highest bidder gets the product and pays for it.

The auctioneer opens the auction by announcing a base price set by the seller of the product. Then buyers place increasing bids on the product. The highest bidder at any point in time is considered the standing bid until a higher bid is placed by another buyer. If no higher bid is placed within the allotted time, then the standing bid is declared the winner and the item is sold to the highest bidder at their bid price.

How the English auction business model makes money?
Auction houses retain a percentage of the proceeds from the sale of merchandise. Auctioneers receive a commission or fee from the seller of the merchandise.

Companies that use English auction business model:

- Sotheby's
- Christie's
- Phillips

EQUITY CROWDFUNDING

How the Equity Crowdfunding business model works?
Equity crowdfunding is a method of raising capital from investors in exchange for a proportionate amount of shares in a company. The shareholder is a partial owner of the company, thus, eligible to profit if the company does well. They can also lose if the company fails.

Equity crowdfunding is often regulated by the authorities. Though it is not the same as selling shares on the stock exchange, your company is still offering equity to investors in exchange for capital.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

This model is often used by startup businesses looking for investments to achieve establishment. Investors give money to them for some shares of the company. If the business succeeds, then the value of the share goes up. The same also applies if the business struggles.

How the Equity Crowdfunding business model makes money?
The business generates capital from money given to it by investors.

Investors get a return on their investment if the business succeeds. They may later decide to liquidate their stake in the business at a later time.

Companies that use Equity Crowdfunding business model:

- Wefunder
- SeedInvest
- CircleUp

FACTORING

How the Factoring business model works?
The Factoring business model works by purchasing accounts receivables at a discount from customers other businesses.

The sale of the receivable, usually an invoice, transfers ownership of the receivable to the factor, indicating the factor obtains all of the rights associated with it. The receivable

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited becomes a factor's asset, obtaining the right to receive the payments made by the debtor for the invoice amount without restrictions.

Although factoring is a type of a financial transaction offered by many financial institutions (e.g. banks), there are many factoring focused businesses and brokers/agents.

How the Factoring business model makes money?

Factoring Business Model makes money by charging a discount fee which includes an interest rate and the credit risk assumed and by offering supportive services such as creditworthiness information and collection calls.

The factor's overall profit is the difference between the price it paid for the invoice and the money received from the debtor, less the amount lost due to non-payment.

Companies that use Factoring business model:

- Capital Plus
- Charter Capital
- American Receivables
- Crest Mark
- Factor Funding Co.
- Riviera Finance

FAIR TRADE

How the Fair Trade business model works?

Fairtrade is a system aimed at helping producers in the developing world to achieve sustainable and equitable trade relationships with their trading partners. It is designed to offer better trade terms to producers.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Fairtrade gets producers to organize into cooperatives. Fairtrade sets s minimum price producers are paid to sell their produce to fairtrade. Additionally, producer organizations receive the fairtrade premium. It is up to the producers to decide how to use the premium. They could build schools, and hospitals, or invest in better equipment.

How the Fair Trade business model makes money?
A license fee is paid by companies using the FAIRTRADE mark. It is paid to the fairtrade foundation, and it constitutes over 85% of the fairtrade income. Donations and grants are also received from organizations, and they make up between 10-20% of their income.

Companies that use Fair Trade business model:

- Tesco
- Starbucks
- Nestlé

FAST FASHION

How the Fast Fashion business model works?
Fast fashion refers to the design, manufacturing, and marketing method aimed at replicating trendy catwalk and high fashion designs through mass production at low cost and supplying them to retail stores when demand is highest.

Fashion shows typically set the stage for the new trend. It moves quickly from the designer sketch to retail stores as quickly as possible.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Fast fashion companies have vertically integrated supply chains, hence they are able to produce cheaply. The clothes are priced cheaply and do not last. They are aimed at a new trend, are to be worn only a few times and then discarded for the next fashion trend.

How the Fast Fashion business model makes money?
Most of their revenue is based on the sales of their fashion products.

Companies that use Fast Fashion business model:

- Zara
- H&M Group
- Forever 21

FINANCIAL INTERMEDIARY

How the Financial Intermediary business model works?
A financial intermediary refers to a third party acting as a middle man between two parties in order to facilitate a financial transaction. Examples of financial intermediaries are banks, investment funds, and stockbrokers. They reallocate uninvested capital to productive sectors.

Financial intermediaries typically reallocate excess or uninvested capital to sectors or parties in need of these funds. For example, commercial banks collect money from savers and reallocate those funds to people and businesses who need money in the form of loans, mortgages, or capital for business.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the Financial Intermediary business model makes money?
Financial intermediary generates profits from interest on loans. They also make money from service charges and fees.

Companies that use Financial Intermediary business model:

- Banks
- Credit Unions
- Pension Funds

FLASH SALES

How the Flash Sales business model works?
Also know as One Deal a Day or Deal-of-the-Day the Flash Sales Business Model works by offering one single product for a limited period (usually 24 hours) at a huge discount.

In its essence the model allows retailers to market discounted products or services to a large base of customers from flash sales customers. It's a great way to quickly sell surplus inventory or to promote your business to a new base of customers.

The model became popular in the internet in 2004 with Woot.com and impressed with its viral power and high-volume sales in such a short period of time. Websites using this model leverage the power communication of email and social networks by asking those who were interested in viewing product offers to enter their email addresses in order to keep attracting them back through email newsletters.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the Flash Sales business model makes money?

Flash Sales Business Model makes money by charging a commission fee from the sales. The commission is usually high (varying from 20% to 50%) ripping off all the profit from the retailer.

Companies that use Flash Sales business model:

- Woot.com
- uBid
- Groupon
- Privalia
- Benjamin

FRACTIONAL OWNERSHIP

How the Fractional Ownership business model works?

The fractional ownership business model works by offering acquisition and administration services of the ownership of a high-value tangible asset (usually a jet, yacht, sport car or resort real state) shared between several independent parties as a way to mitigate risk and reduce costs of maintaining an asset that will not be used full time by one owner.

Fractional ownership simply means the division of any asset into portions or shares. Each owner is guaranteed a prescribed amount of access to the asset, which typically can be used or offered to the public as rental or charter, the income is usually split between the management company and the fractional owner.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Conceptually, fractional ownership is not the same as timeshare. Fractional ownership affords much of the freedom and usage benefits offered in timeshare, however, the fundamental difference with fractional ownership is that the purchaser owns part of the title (as opposed to units of "time").

How the Fractional Ownership business model makes money?

Fractional ownership companies make money with sales commissions and by charging a monthly or annual management fee.

Companies that use Fractional Ownership business model:

- Sea Net
- Net Jets
- e25
- Elite Destination
- Ritz-Carlton Destination Club

FRANCHISING

How the Franchising business model works?

The Franchising Business Model works by offering the right to use a company's brand and operational model for determined period.

There are two important players in the franchising business model: the franchisee and the franchisor.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

For the franchisee it's a safer way to start and operate your own business (hit the ground running) as they will be able to open identical business of a proven brand and business model.

For the franchisor, the model is a great growth and distribution strategy without high investments / disbursement.

How the Franchising business model makes money?

The franchising business model works in multiple ways. There's an initial fee for selling the franchise rights (also called fret agreement), a monthly royalty for the trademark (and publicity) and a percentage of the monthly sales.

Some franchises may also charge a fixed fee (more common within home based or micro franchising) instead of percentage of monthly sales. Some other may also sell supplies (with an exclusivity supply selling contract).

Companies that use Franchising business model:

- McDonald's
- Starbucks
- Subway
- 7-Eleven
- Dunkin' Donuts

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

FREEMIUM / FREE

How the Freemium business model works?

The Freemium Business Model works by offering a digital offering (software, media, game or web services) free of charge but with an optional charged version with premium features, functionality or virtual goods.

The word Freemium comes from the combination of Free and Premium and it's also considered a pricing strategy, in some way an evolution of the freeware model (commonly used by software since 1980s)

The model is commonly used by software as a service companies in which the cost of distribution is very small as the free option may represent the option of most users.

How the Freemium business model makes money?

In order to make money with the freemium business model the costs of distribution to all users (free and premium) must be lower than the revenue generated from premium accounts.

This may sound easy in the digital world, but it is not. It's a huge effort to turn free customers into paying customers. The success indicator is 5% of paying customers and 95% of free customers.

Companies that use Freemium business model:

- Mailchimp
- Survey Monkey q Skype
- Dropbox

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Evernote

FREEWARE

How the Freeware business model works?
Freeware is proprietary software, program, or application that is available for free download, installation, use, and sharing. They are available for use at no cost to general end-users, but they are different from free software.

Freeware is usually released by a company to the public for use at no cost. Though the company retains proprietary rights over the freeware, the end-users can use them for free without having to pay. But they might come with restrictions on some features.

How the Freeware business model makes money?
Some freeware run ads and promotions on their freeware platform to generate income.

Donations are also received from happy customers and organizations.

Some freeware comes with restrictions on its features. Users can only unlock those features after making a payment to get a license key.

Companies that use Freeware business model:

- Skype
- Telegram
- WeChat

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

FULL STACK MODEL

How the Full Stack Model business model works?
A full-stack model is one where a business controls the production, distribution, and support of its own product. It is typically used in the technology world. By eliminating the need for intermediaries, a full-stack company addresses the complete value chain from end to end, controlling the entire customer experience.

The full-stack model requires a holistic approach. It is an approach that incorporates vertical integration into its operations. It owns and controls in full all the value chain. They make all the components of their products in-house instead of outsourcing. Typically, they require a wide range of domain knowledge.

How the Full Stack Model business model makes money?
By eliminating as many intermediaries as possible, the full-stack business model saves time and money.

Companies that use Full Stack Model business model:

- Uber
- Lyft
- Urban Company

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

GENERALIZED SECOND-PRICE AUCTION

How the Generalized second-price auction business model works?
The generalized second-price auction gives the highest bidder (the winner) the chance to pay less than their original bid offer.

Each bidder places a bid. The highest bidder gets the first slot, the second-highest, the second slot, and so on, but the highest bidder pays the price bid by the second-highest bidder, and the second-highest pays the price bid by the third-highest, and so on.

The highest bidder is declared the bid winner, but they will pay the price bid of the second-highest bidder.

How the Generalized second-price auction business model makes money?
The bid winner pays a commission to the auction house.

Companies that use Generalized second-price auction business model:

- eBay

GIFT CARD BUSINESS MODEL

How the Gift Card business model works?
A gift card is a prepaid debit card that contains a specific amount of money that can be spent on purchases or other financial transactions. A gift card can be open-loop or closed-loop. An open-loop card can be used anywhere the card brand is accepted, while a closed-loop card can only be used in specific merchant stores.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Gift cards are usually preloaded with some measure of money that a user can spend. The card works via a collaboration between a guarantor, a bank, and a processor working together to ensure a smooth exchange. The recipient considers it as free cash, while the store considers it as income.

How the Gift Card business model makes money?
Many Open-loop card issuers charge a small fee to cover the production costs and processing fees.

The business earns extra marginal revenue from a gift cardholder who spends above the balance on the card.

Companies that use Gift Card business model:

- Walmart gift card
- Amazon gift card
- eBay gift card

GROUP BUYING

How the Group Buying business model works?
The Group Buying Business Model works by offering products or services at a massive discount (usually over 50%) with a trigger of a minimum number of buyers.

The model is based on the idea of utilizing the power of

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

buying in bulk to promote benefits for both the vendor and the customers. For customers is a great way to get discounts to buy cheap and for vendors it's a great way to attract new customers.

Also known as collective buying.

How the Group Buying business model makes money?
The Group Buying Business Model makes money by charging a commission (between 20% to 50%) of the sale.

Companies that use Group Buying business model:

- Groupon
- Living Social
- Crowd Savings
- Peixe Urbano
- Gilt City

HIRE & LEASING

How the Hire & leasing business model works?
The hiring and business model sells continuous access to a product or service, and allows customers to pay periodically for time-limited use of the product without the customer owning the product. The hiring and leasing company takes care of all costs associated with ownership of the product, such as insurance and maintenance costs.

Both Hiring and Leasing does not require the customer to own the asset before using the asset, but they are not the same.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Hiring means an asset can be used by a party who is required to pay equal monthly installments, while leasing is an agreement where a party uses an asset and pays consideration over a specified period.

In hiring, the hirer makes an advance payment in addition to periodical installment payments.

In leasing, the lessee pays rentals at predetermined intervals.

How the Hire & leasing business model makes money?
The hirer or lessee makes regular payments to the owner of the asset, which is the major source of revenue for the asset owner.

Companies that use Hire & leasing business model:

- Sixt Rent a Car
- Triton International
- United Rentals

HONOR SYSTEM

How the Honor System business model works?
The Honor System business model works by running a business based on trust, honor, and honesty of its customers.

There are numerous cases of businesses, from big retail chains to small restaurants, that allow customers to serve and pay themselves for products or services consumed.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the Honor System business model makes money?

The honor system makes money like any other business, charging for its services or products. But the difference is that by trusting and empowering customers, business can operate with less staff thus resulting in lower operational costs.

Companies that use Honor System business model:

- Home Depot
- Swanton Berry
- Loomio

IN-APP PURCHASES

How the In-app purchases business model works?

In-app purchases refer to the buying and selling of goods and services within an application on a device.

Developers can provide their apps for free and then advertises upgrades to paid version with more features, paid feature unlocks, special features and items for sale, and other apps, products, and services for sale. Users can choose to pay for any of the features, products or services.

How the In-app purchases business model makes money?

The in-app purchase business model makes money through the sales of virtual and physical products and services.

They also generate revenue from advertising other products, services, and businesses.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies that use In-app purchases business model:

- Clash of Clans
- Candy Crush Saga
- Game of War

INTERMEDIATION

How the Intermediation business model works?
Intermediation refers to the process of connecting surplus units (lenders with funds) to deficit units (debtors in need of funds).

Sums of money are transferred from economic players with surplus funds (lenders) to economic players in need of funds (borrowers) to utilize for economic purposes.

How the Intermediation business model makes money?
The lender obtains a return on the funds, while the borrower receives a return for taking risks on an economic venture. The bank that made the successful match receives a return as well.

Companies that use Intermediation business model:

- Manulife Financial Corporation
- Multiplan
- Great-West Lifeco

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

JAPANESE AUCTION

How the Japanese auction business model works?
A Japanese auction is an auction where the opening bid price is increased incrementally until there is only one bidder left in the “arena” who is then declared the winner.

An initial bid price is stated, which is usually the seller’s reserve price. The bidders then enter the auction arena. The price continues to increase incrementally, causing bidders to exit the arena. When only one bidder is left in the arena, the auction ends and the bidder is declared the winner.

How the Japanese auction business model makes money?
Revenue is earned from sales commission paid by buyers. Auction houses charge a commission on each sale that takes place.

Companies that use Japanese auction business model:

- Sotheby's
- Christie's
- Phillips

LANDLORD MODEL

How the Landlord Model business model works?
A landlord business model entails an entity (landlord) who sells the temporary use of assets to another entity (tenant). This is very common with physical assets like houses.

The landlord sells temporary usage of the asset to the tenant. The tenant pays a fee at agreed regular intervals.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the Landlord Model business model makes money?
The landlord generates revenue from the regular fee paid by the tenant.

Companies that use Landlord Model business model:

- Wells Fargo
- Prudential Insurance
- Enterprise Rent-a-Car

LEAD GENERATION

How the Lead Generation business model works?
Lead Generation Business Model works by making contacts (qualified leads) which may have interest into products or services of a business.

Lead Generation business have leveraged technology and the internet to attract web users by offering services, such as price comparison and reviews, and turn them into sales opportunities for other businesses.

How the Lead Generation business model makes money?
Lead Generation businesses makes money by charging a fixed price for each lead generated. Although not usual, some lead generation business may charge a percentage of the sales.

Companies that use Lead Generation business model:

- Price Grabber

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Lending Tree
- Zillow
- Net Quote
- Home Advisor
- Price Watch
- Smart Prix

LENDING CLUB

How the Lending Club business model works?
The lending club business model is a peer-to-peer community that brings together creditworthy borrowers and savvy investors.

Potential borrowers are screened, and then the investors make the final decision whether to lend the money out or not. A set of data curated by the club is used to help investors reach a decision. Once the loan amount is approved, it reaches the borrower's account in about one week.

How the Lending Club business model makes money?
They generate revenue through origination fees paid by borrowers, and service fees paid by investors.

Companies that use Lending Club business model:

- Lending Club
- Ampla

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- SoFi

LICENSING

How the Licensing business model works?

The Licensing Business Model works by giving permission to use copyrighted materials under intellectual property laws and can have several components such as term, territory and renewal.

The licensor may grant the right of use to a licensee who can be a final user or a business that may produce, distribute and market products or services based on the licensed work.

This is a very common business model for software, trademark, brand, artworks and characters, and (patented) inventions.

How the Licensing business model makes money?

The licensing business model works by charging a fixed fee based on the number of users or a royalty (percentage) based on the use of the copyrighted material.

Companies that use Licensing business model:

- Microsoft
- Disney
- Calvin Klein

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

LITIGATION CROWDFUNDING

How the Litigation Crowdfunding business model works?
Litigation crowdfunding refers to the process of a claimant raising funds from a third party (the crowd) to finance relatively high-value lawsuits in exchange for payouts upon success or settlement of the case.

A claimant seeking funds to pursue a claim creates a campaign on a crowdfunding platform of their choice. A group of individuals contributes to raising a fighting fund for the claimant to cover their legal costs. If the claimant wins or there is a successful settlement, the investors get a return on the funds they contributed.

How the Litigation Crowdfunding business model makes money?
The plaintiff gets awarded a claim by the law court if they win, or if there is a settlement. The investors get returns on their invested funds.

Companies that use Litigation Crowdfunding business model:

- AxiaFunder
- CrowdJustice
- LexShares

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

LOAN SHARKING

How the Loan Sharking business model works?
A loan shark is an individual or company that lends money at an interest rate that exceeds the allowed legal limit. They operate outside the law.

Loan sharks give out quick loans to lenders, often without much paperwork to state the terms. They lend out money with the intention of gaining large interests in a very short time. They often do not require background checks or credit reports. They sometimes charge as high as 100% interest to be paid back within a 30-day period, and use violence and threats as a means of forcing repayment.

How the Loan Sharking business model makes money?
Their major source of revenue is from the high-interest rates on the loans they give their customers.

Companies that use Loan Sharking business model:

- CreditHall
- LionCash
- iCredit

LONG TAIL

How the Long Tail business model works?
Long Tail business model works by selling many unique products in small quantities with eventual sales of few popular products in large quantities.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

The name is given due to the characteristic curve of the power law graphic and has gained popularity with Chris Anderson book entitled The Long Tail released in 2004.

The whole argument of the success of long tail is that ”products that are in low demand or have low sales volume can collectively make up a market share that rivals or exceeds the relatively few current bestsellers and blockbusters, but only if the store or distribution channel is large enough.”
The model has close relation to other two business models: marketplaces/platforms and crowdsourcing.

How the Long Tail business model makes money?

The Long Tail Business Model Makes money by selling low quantities of many different products. As those low selling products are usually very specific and unique, they have higher margins.

Companies that use Long Tail business model:

- Lulu.com
- Myspace
- iTunes

LOW-COST

How the Low-cost business model works?

Low cost is a business practice where businesses offer lower their products and services at lower costs in order to attract high demand and increase their market share.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Low-cost businesses target price-sensitive customers and offer them lower costs than their competitors. Such businesses often provide simplified products or services with better asset utilization and efficient process. Their pricing strategy is possible due to high efficiency, economies of scale, and low-priced raw materials.

How the Low-cost business model makes money?
Low-cost businesses' lean cost structure helps them to realize higher margins on their products and services than other companies. The sales of their goods and services are their major source of revenue.

Companies that use Low-cost business model:

- Ikea
- McDonald's
- Primark

LOW-COST CARRIER

How the Low-cost Carrier business model works?
A Low-cost carrier is an airline that operates without offering traditional services that are usually offered as part of the fare, thereby offering lower fares.

Low-Cost carrier businesses typically maintain lower operating costs than other airlines. This enables them to offer low ticket prices to passengers. They do not provide food or drinks during the flight instead, these are paid for by passengers. And they offer less comfort.

How the Low-cost Carrier business model makes money?
Low-cost carrier generates revenue from the sale of ancillary

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited services, such as extra luggage, food, or insurance.

They also make money from the sale of their low-cost tickets.

Companies that use Low-cost Carrier business model:

- Ryanair
- Southwest Airlines
- EasyJet

LOYALTY

How the Loyalty business model works?

They Loyalty Program Business model works by encouraging customer expenditure at certain businesses in exchange for rewards. The amount spent by customers is exchanged by reward points (a virtual currency) which after accumulated to a certain amount can be exchanged by goods or services.

This system is also known as ’earn and burn model’ - which means get points for an activity (fly, buy, etc.) then redeem those points for free stuff.

It was first conceived as a marketing strategy for businesses (retail businesses first started it using punch card loyalty programs) but became very popular among airline companies. Some of those loyalty programs became so big that they turn into independent businesses and started offering their programs to a wide range of companies.

How the Loyalty business model makes money?

The Loyalty Program Business Model makes money by selling their points to other institutions, usually affiliated credit card

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

issuers.

These partners purchase billions of dollars worth of points each year, giving them away to incentivize consumer loyalty. The loyalty operator effectively then buys back the points when consumers redeem, making money by arbitraging spoilage and inflation through restricted award availability.

Making redemptions more expensive, earnings more difficult and issuing an expiring date to points helps this model be more profitable - but also less interesting to customers.

Companies that use Loyalty business model:

- CadStar
- Points
- Aimia
- Nectar
- See You
- China Reward
- Lyoness

MADE TO ORDER

How the Made to Order business model works?

The Made to Order Business Model works by selling products that are only manufactured only after an order is processed. Once the order payment is confirmed, the vendor starts to fulfill it.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

This changes not only production planning and control but also the entire supply chain, minimizing losses. Made to Order processes allow mass production products, but not necessarily. Most mode to order businesses are based on the assembly of standard components and allow limited customisation.

Also known as built to order.

How the Made to Order business model makes money?

Made to order business model makes money by charging for products that are produced only after payment confirmation. This process avoids unsold inventory and large working capital.

Companies that use Made to Order business model:

- Apple
- Dell

MAFIA

How the Mafia business model works?

The Mafia refers to organized crime groups. It is sometimes used to refer to groups without any connection to crime.

Mafia groups usually have a hierarchy, where higher-ranking members make decisions that trickle down to other members. It could be an alliance of groups or families that have, at times, fought each other in bitter, bloody gang wars or at other times cooperated in the interest of greater profits.

The head of each mafia group is known as the boss or don. Most of the money flows to the don. The second in command to the Don is the under-boss, who wields varying amounts of power.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the Mafia business model makes money?
The mafia has developed the strength to undertake ventures other members of the polite public avoid, such as waste management/Garbage Hauling.

They also engage in other legitimate businesses, which are often used as a font to perpetrate money laundering.

They also make money from illegal activities like prostitution, illegal gambling, illegal dug, etc.

Companies that use Mafia business model:

- Gambling
- Pornography

MARKETPLACE

How the Marketplace business model works?
A marketplace is a platform that facilitates trade between buyers and sellers.

Marketplace typically connects buyers and sellers on a proprietary and centralized platform. Oftentimes, the marketplace does not own any inventory. They allow a large number of fragmented buyers and sellers to discover and interact with one another in an efficient and transparent manner.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the Marketplace business model makes money?
The marketplace business model generates revenue by charging commissions from the sellers who list their products on the marketplace platform.

Sellers could be required to pay a fee for accessing some premium services on the marketplace platform, like featuring the seller at the top of the list or providing personalized recommendations to the buyers.

Sellers may be required to pay a listing fee on some platforms. Some marketplace also charges subscriptions to access their platforms.

Companies that use Marketplace Business Model:

- Amazon
- eBay
- Craigslist

MASS-CUSTOMIZATION

How the Mass-Customization business model works?
The Mass Customization Business Model works by allowing customers to customize and buy products based on its taste or preferences at a reasonable price and speed.

It's a business model allowed using computer-aided robotics systems and advanced user interface to produce custom output.

Those systems combine the low unit costs and speed of mass production processes with the flexibility of individual

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited customization.

How the Mass-Customization business model makes money?

The mass customization business model makes money by charging similar prices of mass production companies but with the differentiation of a products that meet individual customers needs. The model avoids unsold inventory which results in greater overall profitability.

Companies that use Mass-Customization business model:

- My Customizer

MERCHANT MODEL

How the Merchant Model works?

A merchant model refers to the selling of goods and services to customers via a virtual platform.

The merchant acts as a middleman, connecting manufacturers to buyers through their online platform. They are often retailers or wholesalers who buy goods in bulk from the manufacturer, store them, and sell them to consumers who order for them via online platforms.

How the Merchant Model makes money?

They generate most of their revenue from the margin placed on goods sold to customers.

Companies that use Merchant Model:

- Apple iTunes
- Amazon

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Alibaba

METERING

How the Metering business model works?

Metering business model works by charging customers by the amount of service used. The measuring units may vary accordingly to type of service provided and can range from hours to cubic volume. It's a very common model between public utilities, taxi cabs, consulting services, etc.

It's a straightforward business model very well known in B2C and B2B segments.

How the Metering business model makes money?

The Metering business model makes money by charging more than the cost to deliver the service units.

Companies that use Metering business model:

- Uber
- Car2Go
- TXU

MICRO CREDIT

How the Micro Credit business model works?

Microcredit is a very small loan given to poor borrowers who typically do not have a steady source of income, collateral, or credit history.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Microcredit is used to support impoverished borrowers to start or sustain a small business. They typically do not include any written agreements. As borrowers successfully pay off their microcredits, they may become eligible for larger loan amounts.

How the Micro Credit business model makes money?
Since they serve the poorest in society, they occasionally get money from donors and government agencies.

They also generate revenue from interest accruing to loans they give to customers. They render financial services which they might charge a fee for.

Companies that use Micro Credit business model:

- Grameen Bank
- CDC Small Business Finance Corp.
- Kiva

MICRO LOAN

How the Micro Loan Business Model works?
Microloans are small loan amounts of money typically used to help small businesses grow and offered a t low interest. In the U.S., the available amount for this loan type usually goes up to $50,000, They are one of the components of micro-financing.

Microloans are given to people or small businesses that may not qualify for loans in traditional institutions like banks, though they work like traditional term lending.

A microloan provides an amount of money for the browser,

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited which then pays back with interest via regular payments over an agreed period of time. Depending on the lender, micro-loans can offer competitive interest rates or even interest-free loans.

How the Micro Loan Business Model makes money?
They generate revenue via the interest paid on loans by their borrowers. They also get funded through donors and government support.

Companies that use Micro Loan Business Model:

- Grameen bank
- Accion Opportunity Fund
- USDA FSA Microloans

MICROFINANCE

How the Microfinance business model works?
The Microfinance Business Model works by providing an alternative source of financial services, such as loans and savings, for low-income individuals and those who do not have access to traditional banking and related services.

There financial services usually involve small amounts of money and can be offered through different models, including associations, community banking, cooperatives and peer pressure.

How the Microfinance business model makes money?
Microfinance Business Model makes money by charging their lenders interests on loans. While these interest rates are generally lower than those offered by normal banks, depending on how low the loan is it might be more expensive

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

as some institutions may charge a fixed fee for transaction costs.

Although focused on the poor, microfinance businesses rate of payment default for loans is surprisingly low - more than 90% of loans are repaid.

Companies that use Microfinance business model:

- Grameen Bank
- Kiva
- BanKO

MICROFRANCHISING

How the Microfranchising business model works?

The Microfranchising Business Model works by applying the fundamentals of traditional franchising to home-based businesses.

Microfranchises have low startup cost and can be afforded and run by individuals with low income or savings. It's a very common type of franchising in the developing world but also between staying-at-home moms.

As at the franchising model, micro franchising has also two players: the franchisee and the franchisor.

For the franchisee it's a safer way to start and operate your own business (hit the ground running) as they will be able to open identical business of a proven brand and business model.

For the franchisor, the model is a great growth and

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited distribution strategy without high investments / disbursement.

How the Microfranchising business model makes money?
Microfranchising business model makes money with a simpler format than traditional franchising. With an affordable low initial fee for the franchise rights (and training) and a low fixed monthly fee. There are no variable fees based on sales.

Companies that use Microfranchising business model:

- CFW Clinics
- Nauru Energy
- Grameen Phone
- Living Goods

MONOPOLISTIC BUSINESS MODEL

How the Monopolistic business model works?
A monopolistic business model is one in which one company exists in a market with little or no competition, and thus can control prices and output.

A monopolistic business can change the supply and prices of goods in order to maximize profit for itself. They often ensure the barrier to entry is high to discourage other businesses from trying to get into the market. Since there is only one supplier, there are usually few or no substitutes for the goods or services.

How the Monopolistic business model makes money?
The monopolistic business model maximizes its profits by producing goods to the point where its marginal revenues equal its marginal costs.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies that use Monopolistic business model:

- Standard Oil
- De Beers Group
- Luxottica

MULTI BUSINESS MODEL

How the Multi business model works?
A Multi Business Model combines and integrates various business models and adapts them to their business to deliver better value and experience to their customers.

Many companies are creating platforms that can be used to serve different purposes. This often requires operating with a Multi Business Model, which is sometimes called Business Model Portfolio. They typically used a portfolio of business models to create, and capture values.

How the Multi business model makes money?
Multi-business model companies typically make money through competitive pricing and cost reduction on their goods and services.

Companies that use Multi business model:

- Amazon: offers eCommerce, marketplace, etc.;
- Grab: offers transport, food, delivery, hotels, tickets, insurance, financial services, etc.;
- Microsoft: offers devices, software, etc.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

MULTI-LEVEL MARKETING

How the Multi-level Marketing business model works?

The Multi-Level Marketing Business Model works by selling through a sales system in which sellers are compensated by the sales they generate and by the sales of other sellers that they recruit.

It's a business model that leverages the power of network effects, but it's also seems as a scam because of its association with pyramid schemes.

How the Multi-level Marketing business model makes money?

The Multi-Level Marketing Business Model makes money by selling high margin products through a salesforce that are formed by its own sellers and their recruiting efforts and does not represent fixed costs (only commissions are paid, no salaries or other benefits).

Companies that use Multi-level Marketing business model:

- Amway
- Mary Kay
- Avon
- Herbalife
- Forever Living Products

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

MULTISIDED OR TWO-SIDED

How the Multisided business model works?

Multi-sided business model works by offering value to two distinct customer groups that provided each other mutual benefits. The company that adapts such model creates value by enabling interaction between the two customer groups.

Although this model has gained popularity with online platforms, it has been around for quite a while and it's a pretty common one. Businesses that use this model include credit cards (cardholders and merchants) and yellow pages (advertisers and consumers/readers).

How the Multisided business model makes money?

The Multi-sided business model usually makes money by charging a fixed or variable fee from one of the groups or from both groups based on the sale price.

Companies that use Multisided business model:

- Google
- Airbnb
- Craigslist
- Sony PS3

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

MULTIUNIT AUCTION

How the Multiunit auction business model works?
A Multi-unit auction is an auction where multiple units of homogeneous goods are available for sale.

In some multiunit auctions, bidders are allowed to place bids for only one item, while in others, bidders are allowed to bid for any quantity of their choice.

How the Multiunit auction business model makes money?
Revenue is earned from sales commission paid by buyers. Auction houses charge a commission on each sale that takes place.

Companies that use Multiunit auction business model:

- Christie's
- Sotheby's
- Phillips

MUSIC STREAMING

How the Music Streaming business model works?
Music streaming refers to a method of delivering audio content to a device directly without the need to download the files from the internet to your device.

A streaming service sends music data to a streamer's device in small data packets to deliver pre-buffed music to the user. The music could be pre-buffed for a few seconds or minutes before playing on the user's device. The music will continue playing as long as a steady stream of packets is delivered to your device.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the Music Streaming business model makes money?
Music streaming companies often require subscriptions to access the platform or access premium features. They also generate revenues via advertisements run on their platform.

Companies that use Music Streaming Business Model:

- Spotify
- Pandora
- Apple Music

NAME YOUR OWN PRICE

How the Name Your Own Price business model works?
Name Your Own Price (NYOP) is a business model where buyers suggest a price for a product or service, and the transaction takes place if the seller accepts the buyer's price.

Sellers often have a price threshold over which they will accept the bid of a buyer. The threshold price is often not visible to the buyer. If the price offered by the buyer equals or is greater than the threshold price, the transaction takes place, but if it is less than the threshold price, the buyer can update their bid.

How the Name Your Own Price business model makes money?
Sellers generate revenue from the sales of goods and services.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies that use Name Your Own Price business model:

- Garmentory
- Priceline
- Bonvoy Adventure Travel

NETWORK EFFECT

How the Network Effects business model works?

The Network Effect Business Model works by offering products or services in which the value to its customers is directly dependent on the number of other customers already using it. In other words, the value of the business increases exponentially as more users adopt it.

This was first seen with the telephone industry as the more people who owned telephones the more valuable having a telephone became to each owner. But this was again seen in the dot com era such social networks as businesses like Facebook and messaging apps like WhatsApp.

How the Network Effects business model makes money?

Network Effect Business Model can make money in numerous ways. The more common ones are subscriptions and intermediation fees.

Companies that use Network Effects business model:

- Facebook
- WhatsApp
- Microsoft Windows

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

NO FRILLS MODEL (DISCOUNT OR BUDGET MODEL)

How the No Frills business model works?

The No Frills Business Model works by offering low cost products or services without non-essential features. Any item or feature that is an addition to the core-business is removed in order to lower the price to is minimum.

it's a very common business model in the airline industry. Low-cost airlines offer low fares without any non-essential services and may charge for food, airport check-in, luggage check-in, credit card processing, date change fee, priority boarding, more legroom and even wheelchairs use. This strategy is also called fare unbundling.

Also called Low Cost business model (or discount business model or budget business model).

How the No Frills business model makes money?

No Frills companies makes money by charging additional fees to non- essential services or products and creating additional sources of revenue such as advertising space, duty free shopping, travel insurance, train tickets, etc.

Companies that use No Frills business model:

- Pure Talk
- Ryanair
- Food Basic
- Tata Motors

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

OMNI CHANNEL

How the Omni Channel business model works?
Omnichannel is an approach in which a company provides their customers access to their goods, services, and support on all channels like mobile devices or desktops, via telephone, or in a brick-and-mortar store

Omnichannel ensures a seamless customer experience irrespective of the channel via which they choose to use the business. An example is a customer receiving an SMS message about a sales promotion while shopping in-store. The Omnichannel model comes down to the degree of the integration between the channels and platforms being used by the business.

How the Omni Channel business model makes money?
The Omnichannel model ensures that businesses meet customer demands and expectations, and customers find it easier to make a purchase if they can seamlessly access a company's goods and services via all channels. This increases sales and revenue for the business.

Companies that use Omni Channel Business Model:

- Disney
- Virgin Atlantic
- Bank of America

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

ON DEMAND WORKFORCE BUSINESS MODEL

How the On Demand Workforce Business Model works?
The on-demand workforce model is a model wherein workers are hired on-demand when needed. Such workers could be freelancers, contractors, etc.

Companies simply hire from a pool of available workers with the requisite skills to handle the job that needs to be done. The business spends less on permanent employees and still meets demand by quickly contracting qualified workers when demand rises.

How the On Demand Workforce Business Model makes money?
The on-demand worker gets paid for the work they do, while the business saves cost on staffing as they only pay per task completed.

Companies that use On Demand Workforce Business Model:

- Upshift
- Amazon Mechanical Turk
- 99designs

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

ONE DEAL A DAY

How the One Deal a Day business model works?
One deal a day model is a model in which a product is offered for sale at a discount for a period of 24 hours.

When a company offers a product at a discounted price on the One deal a day model, that product is only available at that price for only a 24-hour period. Typically, the discounted products are changed daily.

How the One Deal a Day business model makes money?
The source of revenue is majorly from product and service sales.

One deal a day businesses also offer a special listing service on their site where goods and services are placed in a prominent position on their site to catch customers' attention quickly. They charge a listing fee for this.

Other businesses may advertise on one deal a day platform for which they pay advert fees.

Companies that use One Deal a Day business model:

- Woot
- Whiskey Militia
- 1 Sale A Day

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

ONLINE BUSINESS MODELS (E-BUSINESS MODEL)

How the Online business models works?
The online business model refers to businesses conducted via the internet to become profitable.

There are numerous types of online businesses, and they work in different ways. They entail the sale of information products, physical products, or services. Typically, customers place an order for a product or service of their choice, and the online business delivers it to them via the customer's preferred channel.

How the Online business models makes money?
Online businesses generate revenues through the sales of products and services. They also raise money through other means, like commissions and subscriptions.

Companies that use Online business model:

- Amazon
- Alibaba
- eBay

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

ONLINE MARKETPLACE BUSINESS MODEL

How the Online marketplace business model works?
An online marketplace business is an internet-based market platform that connects buyers and sellers.

An online marketplace acts as an online middleman to facilitate trade between buyers and sellers through their online platform. Buyers are able to get a great number of product options to purchase, while sellers have a variety of customers to sell to.

How the Online marketplace business model makes money?
Online marketplace charge sellers commission on products sold on the platform. They also generate revenues for adverts placed on the marketplace, Product listing fees, Sign-up fees, and subscriptions.

Companies that use Online marketplace business model:

- Amazon
- Alibaba
- eBay

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

ONLINE2OFFLINE COMMERCE

How the Online2Offline business model works?

O2O companies use the online world to find and bring customers to offline (real-world) companies. It works by attracting online users by offering values such as deals, reservations, recommendations, etc. and turning those online users in real world sales leads (foot traffic) or customers to merchants.

This is the case for group buying companies such as Groupon and lead generation companies such as Open Table. Differently from web directories, O2O companies close the loop by offering quantification of performance and close loop with payments or reservations.

Just like e-commerce websites that sell online products which gets shipped by mail to your door, O2O commerce helps you buy online experiences, which cannot be delivered by mail, but can be delivered by local merchants.

O2O is all about discovery, payment, and performance measurement to offline commerce.

How the Online2Offline business model makes money?

The O2O business model makes money by charging a commission fee who can be a fixed price or a variable one based on the sale.

Companies that use Online2Offline business model:

- Groupon
- Open Table

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Spa Finder
- Booking

OPEN

How the Open business model works?

Open Business Models works by generating their value offer entirely from external contributors such as partners and customers sharing risks and rewards.

The idea is similar to the open innovation concept in which companies can benefit from the worldwide distributed knowledge without expending high amounts on salaries, reducing fixed costs and risks.

The open business models can be a business in itself or be adopted by companies which have strong R&D investments.

How the Open business model makes money?

The open business model makes money charging a monthly fee and/or a percentage of the royalties from the sales of the innovative products or services created.

Companies that use Open business model:

- Qualcomm
- Genzyme
- Procter & Gamble q Innocentive
- Patients Like Me

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

OPEN INNOVATION

How the Open Innovation business model works?
Open innovation is the method of promoting collaboration with talents and organizations outside a company.

The model refers to the collaborative networking and sharing of knowledge and information about problems and looking for outside talent to share solutions and suggestions.
It often takes the shape of partnerships and collaborations with drawn-out terms and conditions.

However, this model does not imply free access to a company's knowledge and technology.

How the Open Innovation business model makes money?
The open innovation model helps companies to create new revenue streams without compromising their core business.

Businesses also profit from the wealth of ideas borne out of open innovation, which could result in higher production efficiencies.

Companies that use Open Innovation business model:

- Ford, United Auto Workers, 3M, and GE Healthcare have combined forces to build ventilators using F-150 seat fans, 3D printed parts, and portable battery packs;
- The Samsung Accelerator program;
- Delphi and Mobileye working on autonomous driving systems

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

OPEN-SOURCE

How the Open-Source business model works?

The open source business model works by offering a product license for free with optional paid professional services, maintenance and support to the same free open source products.

As open source products are offered through universal access via a free license to the product's design or blueprint, there's no revenue from license sales. This is also known as Professional Open Source.

A good example is WordPress, an open source platform that can be downloaded and used for free through wordpress.org website. But if you want to host your WordPress blog or install premium plugins you can do it a wordpress.com for a monthly fee.

How the Open-Source business model makes money?

The Open Source Business model makes money by offering paid professional services, maintenance and support to open source products.

Companies that use Open-Source business model:

- WordPress.com
- Open Stack
- Mozilla

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

OTT

How the OTT business model works?
OTT (Over The Top) refers to the delivery of television, film and other media content through the internet rather than through a traditional cable/broadcast provider.

OTT delivers media content through internet connection with varying degrees of bandwidth and reliability. OTT systems are designed to minimize the impact of these varying parameters. The system adapts itself to deliver real time content without the usual pauses from the buffering process.

How the OTT business model makes money?
OTT businesses make money through subscription fees paid by customers to access their platform. They also generate revenues through adverts on their platform.

Companies that use OTT business model:

- Netflix
- Amazon Prime Video
- Hulu

OUTSOURCE MODEL

How the Outsource business model works?
The Outsourcing Business Model works by offering outsourced services to other businesses. Services are usually business processes that are not part of the core business of their customers.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Outsourcing can help firms mitigate shortage of skill or expertise in areas where are not specialized. This way firms can focus and perform better in their core competencies.

Outsourcing is also a way of reducing fixed costs. Because relationship with outsourcing companies work on contractual agreement, it offers greater budget flexibility and control as it allows organizations pay for only the services they need, when they need them.

The advance of internet-based services created a whole new spectrum of outsourcing companies (called digital outsourcing), allowing businesses run virtually from anywhere.

How the Outsource business model makes money?

The outsourcing business model works by charging monthly or hourly fees. Some may also charge some kind of performance-based reward.

Companies that use Outsource business model:

- Capgemini q ISS
- Sodexo
- IBM
- Accenture

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

P2P

How the P2P business model works?

The P2P business model works by allowing individuals to connect directly to one another and exchange products and services.

Businesses offer a matchmaking system which can be an automatic (algorithm based) or a manual search (and directory) system in which customers can find, hire and purchase what they are looking for.

P2P is a very broad term which was popularized by the file sharing system Napster, originally released in 1999. The peer-to-peer movement allowed millions of Internet users to connect "directly, forming groups and collaborating to become user-created search engines, virtual supercomputers, and filesystems.

It has originated a great number of different businesses models out there with different names such as platforms or marketplaces. Although a p2p network is designed around the notion of equal peer nodes who simultaneously function as both "clients" and "servers" to the other nodes on the network. In the business world seller and customers are different groups and do not need to simultaneously function with both wholes.

The term has also been distorted from as P2P business model usually work with an intermediary promoting connection, controlling quality and charging for it.

How the P2P business model makes money?

The P2P business model works by charging a commission-based fee based on the amount of the sale.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Some business may also charge for listing services or products, or advertisement display.

Companies that use P2P business model:

- Drivy
- Lyft
- Zopa
- Match

PAWN SHOP

How the Pawn Shop business model works?

The Pawn Shop Model works by offering loans to people, secured with items of personal property (e.g. jewelry, electronics, collectibles, etc.) used as collateral, which then becomes a secured debt owed to the pawn shop.

The pawn shop analyzes the personal property offered as collateral to valuate marketability, flaws, damages and originality. The pawnshop owner either turns down hard-to-sell items or offers a low price. The customer can either sell the item outright if (as in most cases) the pawnbroker is also a licensed second-hand dealer or offer the item as collateral on a loan.

If an item is pawned for a loan within a certain contractual period, the pawner may redeem it for the amount of the loan plus some agreed-upon amount for interest. The amount of time, and rate of interest, is governed by law or by the pawnbroker's policies. If the loan is not paid (or extended, if applicable) within the time period, the pawned item will be offered for sale by the pawnbroker.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the Pawn Shop business model makes money?

The Pawn Shop makes money with interest rates or reselling items for a higher price.

Companies that use Pawn Shop business model:

- Borro
- Gold and Silver Pawn Shop
- Family Pawn
- Benny's Pawn
- Welsh Pawn
- A-ok Center

PAY PER CLICK

How the Pay per Click business model works?

The Pay-per-click Business Model works by offering direct traffic to websites in exchange of a predefined amount (or bid) for each advertisement clicked.

It's definitely the most famous internet advertisement business model nowadays, used by the biggest search engine players (Google, Microsoft, Yahoo, etc.) and the biggest affiliate (Rakuten, ClickBank, Share a Sale, etc.).

How the Pay per Click business model makes money?

There are two ways of making money: flat-rate PPC where advertisers and publishers agree upon a fixed price for each click and bid-based PPC where advertisers compete for clicks determining the maximum amount paid for an ad spot (and consequently click) and the maximum expenditure for the same of clicks in a day or month.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies that use Pay per Click business model:

- Google Adwords
- Microsoft Bing
- Rakuten
- ClickBank
- Share a Sale

PAY PER PERFORMANCE (PAY PER RESULT)

How the Pay per performance business model works?

The Pay-Per-Performance Business Model works by charging its customers based on performance delivered that can be objectively measured.

Very common in the online advertisement and affiliate marketing industry, the performance- based business model can have many different forms depending the unit of measure chosen. The common point between them all is that advertisers and publishers share the risk of a visitor that does not convert.

The most famous model is the pay-per-click (PPC) which can have a flat-rate or bid-based pricing. But there are many other forms, such as:

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- pay-per-lead
- pay-per-call
- pay-per-install
- pay-per-impression
- pay-per-conversion
- pay-per-acquisition
- pay-per-sale

How the Pay per performance business model makes money?

Pay-per-performance has many ways of making money, but the most common are percentage or commission, flat-rate or bid-based.

Companies that use Pay per performance business model:

- Google AdWords
- Fahrenheit212
- Priorité Comunicação
- PBSRG

PAY-WHAT-YOU-WANT (PWYW)

How the Pay-what-you-want business model works?

The Pay What You Want Business Model Works by allowing customers pay what they want for the goods or services provided. The model does not depend on deciding the price and give full freedom to customer pay what they feel the product or service is worth to them.

Some businesses may set a minimum (floor) price or suggest

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

a pricing as a guidance to the customer.

Also known as Pay What You Can (PWYC).

How the Pay-what-you-want business model makes money?

In order to pay what you want business model make money customers need to pay more than the cost to deliver the product or service. There are numerous cases in the internet proving that this is much more common than people think and if you are afraid you may set up a minimum price accepted.

Companies that use Pay-what-you-want business model:

- RadioHead
- IndieVox
- OpenBooks
- Panera Bread
- Zest Business Consulting

PAY-AS-YOU-GO MODEL (PAYG)

How the Pay-as-you-go model business model works?

The Pay as You Go Business Model works by offering services that are charged on its metered usage. Customers pay a predefined price based on what they consume.

Also know as metering, this business model is used from taxi cabs to website hosting services.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the Pay-as-you-go model business model makes money?

The pay as you go business model makes money by charging more than the cost to deliver the service units.

Companies that use Pay-as-you-go model business model:

- Psonar
- Amazon AWS
- ZiferBlat
- Car2Go

PAY-PER-USE MODEL (PPU)

How the PPU business model works?

This is the same of pay as you go (or metered) business model.

The Pay-Per-Use business model works by charging the customer based on the service usage. It's the model used by municipal water service.

How the PPU business model makes money?

In the pay-per-use model, the owner of the product or service lie with the company itself, and the customer pays a fee for usage on demand.

Companies that use PPU business model:

- Amazon Web Services

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Electric Utilities like Con Edison
- Heidelberger Druckmaschinen AG
- Kaeser Kompressoren
- Qure.ai
- Sigtuple
- Stasis Monitors
- Zebra Medical Imaging
- Philips PACS
- Microsoft Azure

PAYMENT GATEWAY (OR PAYMENT INTERMEDIARIES)

How the Payment Gateway business model works?

The Payment Gateway Business Model works as an intermediary between online merchants and banks to process customers payments.

Payment gateways are the equivalent of a physical point of sale terminal located in most retail outlets. They encrypt credit card sensitive information using SSL technology and guarantee safe transactions for both customers and merchants.

How the Payment Gateway business model makes money?

Payment Gateway Business Model works by charging a fixed

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

fee and/or a variable fee for each transaction. For example, Gumroad charges 25c + 5% for each transaction processed.

Companies that use Payment Gateway business model:

- PayPal
- Authorize.net
- Stripe
- PayU
- Zaakpay
- Gumroad

PAYWALL

How the Paywall business model works?

The Paywall business model is usually adopted by big newspapers websites and works by blocking unlimited access to its webpage (news and articles) without a paid subscription.

It's a model that has risen as a solution for the news and magazines industry that has been suffering downsides from printed sales and hard times trying to create revenue from online advertisement.

The Paywall also usually gets defined as metered paywall because it usually allows a limited number of free articles access per month. This kind of 'soft paywall' is somehow a kind of freemium.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the Paywall business model makes money?

The Paywall business model makes money by charging a subscription fee to have unlimited access to online content.

Companies that use Paywall business model:

- Time
- Financial Times
- Wall Street Journal
- New York Times

PEACE OF MIND MODEL

How the Peace of Mind business model works?

The Peace of Mind Business Model works by offering products and services that help improve the level of safety of its customers.

How the Peace of Mind business model makes money?

The peace of mind makes money by charging premium prices for products and services.

Companies that use Peace of Mind business model:

- Lojack
- Honest
- Geico

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

PEER TO PEER LENDING

How the Peer to Peer model works?
Peer to Peer lending (P2P) is the model wherein individuals obtain loans directly from individuals through a platform that matches lenders with borrowers.

Traditional middlemen like financial institutions are cut off from this transaction. A borrower fills out a loan application stating information like loan amount and purpose of the loan. A lender/investor opens an account on the platform and makes a deposit that would be available for loan disbursement. The platform assesses the borrower's application and assigns a risk category which is used to draw up terms and agreements like interest rates. Multiple investors may make an offer to the borrower. The borrower can choose an investor or decide to accept multiple offers.

The borrower gets funded and repayments are made as stated in the terms and agreement. All of these processes are handled via the P2P platform.

How the Peer to Peer model makes money?
Borrowers are able to obtain loans from alternative platforms to traditional lenders.

Investors on the Peer-to-Peer platforms earn between 2% and 6% interest on their money.

Some P2P platforms charge upfront fees for loan processing from borrowers.

P2P platforms also generate revenue by adding a small margin into the loan plus interest repayments from the borrowers.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

The P2P platform may also charge investors a percentage fee on the interest they receive.

Companies that use the P2P business model:

- Prosper Personal Loans
- Funding Circle
- LendingClub

PENETRATION PRICING

How the Penetration Pricing model works?
Penetration pricing is a model businesses use to quickly attract customers to a new product or service by offering lower prices, and below-average prices during their initial offer. After this initial offer, prices rise back to the normal rate.

The lower prices help the business to enter the market by enticing customers to try the new product or service and gain market share with the hope of retaining the new customers after the price returns to normal. They simply prioritize market share over profits for a given time period.

How the Penetration Pricing model makes money?
The penetration pricing model's offering of low price drives up sales for the business within the period of the offering.

This model can lead to an increase in the volume of sales, thereby increasing revenue.

Suppliers of a business utilizing penetration pricing may offer bulk discounts if the sales volume is high enough, thereby

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited cutting costs for the business.

Companies that use Penetration Pricing model:

- Costco used a penetration pricing model on organic foods to increase its market shares;
- Fastlane Communications LLC incorporates a new high-speed internet service to its cable television offering for the price of one during the first year after customers sign up;
- Starbucks introduces new and seasonal coffees and drinks at lower prices in order to encourage consumers to try them. Once the market accepts them, they revert to the normal price.

PENNY AUCTION (BIDDING FEE AUCTION OR ALL-PAY AUCTION)

How the Penny Auction business model works?

The Penny Auction Business Model works by offering auctions in which all participants must pay a non-refundable fee to place each small incremental bid. The auction ends after a period of time, typically ten to twenty seconds, without new bids; the last participant to have placed a bid wins the item and also pays the final bid price, which may be significantly lower than the retail price of the item.

Also know as Bidding Fee Auction or All-Pay Auction, Penny Auction sites are usually bad seem by the market because of many frauds involving this business model.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the Penny Auction business model makes money?

The Penny Auction Business Model makes money in two ways: the fees for each bid and the payment for the winning bid, totalling typically significantly more than the value of the item.

Companies that use Penny Auction business model:

- Orange Bidz
- Mad Bid
- Happy Bid Day
- Quibids

PERFORMANCE-BASED ADVERTISING

How the Performance-based advertising model works?

Performance-based marketing is results-based marketing where businesses pay based on the results of their ad campaigns instead of a fixed price. The results of their ad campaigns include ad views, sales, demo downloads, app installation, etc.

Advertisers conduct research to determine which channels and tools will produce the best results at the best price for the client's business. Advertisers then put their ads on the channel and pay based on how the ad performs. They can pay in one of the following ways:

- Cost Per Mile (CPM): The price paid per thousand

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

views or impressions;
- Cost Per Click (CPC): Amount paid based on the number of ad clicks;
- Cost Per Sales (CPS): The amount paid when an advert directly generates a sale;
- Cost Per Leads (CPL): Amount paid whenever a customer signs up for something or drops their contact info as a direct result of their advert;
- Cost Per Acquisition (CPA): The amount an advertiser pays when consumers complete a specific action, e.g., a sale or sharing their contact information.

How the Performance-based advertising model makes money?
Performance-based advertising increase sales by informing potential buyers about your goods and services.

This model helps businesses to create a public image or distinctive brand that they desire, which might appeal to their target customers and increase sales.

It could prompt specific action in customers, such as visiting the business store, or their online platform to make a purchase.

Companies that use Performance-based advertising model:

- AdQuantum
- JumpFly
- Ignite Visibility

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

PIPE

How the Pipe business model works?

The Pipe Business Model work by creating, selling and delivering products or services to customers. Value is produced upstream and consumed downstream. There is a linear flow, much like water flowing through a pipe.

The concept was created by Sangeet Choudary as a way to describe the difference between traditional old business models in comparison with platform business models.

How the Pipe business model makes money?

The Pipe Business Model charging for its sales.

You calculate all the costs of running a unit through a pipe all the way to the end consumer and you ensure that Price = Cost + Desired Margin.

Companies that use Pipe business model:

- Nestlé
- Coca-cola

PLATFORM (INTERMEDIATION OR MARKETPLACES)

How the Platform business model works?

The Platform Business Model Works by connecting buyers and sellers and enabling them to transact between each other. By allowing users to create and consume value the model becomes extremely scalable and able to benefit from network effects.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

The model may also be called Intermediation or Marketplace.

How the Platform business model makes money?

Platform Business model makes money by charging a commission (or percentage) When producers and consumers transact. One or both sides may pay the platform.

When producers create content to engage consumers (YouTube), the platform may monetize consumer attention (through advertising). In some cases, platforms may license API usage.

Platform economics isn't quite as straightforward either. At least one side is usually subsidized to participate on the platform. Producers may even be incentivized to participate.

Companies that use Platform business model:

- eBay
- Airbnb
- YouTube

POP UP STORES

How the Pop-Up Stores business model works?

The Pop-Up Store Business Model works by opening temporary, usually short-term, sales spaces instead of having a permanent location (although it can coexist with permanent stores too).

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Pop-up Stores as usually small and use a shipping container as structure. Their appearance and placement in high foot traffic sites can build up interest by consumer exposure. Pop-up retail allows freedom and flexibility to create unique environments with innovative customer experiences, generating a feeling of relevance and interactivity.

They are often used to launch new collections or sell seasonal items such as Halloween costumes and decorations, Christmas gifts and Christmas trees, or fireworks.

There are also different benefits to popups such as marketing, testing products, testing locations or markets, and as a low-cost way to start a business.

This model has been gaining a lot of new attention with the rise of Food Trucks.

How the Pop-Up Stores business model makes money?

The Pop-Up Store makes money just like any other retail business with the benefit of not having need of high upfront investments and fixed costs such as leasing and renting for retail spaces.

Companies that use Pop-Up Stores business model:

- King & Mcgaw
- Baracuta
- Reis
- eBay

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

POST PAID MODEL

How the Post-Paid Model works?
The postpaid model refers to the payment method where customers pay for goods and services only after they have been rendered, and they are charged based on their actual usage.

Some businesses using the post-paid model offer their customers the opportunity to pay for goods and services after each billing cycle, which could be a month. Some may request payment after agreed milestones have been reached.

How the Post-Paid Model makes money?
The post-paid model offers more convenience, which could attract more customers and then increase sales for the business.

Since customers are charged only for the actual usage of the service, they rest assured of being served and are more willing to make use of it in the future. This helps the business to retain customers and drive more sales.

Companies that use the Post Paid Model:

- AT&T offers postpaid plans;
- Uber accepts payment after the passenger has been delivered to their destination.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

PPP

How the PPP Model works?
The PPP (public-private partnership) model is a collaboration between the government (through any of its agencies) and a private sector organization to fund, build and operate public infrastructures.

PPP can be used to build infrastructures like the public transportation system, and power plants. It often involves concessions of tax, and part ownership rights for a limited time for the private sector. The PPP model is helpful for large projects that need a highly skilled workforce and huge financial backing to get started.

How the PPP Model makes money?
The PPP Model helps the government to raise sufficient finance to meet public infrastructure needs.

All of the workers involved in the construction of the project get paid wages for their services.

The private sector involved in the PPP project may reach an agreement with the government to operate the public infrastructure for a limited time to recoup their investments in the project.

Companies that use PPP Model:

- Delhi Metro Rail Corporation and Reliance Energy Ltd constructed the Mumbai Metro;
- Seattle and Gigabit Squared built high-speed fiber cable connections for all residents;

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- St. Louis County and Gateway Arch Park Foundation gave a facelift to the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial, better known as the Gateway Arch.

PREMIUM

How the Premium business model works?

The Premium Business Model works by offering high end products and services to brand image and quality sensitive consumers.

The business model uses premium pricing in order to encourage favorable perception and higher profit margin in a lower sales volume.

How the Premium business model makes money?

The premium business model makes money by charging very high prices in order to have higher profit margins in a low sales volume.

Companies that use Premium business model:

- Apple
- Beats
- Mercedes-Benz
- Burberry

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

PREPAID MODEL

How the Prepaid business model works?

The prepaid business model works by selling credit in advance of customers expenditure. The customer can use services or buy products up to the amount purchased in advance. Once the credit is over a new amount of credit can be purchased in order to keep using services or buy more products.

This model has been widely used by mobile phone carriers, but some businesses have adopted them, such as credit cards issuers, or turned them into independent businesses, such as gift card companies.

How the Prepaid business model makes money?

Because prepaid credit usually means less spending or reduced opportunity to profit from interest rates, in the prepaid business model companies charge a deposit fee or a higher cost per use. For example, the minute in a mobile phone carrier is more expensive in the prepaid model than in the postpaid model.

Companies that use Prepaid business model:

- MasterCard
- Gift Cards

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

PRICE DISCRIMINATION

How the Price Discrimination Model works?
The price discrimination model refers to the practice of offering different customers different prices for the same product or service. It is based on a business belief that certain categories of customers can be asked to pay more or less depending on demographics, economic status, usage, etc.

The business may identify these market segments as domestic or industrial or educational users, high net-worth customers or middle-income customers, etc.

For this model to work, consumer groups must demonstrate varying elasticities of demand, e.g., inelastic submarkets (e.g., corporate consumers) pay a higher price, while the relatively elastic submarkets (e.g., students) pay a lower price.

How the price Discrimination Model makes money?
Different consumer markets exhibit different characteristics and different price points that they are willing to pay. The price discrimination model helps businesses to capture maximum value (revenue) from the different consumer markets.

The model aims to charge consumers the maximum price they are willing to pay for a good or service. This results in increased income for the company.

Companies that use the Price Discrimination Model:

- Microsoft offers the MS Office Schools edition at lower prices than other editions;

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Cineplex charges different prices on their tickets on different days;
- Amazon Prime offers a discounted membership to low-income seniors.

PRICE SKIMMING

How the Price Skimming Model works?
The price skimming model refers to a business charging the highest initial price that the market accepts, and then gradually lowering the price over time to attract more price-sensitive customers.

This model aims to “skim” off the top market segment at the point of introducing a new product with the intent to generate the maximum profit in the shortest time possible, instead of generating maximum sales. When a company introduces a product for the first time, it is offered at an initial high price such that it is the customers with the strongest desire and capacity to pay that will purchase it. As the demand of those customers plummets, then the price is lowered to the next layer of the customer segment with the strong desire and capacity to pay.

How the Price Skimming Model makes money?
Companies using the price skimming model will potentially see higher returns on their products or services due to the initial high price.

Early adopters provide free organic word-of-mouth advertisements for the company, which might further boost sales.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies that use the Price Skimming Model:

- Apple
- Salesforce
- Sony

PRIVATE CLUB MODEL

How the Private Club business model works?

The Private Club Business Works by offering access to a set of products, services and infrastructure exclusive to approved members which pays a monthly fee.

Anyone interested in becoming a member of a private club is subjected to be approved by a board of members who may judge if the person is suited to the club profile.

If approved the person needs to buy a club membership from an exiting member and than start to pay a monthly fee to have full access to club infrastructure.

Clubs may also operate in the semi-private and public models. In the semi- private model clubs sell to both members and outsider who wants to buy a daily pass. In the public model anyone can purchase daily or season passes. The public model is usually government owned.

How the Private Club business model makes money?

The Private Club Business Model makes money by charging a monthly fee and by selling products and services to its members, such as food and beverages. Some clubs may also charge for daily or seasonal passes if they are semi-private or public clubs.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies that use Private Club business model:

- The Yellowstone Club
- Palm Beach Bath and Tennis Club
- Algonquin Golf Club
- The Jonathan Club
- The Knickerbocker Club
- The Bohemian Club
- The China Entrepreneur Club

PRIVATE LABEL

How the Private Label business model works?

The Private Label Business Model works by offering products to be branded by a particular reseller, usually a big chain of retail stores which uses their own brand to sell products with higher margins.

Typical discount stores and supermarkets carry a mix of national brands and private label merchandise. National brands are products made by popular manufacturers and distributed in various retail outlets under the manufacturer's brand name. Private label brands are made by the reseller or acquired with exclusive resale rights. Companies like Target, with its MarketPantry brand, and Walmart, with its Equate brand, have various private label goods.

What's the difference from private label to white label? Both

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

terms are used to describe products or services branded by a particular reseller for sale. A private label brand means that a product is produced for exclusive sale by a particular retailer (it's basically a relationship of industry & retail). A white label brand means a generic product or service is created by a manufacturer and distributed to multiple providers for rebranding (it's basically a strategy of affiliate marketing but with a branding reinforcement).

How the Private Label business model makes money?

Private Label Business Model Makes Money by selling high volume of products at wholesale price to retail stores big enough to enjoy its own brand power. Private Label companies don't need to invest in branding or publicity as its just prints the reseller desired brand in its products.

Companies that use Private Label business model:

- Homel Foods
- Cott Corporation
- Richelieu Foods
- McBride

PRIVATE SHOPPING CLUB

How the Private Shopping Club business model works?

The Private Shopping Club Business Model works by creating a member only club where its members can buy products at high discounts.

This model has become popular offering high fashion / luxury goods at online platforms (offering designer fashion up to 80% cheaper), but there are many other cases operating at

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited categories such as travel and electronics and other segments like bargain basement.

Some clubs charge a membership fee and some don't, private users have to be invited by another member or get in a waiting list in order to have access to discounted products.

Many retail stores may have their own private shopping clubs where members have certain offer/price advantages by paying an annual fee.

How the Private Shopping Club business model makes money?

Private Shopping Club businesses make money by offering unsold inventory from brands at a huge discount. Private Shopping Clubs run the sale and collect cash immediately on purchase. Based on Sales, they purchase only what was sold, nearly eliminating their inventory risk.

Companies that use Private Shopping Club business model:

- Gilt Groupe
- Jet Setter
- Amazon Buy VIP
- Kings Lane
- Best Secret

PRODUCT BUNDLING

How the Product Bundling business model works?

The Product Bundling Business Model works by offering grouped products or services together in order to create a

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

new price point.

By grouping products or services together retail companies increase average price and profit. In some cases, such as electronic sales the bundle of products (low margin) and extended warranty (high margin) is a way to survive selling commodities. Another example is the case of McDonald's where value meals are combined sandwiches (priced with low margin) with fries and sodas (priced with high margin) to incentive higher average sales.

What used to be a simple business strategy is now a business model that is a necessity for many retailers in order to improve sales and profit margins. We could say that this is a model in between wholesale and regular retail.

This model is different from the add-on model.

How the Product Bundling business model makes money?

The Product Bundling Business Model makes money by combining products and services of low margin with high margin ones.

Companies that use Product Bundling business model:

- Microsoft
- McDonald's
- BestBuy

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

PRODUCT SERVICE SYSTEM MODEL

How the Product Service System business model works?

Also known as a function-oriented business model or 'servicing' the Product-Service-Systems Business Model works by offering a mix of both products and services capable of jointly fulfilling a user's needs. In a more extreme format businesses sell the function of the product instead of the product itself.

The initial move to PSS was largely motivated by the need on the part of traditionally oriented manufacturing firms to cope with changing market forces and the recognition that services in combination with products could provide higher profits than products alone. Faced with shrinking markets and increased commoditization of their products, these firms saw service provision as a new path towards profits and growth.

A good example is IBM which started to sell servers by the hour (managed hosting service) instead of selling units of server computers.

Other famous examples include:

- Xerox' pay-per-copy model for selling office equipment
- Rolls-Royce's Power-by-the-Hour service package for aircraft engines, whereby maintenance, repair and overhaul services are charged per hour of flight
- Atlas Copco's Contract Air service, whereby air compressors are sold per m3 of compressed air delivered
- Philips' pay-per-lux model for selling lighting equipment, whereby customers pay for a promised

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited level of illuminance in a building

- Michelin's fleet management solution whereby truck tires are sold per kilometer driven

How the Product Service System business model makes money?

The PPS Business Model makes money by charging for service units instead of product units. This service unit may be, for example, hours in which a series of products and services are bundled to offer higher value to customers and higher profitability to businesses.

Companies that use Product Service System business model:

- IBM
- Xerox
- Rolls-Royce
- Philips
- Michelin

PRODUCT SUBSCRIPTION

How the Product Subscription business model works?

The Product Subscription Business Model works by delivering products with pre-defined quantity and regularity in exchange of a monthly or annual fee.

The model was pioneered by magazines and newspapers but is now used by many businesses to deliver different products.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

One of the most famous cases is the company Black Socks which delivers black socks to busy men who wears suits regularly but don't have time to buy new black socks. You can choose your subscription based on the number of socks and periodicity you want to receive them.

How the Product Subscription business model makes money?

The Product Subscription Business Model works by charging a monthly fee to its customers based on the quantity and periodicity of the desired product. Because businesses deal with a better forecast of sales based on the subscribers (a predictable and constant revenue stream) they can better plan purchase and negotiate better prices with suppliers.

Companies that use Product Subscription business model:

- Black Socks
- Shoedazle
- Svbscription
- Dollar Shave Club

PRODUCTIZED SERVICE

How the Productized Service business model works?

The Productized Service Business Model works by offering a pre- determined package of services with fixed price, scope and deadline instead of an Ad Hoc service charged by the hour.

The productized service can go from medium service level

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

(more flexible and customizable) to almost no service level (closer to the product concept).

Productized services do not mean necessarily inflexibility but brings more scalability as you reduce risks with repeatable processes.

How the Productized Service business model makes money?

The productized service business model generate revenue by selling services just like a product.

The service has a fixed price, well defined scope, and a buy button to purchase it without the need to get in touch with a salesperson, just like a product in a supermarket.

Example:

- One-time Facebook Ads audit account for $199
- Website design for $1300
- 1000 words articles for $50

Companies that use Productized Service business model:

- Legalzoom
- WP Curve
- Fiverr
- Place It
- Brand Bucket
- Rocking Book Covers

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

PROOF OF PAYMENT

How the Proof of Payment Model works?
Proof of Payment is a payment tool used as proof of the occurrence of a transaction between two or more parties, typically a buyer and a seller.

When a customer makes a payment for a purchase, proof of payment is issued at the end of the transaction. A receipt is commonly used as proof of payment.

How the Proof of Payment Model makes money?
In accounting reports, a transaction might be deemed invalid if there is no proof of payment. Hence, proof of payment helps companies to save unnecessary costs on their transaction.

During a financial audit, proof of payment raises the financial status of a company, and this might be useful when the business tries to raise capital from investors.

Companies that use the Proof of Payment Model:

- All businesses are expected to issue proof of payment at the end of every transaction. Examples of such proof of payment include receipts and Cash notes.

PYRAMID SCHEME

How the Pyramid Scheme business model works?
The Pyramid Scheme Business Model works by exchange money primarily for enrolling other people in the scheme

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

rather than supplying any real product or service. It's an unsustainable variation of the multi-level marketing business model and considered illegal.

Because its main source of money is from the payment made from each new member the scheme falls apart once recruiting becomes no longer possible leaving most of its members with a loss.

How the Pyramid Scheme business model makes money?

The Pyramid Scheme Business Model makes money by taking a percentage from each new joining fee sold by its members.

Companies that use Pyramid Scheme business model:

- Solavei
- Usana
- Nuskin
- Many Investment Clubs

RAZOR AND BLADES BUSINESS MODEL

How the Razor and Blades Business Model works?

Also known as Bait and Hook, the Razor and Blade business model works by selling a product at a loss or very low margin (sometimes free) to enable selling volumes of another related higher margin product or service.

The related product or service is usually a functional part of the main products which means that without it the main

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited product does not work.

The model got famous by Gillette who sold razors at low margins but razorblades at high margins. HP printer division used it wisely too by selling printers with low margins but printer toners or cartridges with higher margins. Cellphone carriers do it well too giving cellphones for free with service contract of higher margin per minute calls. The most success case is Nespresso, selling machines with low margins and coffee capsules with very high margin.

How the Razor and Blades Business Model makes money?

The Razor Blade business model makes money from the sale of related products and services with higher margin profits.

Companies that use Razor and Blades Business Model:

- Nespresso
- Gillette
- HP Printers
- AT&T Cellphones
- Sony PlayStation 3

RENT SUBSCRIPTION

How the Rent Subscription business model works?

The Rent Subscription Business Model works by allowing you to rent a limited number of products for a monthly fee. It's a flexible ownership model where you can subscribe and keep products for as long as you want. Once you decide to switch the rent product for a different one, you send it back to the company and they will send you the next thing in your queue.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Some people may think that this model includes services such as Spotify and kindle unlimited. But I do prefer to define them as 'All You Can Eat' Business Model, which deals with digital products and have no physical limitations.

How the Rent Subscription business model makes money?

The Rent Subscription Model makes money in two ways: by selling subscriptions that in the long run are more profitable than the cost of product acquisition, repair and replacement summed. And by selling the product itself. Many people do like so much the rent product that decided to have the full ownership of it.

Companies that use Rent Subscription business model:

- Rent the Runway
- The Ms. Collection
- Pley
- RocksBox
- Spark Box Toys
- Gwynnie Bee
- Le Tote

RENT TO OWN

How the Rent-to-Own Model works?

Rent to own is an agreement that allows a tenant to rent a property (usually a home) and also gives them the option to buy it before the lease expires. It typically consists of a standard lease agreement and a purchase option.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

The lease agreement spells out the terms of the lease of the property like the amount to be paid, and the payment cycle. The purchase option gives the tenant the right to buy the property at the end of the lease, and it stipulates the terms like property price, upfront fees, etc.

How the Rent-to-Own Model makes money?
Rent-to-own agreements could provide a tenant a path to homeownership, which is an asset for the tenant.

The seller collects a monthly rent on the property and in some cases may collect above-market rent monthly, which increases the seller's income.

The seller will get paid the agreed price for the property at the point of purchase.

Companies that use the Rent to Own Model:

- Divvy Homes
- Empire East
- iRentToOwn.com

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

RENTAL BUSINESS MODEL (RENTING)

How the Rental business model works?

The Rental Business Model works by offering temporary use of something owned by someone else.

Usually, there are two situations in which the rental businesses make sense:

1. When you need to use something for a very short period, so it does not make sense to own it.
2. When something is to expensive to buy, so instead of buying it your rent for longer periods.

How the Rental business model makes money?

The Rental Business Model works by charging an hourly, daily or monthly fee that represents a percentage of the total cost of ownership.

Companies that use Rental business model:

- Hertz

RETAILER COOPERATIVE

How the Retailer Cooperative Model works?

Retailer Cooperative is a model in which small independent retailers and businesses pool their resources to purchase in bulk from manufacturers and share marketing costs so as to maximize profits.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Locally owned stores, pharmacies, and hardware stores are commonly found to belong to retailers' cooperatives. To achieve their goals of lower cost and increased profits, retailers' cooperatives often establish a central buying organization through which they make bulk purchases. They also carry out group advertising and promotion.

How the Retailer Cooperative Model makes money?
The Retailers' cooperative improves buying conditions for its members, thereby increasing sales profits.

Their joint marketing and promotion often drive down individual marketing costs and may attract new customers, resulting in increased sales for members.

Companies that use the Retailer Cooperative Model:

- Ace Hardware
- Mitre 10
- Federated Co-operatives

REVENUE SHARE

How the Revenue Share Model works?
The revenue Share Model is a model wherein companies distribute the total amount of revenue generated from their business between partners/stakeholders in accordance with a legal agreement.

The revenue-sharing model can be implemented in businesses and in government. Typically, all the stakeholders join forces to create an expanded value, and they get to share the captured value (revenue) amongst themselves. Each stakeholder gets compensated for their effort in the business alliance.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the Revenue Share Model makes money?
All the stakeholders get a share of the revenue generated by the business alliance based on a legal agreement.

Since they join forces to create value, it cuts down their individual cost, hence they experience improved profits.

Companies that use the Revenue Share Model:

- National Football League (NFL)
- United States Government

REVENUE-BASED FINANCING

How the Revenue-Based Financing Model works?
Revenue-Based Financing also called royalty-based financing is a method companies use to raise capital from an investor, and the investor receives a percentage of the company's ongoing revenue in exchange for the invested money.

The investors continue to receive a regular share of the business' income until the payment reaches an agreed amount. The payments made to the investor depend on how well the business is doing. If the business income is high, the investor will receive increased payment and vice versa. Furthermore, the investor does not have direct ownership in the business.

How the Revenue-Based Financing Model makes money?
Revenue-based loans generate high returns for the lenders,

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited especially when the loan is structured in the right way for the right companies.

The loan that a borrower receives helps the business to grow and record increased revenue.

The repayment structure of a Revenue-Based Financing Model helps the business to grow more sustainably, which is healthy for consistent revenue generation.

Companies that use the Revenue-Based Financing Model:

- Pipe
- Capchase
- Clearco

REVERSE AUCTION

How the Reverse auction Model works?
A reverse auction is a model consisting of multiple sellers and one buyer, in which the sellers bid for the price at which they are willing to sell their goods and services to the buyer.

This model reverses the roles of buyers and sellers. The buyer puts up a request for a product or service, then multiple sellers place bids for the amount they are willing to accept for offering the buyer the product or service. In the end, the seller with the lowest amount wins.

How the "business model name" makes money?
The lower purchase cost helps the buyer to save money.

The seller makes money from the sale of the merchandise.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

The buyer gains savings from the competitive pricing at the auction.

The auctioneers receive a commission for services rendered.

Companies that use the Reverse auction Model:

- Government contracts
- ProcurePort

REVERSE FACTORING

How the Reverse Factoring Model works?
Reverse factoring is a three-way financing solution involving a buyer, seller, and financial institution whereby the supplier's invoice is financed by the financial institution (typically a bank) on behalf of the buyer, while the buyer gets more time to pay the invoice.

The buyer reaches an agreement with the bank to make prompt payment to its suppliers, while the buyer pays the bank (with interest) on the due date.

How the Reverse Factoring Model makes money?
The supplier receives early payment for their supplies, which is good for their growth.

The supplier also enjoys diversified sources of capital, as reverse factoring provides suppliers with an off-balance-sheet way to maintain growth.

The buyer benefits from longer payment terms, which improve their liquidity and cash flow.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

The banks get paid by the buyer, with interest on the money paid to the supplier on behalf of the buyer.

Companies that use the Reverse Factoring Model:

- Mitsubishi HC Capital UK PLC
- PrimeRevenue, Inc.
- Trade Finance Global

REVERSE LOGISTICS

How the Reverse Logistics Model works?

Reverse logistics is a model that moves goods from consumers back to the sellers or manufacturers through the supply chain.

Reverse logistics often involve the return of defective products by customers, trade-in of old products for new ones, etc. It includes the physical management of the returned products and the decision by the manufacturer to either refurbish or dispose of them properly.

How the Reverse Logistics Model makes money?

Businesses could resell, reuse or recycle returned products, which helps them to increase revenue.

Reverse logistics lead to greater customer satisfaction, which means that customers are likely to remain with the brand for a longer time and keep making purchases from the company.

Businesses using the Reverse Logistics Model can reduce their carbon footprint by recycling returned products. This creates intangible value for them and may attract customers who are passionate about fighting climate change.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies that use the Reverse Logistics Model:

- H&M
- Apple
- UPS

RIDE MATCHING

How the Ride Matching Model works?

Ride matching is the pairing of one or more riders to get to their destination by sharing a single vehicle that is going in their direction.

Ride matching lets riders share a route - pooling people on the same route together. The vehicle may make multiple stops along the route to drop off passengers and pick up new ones. It entails the participation of riders (peer customers) and drivers (peer providers). The peer provider initiates the process on a ride-matching platform, then through the platform, peer customers may be matched to the driver.

How the Ride Matching Model makes money?

The driver (peer provider) gets paid for the service being rendered to the peer customers.

The peer customers enjoy transportation convenience and save costs through this model.

The ride-matching platform earns a commission from each ride.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies that use the Ride Matching Model:

- Via

S2P

How the S2P Model works?

S2P (Source-to-Pay) is an end-to-end process of procurement that spans sourcing for suppliers, negotiating with them, and hiring them for their products and services. S2P includes vendor management, performance management, and purchasing.

A company first identifies relevant suppliers. These suppliers are then evaluated before the preferred ones are contracted. The business places orders, monitor the supply of the products, and then authorizes and releases payment. The S2P model is typically deployed through the implementation of an S2P software platform.

How the S2P Model makes money?

S2P platforms charge a subscription fee for suppliers to use their platforms.

The S2P Model also generates revenue through paid advertisements hosted on its platform.

Companies that use the S2P Model:

- SAP Ariba
- Coupa BSM Platform

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Ivalua Strategic Sourcing

SAAS

How the SaaS Model works?

SaaS (Software as a service) is a method that allows users to access cloud-based applications over the internet instead of installing and maintaining them.

Customers can rent the use of an app and then connect to it over the internet. The SaaS provider manages all the underlying infrastructure, app data, middleware, hardware, and software, and ensures the availability of the app at all times to the customer.

How the SaaS Model makes money?

SaaS companies charge subscription fees for their products and services.

Some SaaS companies allow customers to pay based on usage, which is the amount of software they are utilizing.

Companies that use the SaaS Model:

- Microsoft
- Shopify
- Slack

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

SAMPLING SUBSCRIPTIONS

How the Sampling Subscriptions Model works?

The Sampling Subscriptions Model involves consumers trying out free samples of products from various brands without the obligation of paying for them.

This model allows manufacturers to offer targeted consumers an experience of the products which they would probably not make any effort to get to know or use.

How the Sampling Subscriptions Model makes money?

The Sampling Subscriptions Model often give consumers the opportunity to try a product for a limited time, and the option to purchase what they like for a reasonable price.

This model may result in satisfied customers, who then become a steady and predictable revenue stream for the business.

Companies that use the Sampling Subscriptions Model:

- Rocksbox
- Birchbox
- Bergamot

SCAN BASED TRADING MODEL

How the Scan-Based Trading Model works?

The scan-Based trading model is a process whereby

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

suppliers retain ownership of the inventory inside the retailer's stores until the items are scanned at the register and sold.

When products get scanned at the point of sale, the retailer collects the point of sale data and sends it to the supplier. The supplier then creates an invoice based on the data. This means that the supplier only gets paid whenever an item is scanned at the register.

How the Scan-Based Trading Model makes money?

The sale of the products is a major source of revenue for both the retailer and the supplier.

The point of sale data provided to the supplier provides consumers insights, hence, suppliers can use the data to optimally design promotions and pricing strategies for increased sales.

Scan-Based Trading helps retailers to cut costs because they can better plan for staffing and storage needs.

Suppliers can introduce new products to the retailer's store at no extra cost, which improves the prospects of generating more profits for both parties.

Companies that use the Scan Based Trading Model:

- Ira green
- Source Interlink
- Eurpac

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

SEARCH AGENT MODEL

How the Search Agent Model works?

A search agent is one who represents the interest of the buyer during the process of purchase or lease of a property, usually a house.

They are different from estate agents being that estate agents represent the interest of the seller, i.e., the owner of the property. A search agent acts solely on behalf of the buyers/tenants. A search agent searches for an appropriate property for the buyer and helps to secure and negotiate terms on behalf of the buyer. They manage the transaction through the exchange and guide the buyer on related matters with respect to the property.

How the Search Agent Model makes money?

The Search Agent charges a retaining fee when the property search starts.

The Search Agent also charges a success fee, which is often a percentage of the final purchase price of the property.

Companies that use the Search Agent Model:

- Garrington
- Prime Portfolio Ltd.
- Haringtons UK Ltd.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

SECOND HAND BUSINESS MODEL

How the Second Hand Business Model works?

Second-hand products are products that have been previously used by another buyer. Second-hand goods are often purchased for a fraction of the retail price.

The basic motivation for second-hand shopping is based on economic reasons and the green choice of consumers. The difference in price between used products and new products often drives demand for the second-hand model.

Some consumers also buy second-hand goods for emotional reasons, in a bid to own historic items or items with stories of a personal effect on them.

How the Second Hand Business Model makes money?

Second-Hand Business generates income from advertisements on their platforms.

They also generate income from the sales of their goods.

Second-hand business platforms charge a fee for a featured listing, which is a premium feature for putting listed items in the spotlight to draw more attention to it.

Companies that use the Second Hand Business Model:

- Letgo
- Modacruz
- Vestiaire Collective

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Greendust

SELF SERVICE

How the Self-Service Model works?

The self-service model refers to the practice where customers are able to access resources themselves in order to find solutions on their own without the assistance of a company's employee.

Self-service includes customers picking their own groceries, making their own payments at checkout, and finding answers on an online help center to their questions. Instead of waiting in line for a customer service agent, which takes time, customers simply serve themselves.

How the Self-Service Model makes money?

If customers can not find quick answers to their questions, they are likely to abandon the shopping experience. Self-service puts the power in their hands, hence increasing customer satisfaction and sales.

Self-service lowers costs by helping businesses serve a large number of customers with small teams.

Staff who ought to be attending to customers' queries are put to other more productive use, thereby saving the business cost and increasing their value.

Companies that use the Self Service Business Model:

- Amazon

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Apple
- Spotify

SERVICE SUBSCRIPTION

How the Service Subscription Model works?

A service subscription model offers to sell goods or services to customers and the customers pay a recurring fee on a set timeline, such as monthly or weekly.

In order to access a product or service, customers are charged on a recurring basis, and they are free to choose how long and how often they want to receive each offer. The customer will continue to receive the offer as long as they complete their recurring payments. They are also free to cancel at any time.

How the Service Subscription Model makes money?

Service subscription generates revenue by charging customers a recurring fee for continued access to their goods and services.

Customers find subscriptions more affordable than a tag price on a product. Hence, more customers are attracted by affordability, which will lead to increased sales.

Service subscriptions help businesses lock in customers who already trust their brand. This ensures long-term sales.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies that use the Service Subscription Business Model:

- Butcher Box
- Hulu
- HelloFresh

SERVICIZING

How the Servicizing Model works?

Servicizing refers to a model where businesses shift their focus from selling products to selling the functions of the product or selling the service component of the product.

It is based on the conviction that customers actually want the function of the product itself and not actual ownership of the product. So if businesses are able to sell the "servicizing solutions", then they get paid based on the unit of service delivered instead of the traditional unit of products sold.

How the Servicizing Model makes money?

Servicizing companies generate revenue when their customers make payments to them based on the product-service package sold to them.

The servicizing model does not see the material products as ends in themselves, instead, companies aim to help customers to achieve their consumption goals with fewer products. This implies cost reduction and increased profits for the company.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies that use the Servicizing Business Model:

- Xerox's pay-per-copy model for selling office equipment;
- Atlas Copco's Contract Air service model sells air compressors per m3 of compressed air delivered;
- Rolls-Royce's power-by-the-hour service package for aircraft engines is charged per hour of flight for maintenance, repair, and overhaul services.

SET IT AND FORGET IT MODEL

How the Set it and Forget it Model works?

The set it and forget it model is about customers having so much trust in a company that they can just forget it.

A customer's regular purchase pattern allows the retailer to correctly predict when the customer will need a particular item. Hence, the retailer may arrange to have the item delivered to the customer's doorstep at those regular times. Once the system is set up, then you can forget it.

How the Set it and Forget it Model makes money?

The convenience that affords customers means that the business can retain the customer, which guarantees regular sales to that customer.

The Set it and Forget it Model helps businesses to automate revenue generation from their customers.

Set it and Forget it Model means more sales from customers with minimal employee engagement, which saves costs for the business.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies that use the Set it and Forget it Model:

- Amazon Dash Button
- Fixed deposit
- Health insurance

SHARED BUSINESS MODELS

How the Shared business model works?

Shared business is a model that involves consumers in the creation, use, and distribution of goods and services via digital platforms, online communities, or apps.

Such assets can be rotated, reused, and shared between different individuals and businesses. This model typically involves a medium where people connect with one another to share services or goods, or buyers and sellers transact business.

How the Shared business model makes money?

The prices of goods and services in a shared business model are usually more affordable, hence, it saves costs for consumers.

It generates extra income for providers (sellers) of the goods and services.

The platform typically charges a commission on transactions carried out on its platform.

This model offers buyers access to things that might not be practical to own or obtain, thereby saving them costs, e.g.,

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited ride-sharing.

Companies that use the Shared business model:

- WeWork: Co-Working Spaces
- Uber: Ride-Sharing and Car-Sharing
- Airbnb: Apartment/House Renting and Couchsurfing

SHARED OWNERSHIP

How the Shared Ownership model works?

The Shared Ownership model is one in which a business distributes shares to its stakeholders, especially employees.

The owners have shared responsibilities and obligations to the business. The Shared Ownership model can be considered for a variety of assets like businesses and properties.

How the Shared Ownership model makes money?

The stakeholders in shared ownership get paid dividends on their percentage ownership of the business.

Capital appreciation is also another means by which owners of s shared businesses make money.

Companies that use the shared Ownership model:

- John Lewis
- Publix Super Markets
- Brookshire Brothers

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

SHAREWARE

How the Shareware model works?

The shareware model is the provision of commercial software for free during a certain time period, after which the user is expected to pay for continued access or to access the full-featured version.
At the expiration of the free trial period, the software usually deactivates itself and denies the user any further access until payment is made. The aim of this model s for users to try the software before they buy it.

How the Shareware model makes money?

Much shareware generates revenue through advertisements.

Users, especially corporate users, pay a license fee to continue using the software after the trial period.

Companies that use the Shareware model:

- WinZip
- Adobe Photoshop
- GetRight

SHOWROOMING

How the Showrooming model works?

Showrooming refers to the practice of consumers visiting a brick-and-mortar store to view and check a product, before purchasing it online for a lower price.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

This is common for higher-priced products which consumers like to see, touch, hear, or smell so as to be sure of their features before making the actual purchase. Showrooming allows consumers to make purchases at the best available price to them.

How the Showrooming model makes money?

It helps consumers save costs by buying the lowest-priced offering on the spot.

The showrooming model leads to higher retail profits because it results in a higher benefit of retail service to the manufacturer.

Small retailers are able to save costs because showrooming removes the need for an exquisite display of products, thus requiring less space for their stores.

Companies that use the Showrooming model:

- Allbirds
- Bonobos
- Glossier

SIMPLIFIED MODEL

How the Simplified Model works?

The Simplified Model involves the removal of complex and unnecessary steps and tasks to improve the efficiency of production processes in businesses.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

This can be achieved by making processes simpler, transforming an existing complex process, limiting the number of designs or features on products produced, or the usage of modern technology in the business process.

How the Simplified Model makes money?

The Simplified Model often leads to increased efficiency like a reduction in paperwork, this saves the business cost on staffing needs.

It also leads to increased productivity, which means better products and increased profits.

With simplified processes, businesses are able to increase production speed, thus, producing and making delivery on time to customers which often results in customer satisfaction and retention of more sales.

Companies that use the Simplified Model:

- TSG
- Cflow
- MicroD

SLIDING SCALE FEES

How the Sliding Scale Fees Model works?

Sliding scale fees are fees paid for goods and services based on a customer's income and capacity to pay.

Such fees are varied to a lower scale, i.e., reduced for those who earn lower incomes, while those who earn higher incomes will pay more. It is used by organizations to ensure everyone has access to their offerings.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the Sliding Scale Fees Model makes money?

Businesses that use the sliding scale fees model still get paid for their goods and services, though on a varying scale based on the income of their customers.

The sliding scale fees may endear customers to a company, which means customer retention and increased sales from new ones.

Companies that use the Sliding Scale Fees Model:

- People Incorporated Mental Health Services
- Fidelity International
- Canadian Unitarian Council

SOCIAL COMMERCE

How the Social Commerce Model works?

The social commerce model entails the buying and selling of goods and services directly through social media platforms.

Businesses may choose to display their offerings with information on features, availability, and pricing on social media platforms like Instagram, WhatsApp, Facebook, etc. Some platforms may even allow businesses to create a social shop with a fully developed business setup where buyers complete the process of payment and checkout without ever leaving the platform.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the Social Commerce Model makes money?

Social Commerce Model provides a convenient and frictionless buying experience, which could lead to increased sales for the business.

Social Commerce Model generates social proof for businesses, which attracts even more customers and more sales.

The social media platform generates revenue through adverts.

Companies that use the social Commerce Model:

- Old Navy's Instagram shop
- Storrow Jewelry's
- Skullcandy
- Burrow

SOCIAL COOPERATIVE

How the Social Cooperative Model works?

Social Cooperative is a model wherein the public interest is the main purpose.

It is most developed in Italy. Businesses utilizing the Social Cooperative Model produce goods and services in the public interest first. They are typically democratically owned by a combination of employees, beneficiaries, and investors. They often provide social services like care for the disadvantaged.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the Social Cooperative Model makes money?

The social cooperative produces goods that they sell to generate revenue for the continued sustenance of the cooperative.

When such businesses carry out public campaigns for a cause they care about, they often generate money from sponsors and donors who care about that cause.

Companies that use the social Cooperative Model:

- Un Fiore per la vita
- Il Germoglio cooperative
- Al di là dei sogni Cooperative

SPONSORSHIP

How the Sponsorship Model works?

The sponsorship business model is the practice where a company monetizes its products and services through sponsors instead of setting prices for its customers.

The sponsor commits money and other resources to the business, event, or program in exchange for promotional interests. Such promotional interests include getting their names and logo on merchandise like wearables, T-Shirts, banners, brochures, posters, and other marketing merchandise.

How the Sponsorship Model makes money?

Businesses using the Sponsorship Model generate revenue

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited through funding received from sponsors.

Businesses also benefit from in-kind sponsorships, such as donations of physical items or services from sponsors.

The sponsors enjoy increased brand awareness and visibility, a form of advertisement that could lead to increased sales. Sponsors could also rack up sales at the events they sponsor through product exhibitions.

Companies that use the Sponsorship Model:

- The International Olympic Committee (IOC)
- Federation Internationale de Football Association (FIFA)
- The National Basketball Association (NBA)

STORE-IN-STORE

How the Store-in-Store Model works?

A store-in-store model refers to the practice where a retailer rents out part of its space allowing other brands to operate independently and exercise autonomy over retail decisions, such as pricing, and in-store service, and develop their own marketing campaigns.

Typically, the host retailer rents out a part of their floor plan to other brands and vendors in exchange for rent or a percentage of sales.

How the Store-in-Store Model makes money?

The foot traffic generated by the host retailer could lead to

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited increased sales for the vendor stores.

The store-in-store model helps brands save money by cutting overhead costs to run an independent store on their own.

The host retailer generates revenue through rent or percentage profit paid by vendor stores.
Companies that use the Store-in-Store Model:

- Bloomingdale's has stores in store for brands, such as Ralph Lauren, Kenneth Cole, Calvin Klein, etc.;
- JCPenney store in store for Sephora;
- Best Buy hosts Samsung Experience;
- Macy's hosts Starbucks coffees in various of its store locations.

SUBSCRIPTION

How the Subscription Model works?
The subscription model involves customers paying a recurring fee for continuous access to a product or service.

The customer pays for the product or service for a length of time, and the business fulfills its obligation by granting the customer access to its products and services for as long as the customer continues to make their recurring payment. The customer can cancel or renew the contract at any time.

How the Subscription Model makes money?
The business cages customers a recurring monthly or annual fee for continuous access to their products and services.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Some businesses charge a one-time access fee to access their platform before subsequent subscription payments.

Companies that use the Subscription Model:

- Netflix
- Microsoft
- Spotify

SUPPLY CHAIN

How the Supply Chain Model works?

A supply chain is a network between an organization and its suppliers following a sequence of activities through which a commodity moves from the source to the market.

It comprises the entire stages to produce and market a product like the supply of materials, distribution, and sale.

How the Supply Chain Model makes money?

An exceptional supply chain can lead to increased sales and business profitability for the company.

All the players within the supply get paid for their offerings.

Companies that use the Supply Chain Model:

- C.H. Robinson Worldwide
- UPS Supply Chain Solutions

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Kuehne + Nagel Americas

SURPRISE BOX MODEL

How the Surprise Box Model works?

The surprise box business model involves curating a package of goods from a particular niche or variety of niches for subscribers on a regular basis.

Usually, the customers do not know the content of the box because it is meant to deliver an element of surprise which delights them as much as the goods inside. It is typically delivered on a monthly basis.

How the Surprise Box Model makes money?

Businesses using the surprise box model generate revenue by charging a recurring fee that is paid regularly, usually monthly.

Some businesses charge a one-time fee in addition to subscription fees.

Companies that use the Surprise Box Model:

- Stitch Fix
- Wonderful Objects
- 420 Goody Box

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

SWAPPING

How the Swapping Model works?

The Swapping model refers to the exchange of goods and services with other goods and services of comparable value.

Businesses and individuals use this model to find assets of interest to them in exchange for what they have to offer to their swap partners. This can be done on swap platforms which facilitates the meeting and transactions.

How the Swapping Model makes money?

The swap platforms charge a commission on the value of the transaction.

The swap partners often save costs by exchanging what they have for what they need.

Companies that use the Swapping Model:

- Swapz
- Swapitshop
- Swapcycle

SWAPPING FOR PRODUCTS

How the Swapping for products Model works?

Swapping for products is a model where products are exchanged for other products of comparable value.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Businesses can reach an agreement to exchange assets, production, etc to reduce overall costs. Individuals can also swap for products on items they no longer need with one they need that is of comparable value. This can be done on a dedicated swap platform.

How the Swapping for products Model makes money?

The swapping for product platforms generates revenue through the shipping of products to the different parties (swap partners) engaged in the swapping.

The parties in the Swapping for products save cost by exchanging what they do not need anymore for what they need.

The swapping platform also takes a percentage of the transaction value.

Companies that use the swapping for products Model:

- Gumtree Swap Shop
- Craigslist
- u-exchange

SWAPPING FOR SERVICES

How the Swapping for services Model works?

The Swapping for services Model involves the exchange of services for another service of a comparable value.

Instead of money being used as a medium of exchange, a service is used to procure another service of approximate

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

value. The Swapping for services Model takes services as salable acts, such as Plumbing, Moving assistance, and Tax preparation. Just like products, Swapping for service is subject to the forces of demand and supply.

How the Swapping for services Model makes money?

The swapping platform receives a fee on each transaction.

The swap partners saves cost on the services exchanged.

Companies that use the Swapping for services Model:

- Simbi
- TradeMade
- U-Exchange

SYNDICATION

How the Syndication Model works?

The syndicate model refers to an alliance of independent businesses working together to achieve a common business objective.

The syndication model makes it easy for businesses to combine resources and share risks in order to achieve what would be difficult for them to achieve individually. Typically, their primary purpose is to promote goods and services and increase profits for all the entities involved.

How the Syndication Model makes money?

The Syndication Model enables businesses to focus on their core strength while having other entities handle the

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited remaining parts of the business, thus, saving them costs.

Some entities within a syndicate make money through up-front licensing fees.

Some businesses using the syndication model also generate revenue by receiving a share of advertising revenue on other sites that run its content.

Entities also receive a percentage share of transaction revenues.

Companies that use the Syndication Model:

- FedEx distributing its sophisticated package-tracking capability;
- Motley Fool provides stock-market commentary in various formats to sites, such as Yahoo!, and the San Jose Mercury News' SiliconValley.com;
- Amazon is syndicating its store to other locations.

THE AD UNIT MODEL

How the Ad Unit Model works?

An ad unit model refers to a placeholder for an ad that is integrated into other apps and is displayed to users in order to monetize their traffic.

Each ad unit looks and behaves differently, and some offer a wide range of mobile ad formats. Examples of ad units include banner ads, playable ads, and interstitial ads.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the Ad Unit Model makes money

The ad unit gets paid per click. Advertisers pay the ad network for their services.

Companies that use the Ad Unit Model:

- Google AdSense
- Amazon Affiliates
- Bing for Partners

THREE-TIERED

How the Three-tiered Model works?

The three-tiered model entails a business offering their customers three different pricing choices for the same product or service, which has different individual options.

This model is typically applied to fixed, project-based, or value-based offerings but does not work well on hourly rate offerings. The business presents customers with three different levels of offering instead of one comprising tier 1 — base offering —, tier 2 — which has more value than the first —, and then, tier 3 — with the most options.

How the Three-tiered Model makes money?

This model helps businesses to attract more customers with multiple offerings, thus capturing more sales.

This model affords businesses choice and flexibility, thus increasing sales opportunities.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies that use the Three-tiered Model:

- HubSpot, which uses three tiers effectively
- Microsoft 365
- Xbox Game Pass

TIME-BASED PRICING

How the Time-Based Pricing Model works?

The time-Based Pricing Model is a method of pricing goods and services based on the time the customer makes the purchase.

Some businesses using this model may charge more during peak hours or during particular seasons to encourage customer traffic.

How the Time-Based Pricing Model makes money?

The time-Based Pricing Model makes money by helping businesses to take advantage of high customer turnover during peak periods, thereby increasing sales and profits.

Businesses using the Time-Based Pricing Model like airlines are able to lock in sales well ahead of time because customers tend to make purchases at the best times.

Companies that use the Time Based Pricing Model:

- British Airways offer higher prices for flight tickets during summer and lower prices during other periods of the year;
- Uber changes its price offers based on weather

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited conditions;

- Airbnb changes its price based on holidays, events, and special days.

TIMESHARE

How the Timeshare Model works?

The Timeshare Model enables multiple owners to own and use a property at different times of the year, typically for a 1-week interval each year.

Each owner purchases a certain time period of the year in a particular property. The buyers own allotments of usage in one-week increments. This is usually applicable to vacation homes but can be used for campsites, hotel rooms, and other stand-alone properties.

How the Timeshare Model makes money?

Timeshare owners can rent out their allotted time and make money.

Timeshare companies make money through the purchase made by timeshare owners.

Timeshare companies also charge maintenance fees for the property.

A timeshare offers owners the ability to own a fraction of the property during their time allotment.

Companies that use the Timeshare Model:

- Wyndham Destinations

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Marriott Vacation Club
- Disney Vacation Club

TIP JAR/DONATION

How the Tip jar/donation Model works?

The Tip jar/donation is a discretionary payment determined and paid by customers to employees of an organization for good service.

This model is very common in the hospitality industry. Tip jar/donation includes payments like cash tips, non-cash tips like tickets, gift cards, etc. Many organizations using this model typically implement tip pooling, where all the tips are collected together, and all employees receive a percentage from the total pool collected.

How the Tip jar/donation Model makes money?

The Tip jar/donation Model makes money from the voluntary payments made by customers.

Since these tips/donations are made in appreciation of good service, it motivates staff to even offer better service, thereby increasing sales for their organization and getting even more tips/donations.

Companies that use the Tip jar/donation Model:

- Spotify implements a tip jar/donation for musicians on its platform;

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Twitter has an in-app tipping feature for entertainment content;
- Patreon.

TRIPWIRE

How the Tripwire Model works?

A tripwire is a low-cost introductory offer designed to turn a prospect or cold traffic into paying customers.

The trip wire model lowers customers' resistance and barrier to entry, as it involves low risk and a lower level of commitment. Trip wires offers are usually priced between $5.00 to $30.00. Its goals are to increase the customer base by quickly turning prospects and cold traffic into customers, and identify quality leads who are likely to spend more on the company's goods and services.

How the Tripwire Model makes money?

The Tripwire Model makes rapid sales with the low-cost introductory offer, which is typically very affordable.

Businesses are able to build trust with customers through the trip wire model, thus recording more sales from customers.

The Tripwire Model builds up the customer base of a company, which often translates to more sales.

A trip wire sale could be high value but often incomplete, hence, customers often have to make additional purchases to complement it.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies that use the Tripwire Model:

- Name.com offers First-Year Discount and Then Regular Pricing
- Ryan Levesque offers Free Plus Shipping Tripwire Offer
- DotcomSecrets offers Free Shipping plus Order Bump

USAGE FEE (METERED SERVICE)

How the Usage Fee (metered service) Model works?

Usage Fee (metered service) is a model in which consumers only pay for the number of goods or services they use.

Typically, the customer has access to numerous goods and services from the company, but they are only billed by the company for what they use.

How the Usage Fee (metered service) Model makes money?

The Usage Fee (metered service) Model empowers customers to only use what they can afford, which is often an attraction for more customers, resulting in more sales.

The Usage Fee (metered service) Model provides insights on customer usage, which can be used by businesses to implement targeted marketing to increase revenue.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies that use the Usage Fee (metered service) Model:

- Amazon Web Services (AWS)
- Digital Ocean
- WordStream

VALUE-ADDED RESELLER

How the Value-added reseller Model works?

The Value-added reseller (VAR) Model refers to the practice of a company or individual who purchases a product from a company and then resells them after adding value to the product.

A value-added reseller (VAR) buys products from suppliers or original equipment manufacturers, adds features or services to the product, and then resells them to end-users at higher prices.

How the Value-added reseller Model makes money?

The supplier or original equipment manufacturer gets paid for their products.

The Value-added reseller resells the value-added product at a higher price to make a profit.

Many Value-added resellers often offer after-sales services like repairs and maintenance. This increases customer satisfaction and helps both the VAR and suppliers to retain customers and sales.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies that use the Value-added reseller Model:

- Ingram Micro
- Elite Group
- Router-Switch.com

VICKREY AUCTION

How the Vickrey auction Model works?

The Vickrey auction is a type of sealed-bid auction where participants submit their bids but do not know the bids of others, with the second-highest bid winning the auction.

Participants in a Vickrey auction bid their true value, which is the maximum amount they are willing to pay for the product. The second-price mechanism further incentivizes participants to bid their maximum because if they win, they only get to pay the second-highest bid price.

How the Vickrey auction Model makes money?

The winner of the Vickrey auction saves some money since they do not have to pay the price of their own maximum price but the second higher price.

The seller gets paid the maximum value for the product.

The auctioneer takes a percentage commission from the transaction cost.

Companies that use the Vickrey auction Model:

- eBay

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- Google Ads

VIRTUAL BUSINESS MODEL

How the Virtual business model works?

The Virtual business model works by conducting all or most of its business activities via the internet.

Though virtual — businesses are characterized by their online activities —, they all maintain varying degrees of physical operation.

How the Virtual business model makes money?

The Virtual business model earns money through the sales of its own products and services.

The Virtual business model also generates revenue from its platform by charging a commission on the sale of products and services from other vendors.

They also make money through advertisements placed on their platform.

Companies that use the Virtual business model:

- Amazon Inc.
- Zappos
- Netflix

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

WALRASIAN AUCTION

How the Walrasian auction model works?

The Walrasian auction model is a concurrent auction where demand for the good at every possible price is calculated and submitted to the Walrasian auctioneer, who then sets the price such that the total demand across all submitted demands equals the total amount of the good.

The Walrasian auctioneer matches supply and demand in a market of perfect competition. The Walrasian auctioneer gathers prices about orders and determines the final price.

How the Walrasian auction model makes money?

The seller makes money from the sale of their goods.

The buyer may gain savings from the pricing at the auction.

The auctioneers receive a commission for services rendered.

Companies that use the Walrasian auction model:

- New York Stock Exchange (NYSE)

WAREHOUSE CLUB MODEL

How the Warehouse Club Model works?

The Warehouse Club Model offers low-priced goods and services to members who pay an annual membership fee.

The Warehouse Club sells membership to consumers. The large membership base allows them to purchase items from

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited suppliers in bulk at low cost and then offer them to members at low prices.

How the Warehouse Club Model makes money?

The Warehouse Club Model generates revenue through annual dues paid by members.

There is typically a small markup on the prices of goods sold to members, which are used to cover costs and operating expenses.

The bulk purchase of goods at discounted prices help them to save cost.

Companies that use the Warehouse Club Model:

- Costco's membership
- Sam’s Club
- BJ’s

WHITE LABEL

How the White Label Model works?

The White Label Model is when a manufacturer of a product uses the logo and brands of the buyer instead of its own.

The end product then appears as though it was produced by the buyer. The manufacturer simply produces the products and designs the package with the brands of the buyer. The buyer in turn markets and sells the products as their own.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

How the White Label Model makes money?

The White Label Model helps the manufacturer to generate more sales.

The manufacturer also saves costs by not having to market its products itself. Instead, the buyer does the marketing under their own brand name.

This model affords the reseller low start-up costs.

Companies that use the White Label Model:

- Great Value brand
- Whole Foods Market's
- 365 Everyday Value

WHOLESALE

How the Wholesale Model works?

The wholesale model is an intermediary that buys in bulk from the manufacturer at discounted prices and then sells at higher prices to retailers.

Wholesalers also sell to retailers at discounted prices, such that the retailers then sell directly to the end consumer at even higher prices.

How the Wholesale Model makes money?

Wholesalers buy at discounted rates from manufacturers, thus saving them costs. The Wholesale Model generates revenue by selling at higher prices to retailers.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies that use the Wholesale Model:

- Costco Wholesale Corporation
- Sam's Club
- BJ's

WORK CLOUD

How the Work Cloud Model works?

The Work Cloud Model is one that ensures the delivery of different computing services through the internet to our devices.

Rather than keeping files on a local storage device, It makes it possible for consumers to save files and documents in a remote database, and retrieve them whenever they are needed. Consumers can also access computing services like data storage, servers, databases, networking, and software.

How the Work Cloud Model makes money?

The Work Cloud Model generates revenue by offering customers data spaces where they can store their data for a recurring fee.

They often offer customers guaranteed availability, which enables them to price in maintenance and sell their capacity at a premium with full service.

The Work Cloud Model businesses might charge a fee for customers to access some software services.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies that use the Work Cloud Model:

- Google Cloud
- Amazon Web Services (AWS)
- Microsoft Azure

WORKER COOPERATIVE

How the Worker Cooperative model works?

The worker cooperatives models are businesses that are owned and democratically controlled by their employees.

This model puts the worker and community benefit at the core of its purpose. Thus, the worker-members benefit directly from the successes of the business. Profit is shared based on hours worked, job position, seniority, and salary. New employees are accepted into the cooperative after a probationary period.

How the Worker Cooperative Model makes money?

The Worker Cooperative Model generates revenue through membership dues.

Many worker cooperatives produce goods and services, which they sell to generate revenue.

They also generate revenue through revolving capital. Government agencies and international foundations sometimes make donations to worker cooperatives.

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

Companies that use the Worker Cooperative Model:

- Union Cab of Madison Cooperative
- Cooperative Home Care Associates (CHCA)
- Isthmus Engineering and Manufacturing

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

CONCLUSION

At the end of the 18th century, Antoine de Lavoisier, mathematician and chemist, asserted that in all the reactions of these experiments: “nothing is lost, nothing is created, everything is transformed”.

He could not prove it back then but I'm sure that if he was a business researcher in the 21st century he would be able to do so.

Any great startup nowadays just adopted or mixed different business models into their own market to strive.

But remember, don't over complicate it. Mix, combine, but keep it simple. Never forget that.

Good luck and have fun!

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

REFERENCES

The following references were consulted to create this Super Guide:

- https://www.yiwu-market-guide.com/dollar-store.html
- https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Dollar_Tree
- https://finty.com/us/business-models/dollar-tree/
- https://www.uptech.team/blog/how-do-free-apps-make-money
- https://mlsdev.com/amp/blog/how-do-free-apps-make-money
- https://www.cleveroad.com/amp/blog/how-do-free-apps-make-money-without-ads-and-other-great-approaches-to-earn-with-a-free-application
- https://preferredcfo.com/the-add-on-business-model-and-why-it-rocks/
- https://bmtoolbox.net/patterns/add-on/
- https://renovation-hub.eu/business-models/add-on-business-model/
- https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/All-pay_auction
- https://www.readcube.com/articles/10.2139%2Fssrn.1332763
- https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Art_dealer
- https://www.thebalancecareers.com/what-is-required-to-be-an-art-dealer-1295324
- https://www.contemporaryartissue.com/the-art-gallery-everything-you-need-to-know/

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Business-to-business
- https://www.investopedia.com/terms/b/btob.asp
- https://www.techtarget.com/searchcio/definition/B2B?amp=1
- https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Direct-to-consumer
- https://www.investopedia.com/terms/b/btoc.asp
- https://www.techtarget.com/searchcustomerexperience/definition/B2C?amp=1
- https://www.linkedin.com/pulse/brands-need-start-focusing-b2c2b-models-marketing-sales-grossbard
- https://www.forbes.com/sites/forbescommunicationscouncil/2020/05/27/the-emergence-of-b2c2b-marketing/?sh=3079849766ca
- https://www.causal.app/blog/b2b-b2c-b2b2c-b2c2b-the-gtm-menu-and-business-model-innovation
- https://www.ldoceonline.com/dictionary/bargain-basement-price
- https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bidding_fee_auction
- https://blogs.cornell.edu/info2040/2019/10/24/bidding-fee-action-penny-action/
- https://m.youtube.com/watch?v=4gLmbfCjwFI
- https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Brick_and_mortar
- https://www.investopedia.com/terms/b/brickandmortar.asp
- https://www.masterclass.com/articles/brick-and-mortar-store-guide
- https://builttosell.com/
- https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Worker_cooperative
- https://institute.coop/what-worker-cooperative

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- https://canadianworker.coop/about/what-is-a-worker-co-op/
- https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Car_dealership
- https://howtostartanllc.com/business-ideas/car-dealership
- https://snapcell.us.com/car-dealership-business-model/
- https://www.techopedia.com/definition/4241/careware
- https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Careware
- https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Chemical_leasing
- https://chemicalleasing.com/
- https://contentmarketinginstitute.com/2020/07/clickbait-headlines-good-tactic/
- https://edu.gcfglobal.org/en/thenow/what-is-clickbait/1/
- https://www.sciencedirect.com/science/article/pii/S000768131930031X
- https://breezy.io/blog/joint-venture-examples
- https://www.tonyrobbins.com/business/what-is-a-joint-venture/
- https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Collective_business_system
- https://blog.hubspot.com/sales/franchising-advantage-disadvantage
- https://www.webscribble.com/blog/6-sources-non-dues-revenue-association
- https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Combinatorial_auction
- https://www.researchgate.net/publication/225948596_Combinatorial_Auctions_in_Procurement
- https://www.thebalancecareers.com/commission-b

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

ased-sales-jobs-4588585
- https://www.altexsoft.com/blog/revenue-model-types/
- https://smallbusiness.chron.com/types-community-business-models-3998.html
- https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Consignment
- https://brandongaille.com/explanation-of-the-consignment-business-model/
- https://millennialmoney.com/best-consignment-shops/
- https://cooperativesfirst.com/blog/2020/07/09/5-reasons-co-ops-make-profit/
- https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Consumers'_co-operative
- https://www.nerdwallet.com/article/banking/best-credit-unions
- https://consumerfed.org/consumer-cooperatives/
- https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Assembly_line
- https://www.investopedia.com/terms/a/assembly-line.asp-0
- https://smallbusiness.chron.com/start-joint-venture-assembling-business-17703.html
- https://www.restaurantrealty.com/advantages-disadvantages-of-an-asset-sale-versus-a-stock-sale/
- https://www.cnbc.com/amp/2011/11/17/5-companies-that-sold-the-most-to-survive.html
- https://evensky.com/news/asset-sale-vs-stock-sale/
- https://www.investopedia.com/terms/a/asset-sales.asp
- https://www.magazines.com/
- https://smallbusiness.chron.com/advantages-offering-discounts-business-25765.html

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

- https://www.investopedia.com/terms/b/bargain-purchase.asp
- https://www.investopedia.com/ask/answers/042715/how-do-subscription-business-models-work.asp
- https://fastspring.com/docs/classic/offering-a-discount-over-a-period-of-time-for-a-subscription-product/
- https://ncbaclusa.coop/resources/co-op-sectors/retail-co-ops/
- https://www.investopedia.com/terms/d/donationbased-crowd-funding.asp
- https://www.businessnewsdaily.com/4134-what-is-crowdfunding.html
- https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Crowdfunding

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Daniel Pereira is a Brazilian-Canadian entrepreneur that has been designing and analyzing business models for over 15 years. You can read more about his journey as a Business Model Analyst here.

E-mail Daniel if you have any questions at: daniel@businessmodelanalyst.com
You can connect with Daniel at Linkedin: https://www.linkedin.com/in/dpereirabr/

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited

THE BUSINESS
MODEL ANALYST

This PDF File was purchased by Muchamad - kurniatisri952@gmail.com
Copyright The Business Model Analyst - https://businessmodelanalyst.com/ - Distribution prohibited